HOUSE SESSION GETS WILD OVER WAGE-HOUR LAW

Beat Down Attempts to Block Revision.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Legislation to revise the wages and hours law was taken up by the house today in the wildest session of the year. Southern members, resentful of what they termed injustices of the act, roared personalities at their northern colleagues and were answered in kind.

Robert Ramspeck.

Party lines were swept aside. At one point, the proposed amendments to the act were saved from pigeonholing by a vote of 189 to 185. Each of the opposing factions attempted to invoke parliamentary procedure gagging the other.

Three bills on the same subject were brought before the house for consideration, an unprecedented procedure. These measures had only one feature in common—all granted exemption from maximum hours provisions of the law [42 hours a week at present] for well paid workers of the white collar class.

Seek Wage Cut in South.

The bills differed widely on proposed exemptions for industries associated with agriculture. Under the present act, about 256,000 workers in industries handling farm products which affect interstate commerce are exempt from the wage provisions of the law.

The controversy centered on the proposals of two southern Democrats, Representatives Graham A. Barden of North Carolina, and Robert Ramspeck of Georgia, to exempt an additional 928,000 workers, most of them in southern states, from the minimum wage provision of 30 cents an hour.

The southern members complained that many industries in their section were unable to pay 30 cents an hour to workers, a large percentage of whom are Negroes, and survive.

The 42 hour work week, from which 969,000 workers in the farm products industries are exempt, also was assailed by the southern Democrats, who proposed to exempt another 988,000 persons from the hours provisions of the law.

Proposes 60 Hour Limit.

The necessity for additional exemptions in connection with the work week was recognized by the administration in the third bill sponsored by Mrs. Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], chairman of the labor committee. Her measure would exempt an additional 465,000 workers, giving them a 60 hour maximum work week with a 14 week period in which there would be no maximum in order to provide for seasonal commodities.

The excitement began as soon as Chairman Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], chairman of the rules committee, presented the rule for consideration of the three measures. Sabath, from whom control of the committee long since was wrested by his colleagues, was in the embarrassing position of fighting a rule which he had been compelled to bring up.

The rule in question had been drafted last summer when southern members of the rules committee were in great anger over the refusal of Mrs. Norton to bring up wage-hour legislation at that time. It was admittedly a gag rule, permitting the Barden and Ramspeck measures to be substituted for the Norton bill and preventing amendments from being offered to the substitutes.

Attempts to Block Bills.

Republican leaders joined Democrats in opposing this rule as preventing proper consideration of the legislation. Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] tacitly admitting the rule's unfairness, thereupon proposed an amendment removing all restrictions upon amendments. Sabath, in turn, tried gag procedure, refusing to yield the floor to permit such an amendment. The objective of this strategy was to kill the rule, thereby preventing any consideration of the three bills at this time and probably for the session.

GIRL MECHANICS, NICE AND CLASSY, SEE WHAT CONSTITUTES A CHASSIS

All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty-Dumpty together again. But then they hadn't enjoyed the benefits of a course in science orientation.

Girls who are learning to be school teachers at the National College of Education in Wilmette are studying the subject, and doing practical work of their own choice to supplement what they read. Nine of them began taking a second hand automobile apart yesterday as an automobile mechanics project under the direction of Prof. David W. Russell.

MADMAN SLAIN IN WILD BATTLE; DOZEN WOUNDED

Burlington, Ia., April 25 [Special].—A dozen persons, most of them bystanders, were wounded late today in a spectacular battle in the downtown district between police and a man believed to have been insane. Four, including a policeman, were hurt seriously.

The crazed man, Henry Reeb, 36 years old, a chiropractor, was finally shot to death in his office-apartment on the second floor of a three story building where he had barricaded himself. His body was riddled with police machine gun bullets, but he apparently ended his life with his own shotgun.

The wild battle, which continued for about half an hour, threw the business section into an uproar. Frightened occupants of the besieged apartment dwelling were taken down ladders by firemen. Thousands of on lookers crowded about the scene to watch the shooting.

It all started when an officer came to arrest Reeb for a sanity hearing requested by relatives.

Klan Flogger Convicted; Sent to Chain Gang

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—Henry Cauthon, chieftain of a band of Ku Klux Klan night riders, was convicted here late today of the flogging of P. S. Toney.

Cauthon, red headed Baptist deacon and garage owner, went on trial eight days ago on 17 counts of assault and battery in the flogging of 17 of his neighbors in East Point, backwash suburb of Atlanta. Eight of the counts subsequently were withdrawn, and a Superior court jury today, after deliberating for four hours, found him innocent of eight of the remaining nine and guilty of one.

Sentence Passed at Once.

Judge Hugh M. Dorsey immediately sentenced Cauthon to the maximum punishment under Georgia law—12 months on the chain gang, more tenderly known as the public works camp; six months in jail, and a $1,000 fine.

With this conviction the state made its first dent on Ku Klux Klan terrorism. Fifteen of Cauthon's associates also were indicted with him as floggers; a sixteenth, Floyd I. Lee, who preceded Cauthon as chief of the whipping crew, was indicted today. The next trial in the long, grim chain of floggings will be that of Dan Eidson, brother of Herbert Eidson, a deputy sheriff, who also is under indictment. Eidson's trial will open May 8.

Fight to Finish Pledged.

"This is just the beginning," Assistant Solicitor General Daniel Duke promised after Cauthon's conviction. "We will fight now with every force we have to bring to justice this group that has set itself up as a Fulton county Gestapo. We won't stop until they're all gone."

The jury's verdict transfixed the courtroom, jammed with Cauthon's friends. They, like he, were merry, gay, confident of acquittal during the long afternoon of deliberation. They craned hopefully forward as the jury foreman, H. H. Walton, began to read:

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty"—a deep fearful stir rippled thru the crowd—"on count 12"—the defense counsel jumped up—"and innocent on counts 1, 2, 3, 4"—and he named the remaining counts.

"Mr. Defendant, stand up," barked out Judge Dorsey, former governor of Georgia.

Cauthon, his face flushing scarlet, draining to a dead white and flushing scarlet again, stood at the bar.

"I wonder," breathed a man near by, "did his face get that red when he was whipping people?"

Judge Trembles Visibly.

Judge Dorsey, visibly trembling, began to speak.

"Well, the jury found you guilty on count 12," he said curtly. "The sentence of the court is that you serve 12 months on public works, six months in jail, and pay a $1,000 fine."

"Whee!" the crowd whistled before relapsing into silence. Cauthon made no comment.

Foreman Walton commented disgruntledly that the verdict was a compromise. Nine jurors were for a guilty verdict on all nine counts at the outset, he said.

The single conviction was on the flogging of Toney, a C. I. O. organizer at a cotton mill near East Point. Three of Cauthon's fellow Klansmen testified he took part in this, and also in the abduction of Toney from his home. Cauthon still faces trial on the Toney kidnaping indictment.

DECLARES EMPIRES COUNT ON 3D TERM TO PUT U. S. IN WAR

Great Britain and France believe that if President Roosevelt is reelected this country will enter the war on their side. Dr. John T. Madden, dean of the school of commerce of New York university and director of the Institute of International Finance, so asserted last night at the annual banquet of the Women's Finance forum of Chicago, in the Congress hotel.

The empires did little to prepare for the war because they had judged by Mr. Roosevelt's speeches that this country would aid them in the event of conflict, the dean said. Dr. Madden, who traveled extensively in Europe just before the outbreak of war, emphasized that Washington's warnings against foreign entanglements are as vital to this country's welfare today as when they were uttered.

"The United States should have learned by the last war that to interfere in Europe's quarrels is useless," he declared. "And we should recognize that our nation is far less prepared today than in 1917, with a public debt exceeding 40 billion dollars, mounting taxes, an unbalanced budget, and a weakened economic structure."

The forum presented its annual award of distinction to Mrs. William H. Wright, recently elected president of the Oak Park Real Estate board. She is said to be the first woman to hold such a position.

WE'RE WINNING RACE IN NORWAY, NAZIS DECLARE

Charge British with 'Poor Fighting.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 25.—Germany is winning her race against Great Britain for control of Norway, well informed German sources said tonight.

There are several reasons for this, the Germans said, foremost of which is the "very poor fighting ability which the British are showing."

To support this charge, the Nazis declared that near Steinkjer, for instance, a small German force succeeded in taking a well built position from the British without any losses to themselves. The position, they asserted, was protected by six heavy machine guns. Steinkjer, northeast of Trondheim, was captured by the Germans yesterday.

Planes Are Helping.

Furthermore, the Germans said, Nazi bombers and low flying raiders are smashing all attempts by British, French and Norwegian forces to establish new defenses in the vitally important Gudbrandsdal valley leading up to Andalsnes, where British troops have landed.

The retreat of the British, the Germans claimed, has turned into headlong flight in some places. Military experts held that if the German version of the war in Norway is the correct one, then the German theory that air supremacy is the decisive factor in modern warfare must be regarded as confirmed.

German bombers played a vital part in the advance to Roros, and other air squadrons bombed all communications between the British and the Norwegians from the Gudbrandsdal valley west to the sea. [Other dispatches last night said the Germans had retreated from Roros.]

Another Reason for Confidence.

Another reason the Germans feel their army will win in Norway is based on reports received here that the British did not send their best troops to Norway. Britain did, however, dispatch Polish troops to the northern front, the Germans said, and this will work, according to the Nazi version, in Germany's favor.

After their 18 day defeat in September, the Polish soldiers will not be equal to Fuehrer Hitler's troops, it was said, while the Germans, encouraged by that quick victory, will be all the more capable and confident of carrying on a successful campaign.

Berlin's streets still are full of mountain troops passing thru the city and heading northward. While at first one could observe only Austrian mountaineers, now the crack Bavarian mountain regiments are on their way to Norway.

Push Beyond Ringebu.

The Germans today said that mountain divisions now had pushed forward beyond the village of Ringebu, 110 miles north of Oslo. The German garrisons at Trondheim and Kristiansund, southwest of Trondheim, have established land communications, the Germans reported. This not only reduces considerably the chance of a British attack on Trondheim from the south, but also menaces the British position at Andalsnes.

German forces have advanced beyond Steinkjer and are entrenching themselves. These new positions, it was believed, will block all allied attempts to advance upon Trondheim from Namsos, which is north of Trondheim.

Claim Cruiser Bombed.

A British cruiser, especially designed to frustrate air raids, was hit by a heavy bomb in Norwegian waters, the German high command's communique said. After being hit the cruiser ceased firing and flames became visible, it was said.

Four British planes were reported shot down over the North sea and a fifth one was reported downed over the Danish air field at Aalborg.

TROOPS, CIVILIANS JAM MOUNTAIN ROAD TO SWEDEN

Here is the first eye-witness account of the flight of Norwegian soldiers and civilians into Sweden after the capture of Roros by the Germans and the collapse of Norwegian resistance in that section of eastern Norway.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

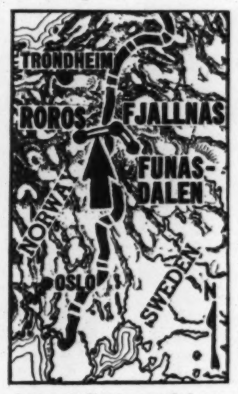
FJALLNAS, On the Norwegian-Swedish frontier, April 25.—Norwegian resistance against the advance of fast moving motorized German troops has ceased in eastern Norway. As a result, hundreds of Norwegian troops and civilians are fleeing over the border into Sweden.



Arrow indicates road from Roros to Fjallnas.

Refugees from the war in Norway are arriving in Fjallnas on foot and in cars over the mountain road cleared of seven foot snow drifts by 200 Swedish and Norwegian volunteer soldiers, who recently came back from the Finnish-Russian conflict.

Major Crosses Border.

None of these men is less than 35 and most are between 45 and 50 years of age. When their work was finished late last night they found that instead of clearing a way for them to get to Norway to fight they had opened a means of escape for panic stricken and demoralized Norwegian troops and civilians.

I talked with the first group, which arrived at 2 o'clock this morning. They came with three Norwegian officers, one of them a major. Later there were Norwegian soldiers and trucks of gasoline and food and six ambulances. There were no wounded men in the group, however. Civilians kept straggling in all day and by nightfall 400 persons had arrived from Norway.

Norwegian customs officials had abandoned their posts. Their places were taken by three Swedish officials who are regulating the affairs of the fugitives and are keeping the telephone line open. There was only one-way traffic on the road.

Germans Fire Into Air.

None of the refugees reported having seen any one killed or wounded in the air raids on the small towns of Rena, Nordosten, Foldal, and Roros. Norwegian soldiers reported that during the skirmishes they had with the German troops, the Germans fired their guns into the air.

[The German forces were reported early today to have fallen back from Roros to positions 15 miles to the south in the face of a British movement which threatened to outflank their advance toward Trondheim.]

I spent most of the day talking to the refugees. Those who walked over the frontier carried heavy sacks filled with the possessions they had salvaged. Some of them stood with shamed faces before the group of Red Cross and customs officials and Swedish soldiers. The Swedes were kind, and invited them to "come in."

Frightened by Bombers.

Many of the refugees had been frightened by the sight of the German bombers and the stories about

BRITISH BLOCK 'BLITZ' ADVANCE ON TRONDHEIM

Germans Seek Cover in New Position.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 26 Friday (AP).—The Germans have abandoned Roros, which they seized for a few hours in a dazzling exhibition of lightning war yesterday, and are digging in at Tolga, 15 miles to the south in Osterdal valley, Swedish newspaper correspondents reported early today.

The German retreat was ascribed to the need for hasty fortification, which the terrain at Roros does not favor.

Another cause also appeared to be a British advance south in the Gudbrandsdal valley to the west, threatening to outflank the Germans' extended positions.

British Break Thru.

The correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter reported that the British have broken thru at Storen, and are now in position there to block any German advance from Roros, or up the Gudbrandsdal valley to reënforce German held Trondheim on the west coast.

These British troops, after landing at Andalsnes, south of Trondheim, took a northern route to Storen, where they repulsed a German force from Trondheim, and perhaps prevented their striking a more telling blow at a British force from Namsos to the north of Trondheim.

The British then turned and united with some of the Norwegians retreating thru Roros in the Osterdal valley.

Germans Strike Swiftly.

The Germans, striking swiftly from Oslo thru Rena up the Osterdal valley and thru Lillehammer up the Gudbrandsdal valley, yesterday reached Roros and Ringebu, 180 and 110 miles respectively north of the capital.

They appeared headed on parallel routes for Trondheim to prevent a Norwegian-British drive to encircle that strategic German base.

But late yesterday the British were reported at Storen, 35 miles southeast of Trondheim, astride the Gudbrandsdal and Osterdal valley rail lines that converge there before entering Trondheim.

There was heavy fighting at Tolga last night, with heavy artillery and air forces participating. Tolga was reported badly bombed.

Thankful for Aid.

But whether the fighting took place as the Norwegians retreated to Roros or as they chased the Germans back to Tolga was not clear in advices filtering across the Swedish frontier.

It was evident, however, that the Norwegians were thankful for the British aid coming to them from Storen, for they had been engaged in a tiring, grueling, delaying battle as the German blitzkrieg [lightning war] rolled northward.

Late last night the Norwegian commander, Gen. Ruge, praised his troops for their spirit and courage and the depressing withdrawal, and then declared:

"But now the time for withdrawing has passed.

"Allied troops are in northern Norway, in Trondelag [Trondheim district] and here where we are fighting in order to collaborate. Go on in the same fighting spirit and confidence as up to now."

Brush Aside Opposition.

The Germans, in the advance, apparently were strong enough to brush aside what opposition remained after their planes cleared the way. But they were reported to be in small numbers, leaving only small guard units to hold the line open behind them.

The British, reënforcing Norwegians at Lillehammer, were swept back 30 miles by the German machine in the advance to Ringebu. The British and Norwegians were reported retreating to Otta, 30 miles north of Ringebu. British and Norwegian forces, 50 miles north of Ringebu, at Dombas, were bombed heavily.

The Norwegian telegraph agency said German bombers were roaring all day yesterday across the mountains and fjords of western Norway, bombing villages and machine gunning luckless civilians near military objectives.

A German plane was shot down during the attacks on Andalsnes, south of Trondheim, where units of the British northwestern expedition-air force have disembarked. The agency said that the high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped the damage was limited to a cowshed.

Three Houses Set Afire.

Three wooden houses were set afire when four planes raided Molde, "the town of roses," at the mouth of the fjord at Andalsnes. Two persons were feared to have been trapped in the blazing houses. The dispatch said the planes machine gunned the streets.

In another series of raids on Alesund, on the coast southwest of Molde, a school used as a first aid station was fired by incendiary bombs and the blaze spread to surrounding houses. A few persons were reported wounded there.

The British-French-Norwegian aim is to isolate Trondheim with forces moving up from Andalnes and from Namsos, about 80 miles to the north of Trondheim.

The Germans say they already have smashed this effort by victory at Steinkjer, north of Trondheim.

Germany's two pronged drive north and west across narrow Norway is pointed, moreover, between the two British forces.

Two Significant Aims.

If the northbound Germans, despite the presence of the British at Storen, close the 70 mile gap still separating them from their forces on the coast, they will have accomplished two significant aims:

1. The German hold on Trondheim will be vastly strengthened.
2. Germany will have bisected Norway with a line stretching from the Swedish frontier in the southeast below Oslo, to Trondheim with the most important areas of the invaded kingdom in German hands. They already claim complete domination of southern Norway up to the port of Stavanger.

The whole strategy on both sides seems to be a fast race of outflanking movements on which, foreign military observers believe, may turn the whole war in Norway.

Superior in the Air.

The region consists of narrow, canal-like valleys between rugged mountains and is more easily defended than the area to the south.

To reach Ringebu the Germans had to shove 100 air line miles north of Rena, southern gate to Oslo by the Osterdal valley. Rena and Lillehamer, which is the southern entrance to the Gudbrandsdal valley, are both about 85 miles north of Oslo.

Overnight the Germans had covered a distance of 125 miles from Ophus, advancing under the protection of aerial barrages which laid waste much of the Glomma valley region.

German progress above Trondheim, however, was reported to have halted for the time being slightly north of Steinkjer, on the innermost part of Trondheim fjord. The allies, who suffered heavily here for lack of antiaircraft guns, are said now to have been supplied with them.

FRANCE'S LABOR DAY, MAY 1, WILL BE DAY OF WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 25.—In France, Labor day falls on May 1 and this year, contrary to custom, it will be a real labor day. Every one will be hard at work.

The French Confederation of Labor today issued a proclamation in which it said that "the best way of observing the festival of labor is to work, each one at his task for the victory of French arms over the totalitarian states."

In other years, workingmen's parades, picnics, and labor rallies were held thruout France on May 1. This year all such manifestations will be omitted.

STORY OF FLIGHT OF NORWEGIANS TO SWEDEN TOLD

Soldiers and Civilians Jam Mountain Road.

German tanks. There was no fighting spirit. Some of them said they had fled because the war was not theirs to begin with. They said it was forced on the country by the British and Germans.

Some soldiers told how their officers had requested permission from civilian authorities to blow up the railroad bridge at Roros and how the town officials had objected because it was such a nice new bridge. The bridge was reported blown up tonight, however, after 75 soldiers and 10 officers elected to stand loyally behind their commander, Col. Hioith, in defense of the town. Later reports said the defenders also had left Roros.

Old Soldier Is Ashamed.

Among the men who had cleared the road to Roros was a white haired Norwegian of 55. He said he was a quarry manager and told how he had learned to dynamite Russian tanks while in Finland. "I have never been so ashamed in all my life as this morning," he told me. "It is our youth who are running away. It is too bad that this five mile path we dug thru the snow to get into Norway is being used by soldiers and boys of military age."

Others of the group also expressed bitterness against the lack of defenses for Norway. Some of the refugees also hinted that they felt the same, but declared they could not fight without weapons against tanks, machine guns, and hand grenades. For the moment, these Norwegians said, they are willing to let England do their fighting for them.

A short distance from the customs house here is a ski resort now filled with Norwegian refugees. In the little group of tired Norwegians I saw two boys pulling an oddly shaped sled which had two short skis for runners and carried a small tent and a ruck sack.

They told me they had fled from Trondheim when the Germans arrived.

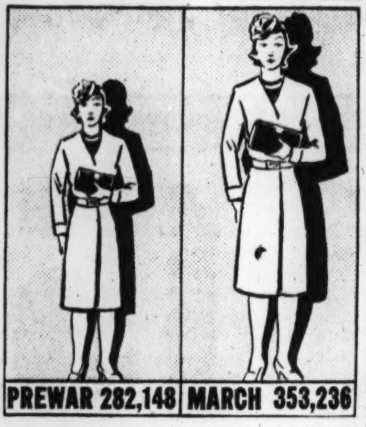
Sees Contrast in Troops.

The contrast between Norway and Finland is great. The Finns were prepared spiritually, physically, and morally for their fight with Russia. The Norwegians were not. They had never imagined the Germans as enemies, and the invasion stupefied them.

The contrast between the Swedish army men and soldiers I have seen here and the Norwegian soldiers who have fled across the frontier also is marked. The Swedish soldiers have been mobilized for seven months. Their morale is excellent and they have Sweden prepared for what may come.

One of the men I met on guard duty at the frontier was Corporal Ollie Wecklund, a plasterer who had worked for three years in Chicago and Racine, Wis. It seems that wherever I happen to meet a body of Finnish or Swedish soldiers there is one among them who has been in America and many of them have lived in Chicago. Wecklund told me how his company had been up on the Finnish frontier all winter strengthening Sweden's defenses.

Women Lose Jobs



Comparison of number of unemployed women in Britain before the war with the number jobless at the end of March.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—The number of women unemployed in England has increased since last August, it was disclosed today.

In March 353,236 registered as unemployed as against 282,148 the month before the war started. Altho women were being absorbed into the war industries, the domestic service lost 400,000 since September, chiefly because of the inability of employers to live on the same scale as before the war. The textile, clothing, and printing trades also dropped 86,000 women employés in the same period.

Women's war voluntary services have 630,000 enrolled. Most of the full time volunteers are paid two pounds a week [about $7]. Many others, however, work without pay. One worker has complained to the ministry of labor that the two pounds additional income put her in the super tax brackets.

POLISH RELIEF GROUP TO SHIP 2D FOOD CARGO

Chauncey McCormick, president of the Commission for Polish Relief, yesterday advised Gen. Robert E. Wood, regional chairman of the Paderewski fund committee, which is seeking to raise $100,000 in Chicago for relief needs, that another shipment of 6,000 tons of food to Poland will be sent via Italy early next month. McCormick said $600,000 is required to make necessary purchases.

The shipment will consist principally of rye flour, lard and vegetable fats, evaporated milk, and sugar. The first shipment sent to Poland by the commission this month consisted of 1,400 tons of food and supplies, while 15,000 gallons of cod liver oil sent three months ago has been distributed to Polish children. McCormick said reports from Poland indicated 7,000,000 women and children are facing famine.

SWEDES BELIEVE COUNTRY IS SAFE FROM INVASION

Cite Concessions in Trade Pact Negotiations.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 25.—Swedish circles in Berlin, after several anxious days, expressed confidence today that their country will not be invaded by Germany.

The Swedes declared they were ready to make all economic concessions the Germans were asking, concessions which, they said, "reduced the danger of conflict."

A German economic mission now is in Stockholm, and it presumably will be able to dictate the terms of any economic agreement at which the two countries arrive.

The German Attitude.

From German sources, however, came expresions of a somewhat different tone. Authoritative sources declared that Germany had no designs on Sweden whatsoever, but immediately added this perhaps significant statement:

"We must be prepared for all eventualities, of course. Nothing definite can be said until Sweden decides where she stands."

Britain and France probably are putting pressure on Sweden to make her stop sending vital supplies to Germany, the Nazis asserted. However, they continued, Sweden really has no other choice than to conduct her chief trade with the reich.

Adequate Connections.

Germany, it was pointed out, is the only country with adequate and direct ferry connections to Sweden. For the Swedes to trade with Britain and France is a virtual impossibility, the Germans declared.

It was recalled that German troops have been boarding transports at several Baltic ports in the last few days.

[Reports circulated in Paris Wednesday said the "mystery fleet" of troopships had sailed for an undisclosed destination. Some French sources suspected the transports were on the way to Sweden. They intimated the departure of the troops constituted a "menace to Sweden."]

The Italian ambassador spent several hours at the German foreign office today. He was preceded by a group of Hungarian officers who called in full uniform.

WITNESS REVEALS HOW HANDFUL OF GERMAN TROOPS TOOK BERGEN

LONDON, April 25.—How the pattern of the German capture of Oslo was repeated at Bergen, where Norwegian troops evacuated the town and less than 100 Germans took it without a shot, was disclosed today by a British eyewitness.

This man told of seeing 300 or 400 Norwegians disembark at Bergen with horses and fodder and disappear inland before the Germans landed. He said that earlier in the morning long lines of trucks carrying ammuition had been reported seen leaving Bergen. He said one of the two forts on Bergen harbor fired spasmodically at the German boat for a short time, while the other was silent.

The witness said that three hours after the Germans landed Nazi soldiers had taken over the entire town.

1,000 POLITICAL PRISONERS SET FREE BY RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 25 (AP).—The Rumanian government tonight decreed amnesty for about 1,000 political prisoners. They include all persons held for belonging to illegal military organizations. The decree supplements King Carol's recent reconciliation with the pro-Nazi Iron Guard, all imprisoned members of which have been freed, and is designated to further unite all elements of the nation.

Twelve village institutes have been created and 2,000 students will be trained as teachers. They need not possess more than five years' education and it is required that they be chosen from applicants whose parents are farmers in rural districts. The institutes will give five years of training in agriculture, handicrafts, and hygiene. The number of institutes will be increased from year to year. A great number of teachers are needed because Turkey has 40,000 villages, tho many of them have only 30 inhabitants. In Turkey's area of 300,000 square miles the population is only 17 millions.

BRITISH STRESS STRATEGIC VALUE OF WITHDRAWAL

Claim Forces Now Defend Stronger Positions.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—A war office communique, altho admitting a British setback near Lillehammer in south central Norway, tonight denied Stockholm reports that a British force in that area had been "cut to pieces and forced to withdraw in disorder."

Military writers were busy minimizing the stories of allied reverses. One said the Lillehammer withdrawal must not be regarded as a reverse because, "a properly controled withdrawal can inflict great damage on the enemy and compel him to deploy continually during his advance."

Another asserted the British retirement to Otta, 25 miles southeast of the rail center of Dombas, meant that actually the British forces were in a much stronger position than could have been hoped for a week ago. He said Trondheim is the key point and the issue there is likely to be decided before the German reinforcements can arrive.

Becomes a "War of Tactics."

Capt. Liddell-Hart, military writer, described the Scandinavian operations as already a "war of tactics."

The setback at Lillehammer, he said, happened at a point which is awkward strategically and tactically for the deployment of forces which would place the allies astride the railway running eastward from Trondheim into Sweden.

Capt. Liddell-Hart regarded the news that British and Norwegian forces were advancing slowly toward Narvik in northern Norway and the importance of the allies gaining control of this area as paramount. It is important, he intimated, because it is not only the key to the Swedish iron ore mines at Kiruna, but also for the reinforcement of Swedish troops if they become involved in the war.

Lack of airplanes and antiaircraft equipment to cover allied operations in Norway were stressed as having given Germany preponderant advantages. However, it was reported tonight that provisions have been made to overcome this defect. Antiaircraft batteries already have been installed at Namsos, the British landing point north of Trondheim.

Explain Steinkjer Retreat.

Concerning the withdrawal from Steinkjer, south of Namsos, yesterday, the war office said:

"An advance detachment of a large British force pushed forward toward Trondheim from the direction of Namsos. The Germans, moving reinforcements by water inside Trondheim fjord, threatened to cut off the advance troops from their main body. They therefore withdrew, but were not followed by the enemy, who are now reported to be digging in at the head of the fjord. Our troops suffered some losses."

The British were said to be holding previously prepared lines six miles north of Steinkjer.

Regarding the withdrawal to Otta, the allied forces were said to be protecting the railroad and roads converging at Dombas. The roads run westward to the British landing base at Andalsnes and northward from Dombas to the British advance point at Storen, 35 miles south of Trondheim.

More Canadians Arrive.

Manpower in Britain was augmented today by the arrival of an undisclosed number of Canadians and the first contingent of Newfoundlanders—the latter in civilian clothes.

A ministry of information tabulation tonight listed these German transport or supply ship casualties since the start of the northern war: Sunk or scuttled, 26; hit by torpedoes and probably sunk, 10; fired by air attack, 1; captured, 4; total, 41.

The dead must have numbered several thousand, the ministry said. It alleged 3,000 German bodies had been washed ashore on the east coast of Oslo fjord.

ZOG SUED OVER $100,000 FURS LEFT IN ALBANIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 25.—The case of "Arthur Horovitz, formerly a fur dealer in Vienna, vs. King Zog, one time sovereign of Albania," will be called May 8 before the Civil court of Rambouillet, the Paris suburb where the French president has his summer home, it became known today.

Whether Zog will appear in person to answer the furrier's suit is uncertain. His lawyers will plead that Zog still is the rightful ruler of Albania and therefore not subject to French justice. The furs were bought for a reported $100,000 when Zog ruled unchallenged in Albania. They were worn by Queen Geraldine and the king's sisters. When the royal family fled Albania last year the furs were forgotten by all but the furrier who sold them. He presented his bill, which the king refused to pay, on the ground that the furs no longer were in his possession.

THIEVES LOOT SUMMER HOME.

Thieves early yesterday broke into the summer home of William W. Haerther, two miles east of Lake Villa, in Lake county, and stole rugs, silverware, and other articles valued at $5,000. Mr. Haerther, a stock broker, lives at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest.

BRITAIN'S STORY OF SECOND RAID ON NARVIK FJORD

Admiralty Tells Details of Fleet's Action.

LONDON, April 25.—Full details of the second battle of Narvik on April 13, when a strong naval force consisting of the 30,000-ton battleship Warspite and nine of the most modern British destroyers cleaned up Narvik harbor and sank seven German destroyers were published by the admiralty tonight.

One destroyer and six German supply ships had been sunk in an earlier Narvik raid on April 10. Three days later the Warspite's force finished up the job against a gallant but inferior German force, the admiralty's account began.

The task assigned to the Warspite, a world war battleship, was reduction of the shore batteries. In this job she was assisted by the flotilla leader Cossack.

To take the Warspite, which has eight 15-inch guns and eight 6-inch guns, up a narrow fjord was somewhat of a feat in itself, especially as it was known German destroyers were lurking in the bays.

Destroyers Open Fire.

Nevertheless, with destroyers acting as a screen, the Warspite's planes flying out ahead and the destroyer Icarus leading the van, the squadron started at noon in a mist and drizzle. The first contact was made at 12:26 when a German destroyer appeared from the mist on the south side of Ofot fjord. The Icarus, Bedouin, Punjabi, and Cossack opened fire, but the German turned away.

The squadron then passed the wreck of the German ammunition ship Rauenfels which had been blown up in the earlier attack. At 12:45 another German destroyer loomed out of the mist. Five minutes later another appeared and British destroyers engaged both. A few minutes later the Warspite opened up. As the British squadron moved on, engaging the two Germans with all their strength, word was received from a plane that another German destroyer was in Ballangen bay.

Foe Shelled to Flames.

The Icarus, still leading, sighted her at 1:07. The Bedouin, Punjabi, and Eskimo, dropping the attack on the first two Germans, shot ahead and engaged the new enemy ship along with the Icarus. In eight minutes a rain of British shells set her afire in three places, but she kept answering with a single gun until the Warspite silenced her.

Meanwhile, more Germans appeared until there were six. One German plane was seen at this stage, but did not attack then or later. British planes attacked Narvik harbor works with bombs.

The Warspite swung into position close inshore and silenced one enemy howitzer. The Punjabi and Foxhound were in support of the Cossack.

Becomes Running Fight.

The destroyer action by now had developed into a running fight, both sides zigzagging, and is best told in the following extracts from the log of one of the British ships:

"1:58, one enemy badly hit; 2:02, shore batteries firing; 2:03½, enemy destroyer on fire; 2:10, enemy fired torpedo; 2:15, another enemy destroyer on fire; 2:15, this enemy again hit; 2:24, two explosions on second enemy destroyer to catch fire; 2:25, two explosions on another burning enemy destroyer."

Thus two hours and a half after the raid started, with four British ships concentrating on shore batteries, three German destroyers were finished. One was a blazing wreck in Ballengen bay, one drifted derelict north of Narvik, her crew swimming for shore, and one beached herself toward the northwest.

The remaining German destroyers, one badly damaged, fled up Rombaks fjord with the Eskimo, Forrester, Hero, Bedouin, and Icarus after them.

Rombaks fjord is 10 miles long, but narrows at one point to 200 yards and has a sharp bend at the end. As the Eskimo, in the lead of the pursuing British, came thru the neck, the damaged German destroyer beached just on the other side, opened up on her and she sustained damage. It should be understood that at this point the British could not see what lay ahead as the Germans left a smoke screen behind them. Lack of sea room made the other British ships leave the Eskimo to deal with the German cripple alone, which she did.

Then the other British ships stormed on for the three remaining Germans. They were found against the ice at the end of Rombaks fjord. The bows of one stuck out of the water, one lay to the north, apparently undamaged, and the third was afire aft.

One Enemy Ship Scuttled.

The British ships fired on the two afloat, but, receiving no answer, soon ceased. Armed parties lowered away to investigate, but before they reached the German vessel that apparently was unhurt, she listed and sank. She had been scuttled.

On the last German destroyer—the Hans Ludemann of the Roeder class, as apparently all the others were—which was afire, the boarding party found only one officer wounded on a stretcher. The ship was too far gone for salvage, so after taking off the officer, the Hero gave her the coup de grace with a torpedo.

With all the enemy destroyers finished, the British withdrew, leaving two destroyers in command of the harbor. One of these took off the Hardy's survivors from the earlier raid who were at Ballengen.

An armed landing party of 24 captured 120 Germans who came into the town. Before they re-embarked, the British left rifles and ammunition for Norwegian miners who were to guard the prisoners. Three British destroyers were damaged in the action, the admiralty's statement concluded.

American Youth, 22, Killed with Empire Army in Norway

Albuquerque, N. M., April 25 (AP).—Harry J. Wilson of Albuquerque, today said he had been notified that his son, Harry B. Wilson, 22 years old, was killed in action while fighting with Franco-British forces Tuesday near Hamar, Norway. The youth had enlisted with Canada's Princess Pat regiment last fall after being returned to Canada when a freighter on which he was working was sunk off the Irish coast.

EMPIRES BOOST PURCHASES OF FIGHTING PLANES

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Great Britain and France have swelled their pending orders for American war planes to well beyond 4,000, it was indicated today by an announcement that the empires in the last two weeks have placed aircraft and engine contracts aggregating 200 million dollars.

The announcement came from officials of the British-French purchasing mission who said large quantities of speedy Curtiss and Bell pursuit planes, Douglas bombers and Allison, Wright, and Pratt and Whitney motors were included.

Arthur B. Purvis, chairman of the mission, and Rene Pleven, French representative, said the cost of the engines included facilities to produce them. They explained that the empires were financing factory expansions necessitated by the orders.

The announcement of the Bell contract promised a European war test for an unusual type of fighting plane, the P-39 developed for the army air corps. This plane mounts a small cannon in its nose and is powered by an engine placed in the center of the fuselage.

BRITISH CONSIDER PURGE OF FASCIST AND RED ACTIONS

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—Spurred by British alarm over "fifth column" activities in neutral states, the government today grappled with the problem of a spring cleaning of communist elements.

[Spanish Nationalists [Franco's troops], with four columns pounding at the gates of Madrid in the fall of 1936, said they had a "fifth column" of sympathizers within the capital, thus originating a name given wide currency in the European war.]

Sir John Anderson, minister for home security, told the house of commons he was considering stringent measures against subversive elements, including the communist party and semi-Fascist organs, and would intern even M. P.s if "desirable."

He said he is "carefully watching the activities of certain small groups of people of whom some appear to be deliberately anxious to hinder the war effort." These activities, however, he assured the house, "have had so far little practical effect."

ROOSEVELT PUTS NEUTRALITY ACT BAN ON NORWAY

Norse Placed Under Cash and Carry Plan.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., April 25.—President Roosevelt today proclaimed that a state of war exists between Germany and Norway and that the United States is neutral in the conflict. A second proclamation barred submarines of the belligerents from American ports and territorial waters.

Mr. Roosevelt also prescribed regulations governing enforcement of United States neutrality in the fighting between Germany and Norway. Under the proclamation and executive order the cash and carry plan now applies to Norway, which will be able to obtain war supplies in this country only by paying cash and transporting them in non-American vessels.

Denmark Not Mentioned.

The cash and carry provisions of the neutrality law previously had applied to Germany.

No mention was made of Denmark and there were no indications whether similar proclamations would be issued in the case of that nation.

The only other action the President had taken heretofore as a result of Germany's invasion of Norway was to freeze Norwegian cash and property in the United States to prevent their falling into any hands except those of their rightful owners, and to enlarge the combat zone which American ships are forbidden to enter. The zone was extended to all Norwegian waters and a small part of northern Finnish and Russian waters.

Confers on Finances.

During the day Mr. Roosevelt continued his conferences on fiscal matters with Lauchlin Currie, one of his three special assistants.

He had no comment on the important development on the political front at Atlanta, where his supporters out maneuvered the backers of Vice President John N. Garner, who had been seeking to pit Cactus Jack against his chief in a presidential preferential primary. The state Democratic committee selected a slate of uninstructed convention delegates, who adopted a resolution pledging the state's convention votes to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

HOUSE OVERRIDES ROOSEVELT VETO ON WAR VET BILL

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The house, overriding President Roosevelt's veto, voted today for the third time to give approximately 15,000 volunteers in the Spanish-American war a special travel and subsistence allowance of about $7,000,000.

After hearing the President's message declaring the proposed payment would be "a benefit utterly without warrant," the house voted, 274 to 82, to pass the bill over his veto. A two-thirds majority was required. A similar majority in the senate also will be necessary for the measure to become law.

The bill, passed first in 1935 and again in 1938, but disapproved by the President on both occasions, would give extra travel-pay and subsistence allowance to those volunteer officers and men who reënlisted in the Philippines and were held there after the ratification of the peace treaty on April 11, 1899. Legislators explained the men involved were promised that if they reënlisted they would be given allowances for travel and subsistence to the United States altho they did not actually return to this country between their enlistments.

Belgium Increases Taxes; Needs 34 Millions More

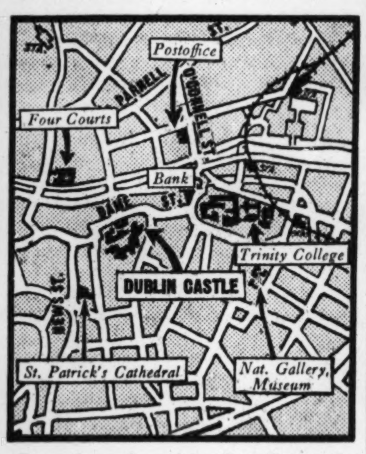
BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 25 (AP).—The Belgian cabinet agreed today to increase taxes to realize a billion more francs [$34,000,000] in revenue. Taxes on beer, tobacco, sugar and mineral water and a special defense tax on incomes will be increased.

Britain Announces 113 Air Force Casualties

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—The air ministry published a casualty list today containing 113 names. It was for an unspecified period. The names of 31 dead, 10 wounded, and 72 missing and believed killed were listed.

Castle Bombed

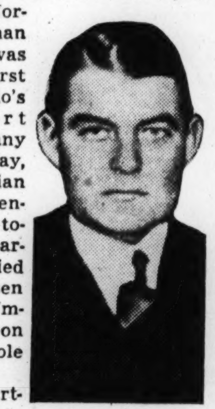
(Story in adjoining column.)



Location of ancient Dublin castle, where headquarters of Irish government's special detective branch was bombed, presumably by members of the Irish Republican army. Also shown are sites of other important institutions.

FAMOUS NORSE AIRMAN SLAIN RESISTING NAZIS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 25 (AP).—Capt. Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, outstanding Norwegian airman and explorer, was killed in the first fighting at Oslo's civil airport when Germany invaded Norway, the Norwegian Telegraph agency reported today. Riiser-Larsen accompanied Roald Amundsen and Gen. Umberto Nobile on their north pole flights.



Hjalmar-Riiser-Larsen.

It was reported he declined to accept German demands to surrender the airport and was killed when he resisted. At the time of his death he was chief of the Norwegian Air Traffic company. He had been in the Norwegian navy and for many years served in Norway's naval air force. In January, 1933, he headed an expedition into the Antarctic and was rescued from the ice a couple of months later with his two companions by a whaler.

WAR TO SPREAD, ITALIANS TOLD; EMPIRES ARE HIT

ROME, April 25 (AP).—A Fascist leader's conviction war will spread until it is a conflict of "peoples against the world of hoarders" was given to Italy today, along with his classification of Britain and France as powers unfriendly to Italy.

Premier Mussolini listened to the speech, by Francesco Giunta, former vice president of the chamber of deputies, which was replaced by the chamber of fasces and guilds, before which he spoke.

It will be a war of "have not" nations against those with "wrongful" possessions, said Giunta. He asked, moreover, why Italy "should not be able to solve the problem of its security in the Mediterranean—raised by the English fleet staying in that sea?" The speech is interpreted principally as an attempt to discourage the idea that Italy can be won to the British-French side.

DE VALERA LEADS PROBE OF BLAST IN DUBLIN CASTLE

Outlaw I. R. A. Accused; 5 Detectives Injured.

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 25 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera tonight took personal charge of investigation of the bombing, allegedly by the outlawed Irish Republican army, of the Dublin castle headquarters of the Irish government's special detective branch.

Eamon de Valera.

Five detectives were injured, none seriously, in this morning's blast, caused by either a time bomb or a land mine. It threw tons of débris—masonry and costly stained glass memorial windows—into the courtyard of the old castle in the heart of the Irish capital.

While troops guarded approaches to the castle and others stopped motor cars on bridges and roads leading out of Dublin to question their occupants, De Valera hurried to the castle for a personal inspection of the damage.

Chapel Royal Damaged.

Authorities believed the deaths last week of two I. R. A. hunger strikers, in prison in Ireland, incited the bombing as a retaliation against the government and police.

Damage to the Chapel Royal, where the memorial windows were shattered, was described as irreparable. Only last week, St. Patrick's banqueting hall, which was partially wrecked today, was the scene of a dinner given by De Valera for United States Minister David Gray. Birmingham tower also was damaged.

Blast Perils Families.

The families of several castle caretakers narrowly escaped death when the bomb went off.

The castle always is open to the public and the bombers therefore would have had little difficulty in planting the explosive.

A bomb exploded on the ledge of a building just outside Dublin castle on Armistice day, 1937, and shattered a British coat of arms. No one was injured.

OFFICIAL SILENT ON ARMORING OF BRITISH VESSELS

Washington, D. C., April 25 [Special].—State department officials today refused to discuss reports from Hoboken, N. J., yesterday that two British merchant ships, already armed with defensive guns, were being equipped with armor at the Hoboken shipyard of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

The American armoring of belligerent vessels broached the suggestion that it possibly violated the neutrality provisions of the United States criminal code.

The two vessels, whose names have been blanked out, are being armored with steel plates 20 inches square and five-eighths of an inch thick.

REYNAUD OFFERS MUSSOLINI NEW 'OLIVE BRANCH'

France Seeks Exchange of Views, He Says.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 25.—Another olive branch of peace and reconciliation was extended to Premier Benito Mussolini today by Premier Paul Reynaud when he told the chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee France "is convinced there is a possibility of harmonizing the legitimate needs and interests of all countries bordering on the Mediterranean."

Altho Rome has not responded to French overtures for direct negotiations, the door still is open, Reynaud indicated as he reiterated that France is most anxious for an "exchange of views" regarding the problems between the two nations. However, he insisted that it is not France's fault that this exchange has not taken place.

Reviews Diplomatic Scene.

During the committee meeting Reynaud reviewed the diplomatic situation from Turkey to Russia and Scandinavia, and all points in between, but, it is understood, gave particular attention to Franco-Italian relations.

It was learned tonight thae Leon Barety, a deputy from the Alpes maritimes department, which borders on Italy, is in Rome in connection with the Milan triennial exposition in which France is to take part.

"1. The end of the reign of brutal force.

"2. Independence and security for all peoples.

"3. A return to prosperity by the collaboration of all nations animated by the same desire for progress and the same ideal of justice and liberty."

Speed Naval Production.

Cesar Campinchi, navy minister, told the finance committee of the chamber today that all naval constructions would be speeded, particularly the four 35,000 ton battleships being built. He also reported that French ships had sunk four enemy vessels "in recent action" in the Skagerrak without loss.

Both the senate and the chamber adjourned today until the middle of May.

BIG FRENCH LINER READY TO DEPART FOR WAR SERVICE

New York, April 25 (AP).—The three huge funnels of the French liner Ile de France poured forth smoke tonight while 200 painters hastily completed camouflaging the 43,450-ton vessel for wartime service.

Scheduled, according to waterfront reports, to join the British liners Queen Mary and Mauretania in troopship service between Australia and the near east, the Ile de France will have her full coat of wartime gray by noon tomorrow.

Uncommunicative French sailors boarded the ship today.

ROCKET DRIVEN AUTO INVENTOR TAKEN FROM STEAMER BY BRITISH

New York, April 25 (AP).—Fritz von Opel, German maufacturer and inventor of the rocket propelled automobile, was taken off the Italian liner Conte di Savoia by British officials at Gibraltar, it was disclosed today when the ship docked.

Ship's officers said Von Opel, reported to have been living in Switzerland, was traveling on a passport issued by the principality of Lichtenstein.

REDS LET POLES HAVE CHURCHES; SEIZE ESTATES

(This is the last of a series of articles on Russian seized Poland by a man who lived there until a short time ago.)

BY PAUL GREVE.

[Copyright by Press Alliance, Inc.]

LONDON, April 25.—One of the questions I am most frequently asked since my return recently from Lvov, Russian Poland, is:

"What happened to religion and to private lives when the bolshevik troops marched into Poland on Sept. 17, 1939?"

Only once did I see a priest in his robes in the street, and the effect he produced always will live in my memory.

He was obviously going to visit a dying person, as he was carrying a monstrance in his hands, while a single small choir boy carried a cross in front of him.

Appearance Like a Miracle.

In normal times he would have passed by almost unnoticed, but to the starved eyes of the people in the street the sight of the priest in his vestments, their black and mauve standing out against the white of a street deep in snow, was like a miracle.

There was a movement among the people like a wave crossing the busy square. One by one they knelt and made the sign of the cross. Not one of them spoke, and the only sound was the low murmur of the praying priest and the crunch of his boots on the frozen snow.

Not a single man or woman remained standing. Men and women of the cities and of the peasantry, Poles and Ukrainians alike, all for a few moments united by their common misfortune, prayed for a new hope.

Known for Many Churches.

One would have thought that one of the first acts of the godless Russians would be to close the churches.

Lvov [also Lwow] and the country around is known for its many churches; the inhabitants, both Poles and Ukrainians, always have been deeply religious churchgoers. The Poles are Roman Catholics, the Ukrainians belong to the Greek Orthodox church.

But I must say this for the Russians. Right up till the time I left Lvov there had been no interference of any kind with church services

Mass was held every Sunday, and every morning on week-days. The services themselves were the same as in the days of peace; and inside the churches there was nothing to show that any misfortune had befallen the country.

Refrain from Processions.

The clergy refrained from the processions and other religious manifestations in the street that are normal occurrences in Roman Catholic countries.

But it is a different story when you come to the convents and monasteries, of which there are many in Lvov.

The bolsheviks confiscated their estates and took over most of the buildings for military purposes, either as barracks or as storerooms. Within the reduced space left to them, these nuns and monks appeared not to be molested.

One day I visited the cloisters adjoining the Bernardine church. I was held up by an armed Russian sentry, who was guarding a large heap of potatoes and turnips spread out under the 15th century vaults.

Thousands Homeless.

Now let us look at the private lives.

When the hotels and restaurants were nationalized, nearly all of them were closed. This left thousands of people homeless in the city. To provide accommodation, private families began to take in these homeless ones as lodgers.

But soon they had to provide billets for Russian officers. The floor space of homes was surveyed, and a decree issued that no person could be allowed more than 15 square yards. If there were not enough persons in the house to satisfy this ratio, the householder had to accept more lodgers.

Of course, all house property was nationalized. Many house owners were asked to leave at the shortest notice, some were not allowed to take away even their personal belongings.

This treatment, however, was considered harsh even by Bolshevik standards, and presently the officials softened their hearts. They allowed each house owner one room in his own house with sufficient furniture for that only. All the rest of his possessons were lost by confiscation.

Useless to Protest.

My wife and I, as refugees, had to move twice to make room for communists, and it was useless to protest.

So great was the fear of being turned out people refused to open their doors to any stranger. If you called on anybody, you had first to shout thru a closed door to satisfy the occupants about your business. If your explanation was not satisfactory the door remained closed.

This was a tragic business, but there were a few lighter moments. One was when a Russian captain, going to his first lodging in Lvov, was shown his room. The bed had a spring mattress. He had never seen one before, and suspected it might be some trap. He inspected it from above and from under the bed before he was satisfied.

The next day he took two more officers, also strangers to spring beds, to his lodging. The three spent hours bouncing happily on the bed.

Living Without Income.

Civil servants and employés in all nationalized works and business were expected to emulate the state and live without income. The highest monthly salary to which any of them could aspire [unless he was a commissar sent from Russia was 450 rubles, equal to about 10 shillings at the rate of exchange ruling before I left. [The shilling normally is worth about 25 cents].

Among my friends who had jobs, including doctors, nobody was receiving as much as that.

Nobody knew what his pay actually was. One man was told he would receive a supplementary allowance of 40 rubles a month to meet the increased cost of living, but he had not been told what the basic pay was which was being supplemented.

With prices as high as they were 450 rubles was not enough to pay for food, let alone clothing or any other necessaries.

Restrict Use of Phones.

If you had a telephone at your house, the Russians discouraged you from using it.

Private telephones could only be used for local calls. Anyone wishing to speak to another town could only do so by going to the general post office. There one room was set aside for this purpose.

The Russians did the same thing over radio licenses. They did not want the Poles to hear the news from other countries. But they did not go about it the same way as the Germans. There was no reason, they said, why the Poles should not hear the voices of the outside world. But you could not get a license.

Before Poland disappeared it was a simple matter to get a radio license. You took one out every month, paying the postman for it at the door. The Russians changed all that.

Few Radio Licenses.

To get a license you had to go to the general post office. There, in one room, a couple of clerks attended to all callers. There were 60,000 license holders in Lvov six months ago; now there is only a fraction of this number. Few people now hear the news from abroad.

The same technique was used to prevent people from traveling by train. Only two booking office windows were open at Lvov station. All day, long queues waited. Comparatively few got tickets.

You may ask how I came to know so intimately the thoughts and feelings of these people now crushed under the rule of the Reds. Remember, I lived among them for years. I speak their languages, both Polish and Russian.

Pathos in Food Queues.

But, most of all, I have come to know them in the food queues. Few things bring fellowship more swiftly than a common suffering—the empty stomach, the shivering body, the hopelessness of the future. Day after day, hour after hour, you wait in the long line. At first you talk of anything—of the weather, perhaps—but as patience and strength reach the limit of human endurance, you come down to more human things.

During the last week of my stay at Lvov, a man of about 40 years, a factory hand, stood near me. He had been waiting long in the cold wind outside the medieval city hall, which the Russians had made their center of administration. The worker turned to me.

"They came to liberate us, and all they have done is to put us into chains," he said.

W-G-N Concert Star

Isaac Stern playing concert in W-G-N studio last night.

Husky young Isaac Stern, American violinist, delighted W-G-N listeners last night with his stirring performance of the last movement from Max Bruch's Concerto for violin and orchestra in G minor. The 19 year old San Franciscan, who made his Chicago debut last winter as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, appeared last night as soloist with the W-G-N concert orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, on the Concert revue.

The concert was broadcast coast to coast by the Mutual Broadcasting system. Music critics have been acclaiming Mr. Stern since he made his debut three years ago. They have declared that he has few equals among the rising violin stars. They have praised him for his fire and ardor and for his unusual technical skill and fine tone.

Mr. Stern was born in Russia but he has lived in San Francisco since he was 10 months old. He first started studying the piano, but changed to the violin while a child. He studied with Louis Persinger in New York, where he made his debut in October, 1937.

CABINET QUITS IN BELGIUM OVER EDUCATION BILL

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 25 (AP).—In a surprise move over a domestic education question Belgium's three-party cabinet of Premier Hubert Pierlot resigned today. However, it is considered possible King Leopold will ask the cabinet to remain in office.

Premier Pierlot.

The crisis was precipitated by the Liberal party, which protested a proposal to appoint Flemish and Walloon executive assistants to Eugene Soudan, minister of education. The Liberals contended this would separate the two populations and endanger national unity. The Liberals are most strongly pro-ally Belgian party.

When the chamber passed the education budget, of which the appointments were a part, the Liberals, with few exceptions, voted "no" or abstained. Pierlot considered their action showed lack of confidence in his government. Pierlot's cabinet, formed Jan. 5, was the second since the beginning of the war, included the Catholic, Socialist, and Liberal parties.

"And they certainly have .. smoothest job I've ever had on .. and didn't cost a cent more than the ordinary kind!"

This is the sort of revelation you'll get when you first put on one of our shirts .. for until we offered, a year ago, shirts with sleeves hung the way your arms are, men's shirts were cut to fit scarecrows.

It wasn't easy to work out our idea..for men of all sizes and proportions .. and it took Excello, one of America's outstanding shirtmakers, eight months to do it. So we're sure that for the smoothest fit yet achieved in ready to wear shirts, ours are still in a class by themselves.

Furthermore you can be certain that all the shirts you buy here will fit you exactly alike .. regardless of price .. or when you buy them .. Because every single shirt in our stock is cut this new way!

FROM THOUGHTS TO THINGS

By CALEB

SOME of life's most elusive entities most vitally serve its existence. Take three at random: a wind, an electron, a thought. Could anything be more elusive? Has anybody either captured a thought or been able to state its origins? Can you, for example, even think about a thought and know which is the "thinking" and which is the "thought"?

Already we are over our heads! We can only observe the results of thinking, materially translated. And perhaps the most inspiring form that human thought-results have ever taken is Invention.

At once we stumble over a paradox. Our progenitors of centuries ago were as acute thinkers as we are! The ancient Greeks and Chinese thought of most of the startling devices we point pridefully to today; some few of them they even created. Leonardo da Vinci alone, in his notes and sketches, projected the engine, the rotary press, the tank, the airplane, the submarine, and a score of other mechanical possibilities. But—the ancient world's lack lay in its poverty of facilities for producing what it thought about. It couldn't materialize its ideas.

"Man," runs a very clever saying, "would still be plowing with a crooked stick if he hadn't been so lazy." What, for example, differentiates our own 1940 living environment from that of our pioneer predecessors? Necessity-born invention. And how purposefully, prolifically, persistingly, Americans have thought toward creative liberation from old handicaps, is beautifully summed in the 150-year record, completed in April of this year, of the U. S. Patent Office.

Its work began in 1790. For the first 46 years, patent rights were granted jointly by the Secretary of State, Secretary of War and Attorney General. Congress then passed an act (July 4th, 1836) establishing a Patent Office with a Commissioner in charge. This office inherited 9,957 patents already granted, whereas since that date it has issued 2,196,966! In other words, 296 a year average, prior to 1836—since then, over 400 per week! The present average is close to 800 per week, with 43,090 patents granted in 1939 alone . . . more than 4 times all those which were issued in the first 46 years. . . .

While some 140 other countries grant patents for invention, the United States outstrips them all. In scanning a recent list of famous inventions, I found 97, or better than 41 per cent, of the total came from Americans. Not merely we, but all men, live richer lives for the reaper, telephone, typewriter, telegraph, sewing machine, electric light, steamship, airplane, and countless other epochal aids by which our nation's inventive thinkers have added stupendous cubits to Civilization's stature.

AMERICAN TELLS HOW TRONDHEIM FELL AS IT SLEPT

Not a Shot Was Fired, Says Eye-Witness.

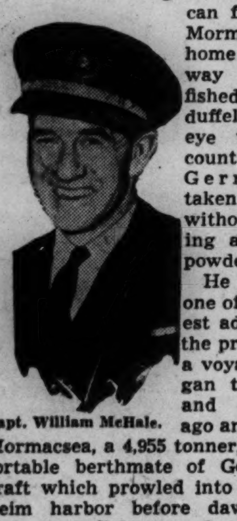
New York, April 25 (AP).—Capt. William McHale brought the little American freighter Mormacsea safely home from Norway today and fished from his duffel bag a bald eye witness account of how 500 Germans had taken Trondheim without expending an ounce of powder.



Capt. William McHale.

He thus ended one of the strangest adventures of the present war—a voyage that began two months and eight days ago and made the Mormacsea, a 4,955 tonner, an uncomfortable berthmate of German warcraft which prowled into the Trondheim harbor before dawn April 9 and accomplished an almost unprecedented invasion while the city slept.

Refuses a German Request.

He disclosed, too, that the Germans had sought to tie up alongside his own vessel that morning and thus to use the Mormacsea as a sort of bridge to land troops on the docks, and that they had respected his refusal to have any part of it.

Asked how the invaders had acted, the skipper said:

"They behaved very quietly. They were mostly young boys, 18 to 20 years old. Everybody seemed to know exactly where to go."

The Mormacsea, of the American Scantic Lines, brought back $4,500,000 in Swedish gold—a cache of wealth that was one of McHale's great concerns later lest he lost it to belligerents in Norway. Also brought back was food which had been intended for Finnish relief. The gold was picked up at Bergen while the Mormacsea was unloading a cargo of planes and machine guns for Sweden.

Another Reports: "All's Well."

Just after her arrival here, another American vessel that had been in Bergen—the Flying Fish of the Moore-McCormack lines—radioed that it had left and "all is well with crew."

McHale's story of the coup at Trondheim was begun in a diary which he had promised to keep for the Glen Rock, N. J., school children for their "adoption" of the ship and supplemented by his sharp recollections.

He turned out to have been an expert observer, for he had served with the British mine sweeping forces in the world war and was four times decorated for bravery before becoming a naturalized American citizen some years ago.

Excerpt from Diary.

Here was the entry in his diary which told the story of the fall of Trondheim without resistance and without the public appearance or protest, so far as he could see, of a single Norwegian soldier:

"TRONDHEIM: 5 a. m., April 9—Somebody knocked at my [cabin] door and said, 'We have a boat and would like to come alongside of you. Will it be all right?' As I was half asleep, I answered, 'Yes, certainly,' thinking it was some small Norwegian vessel that wanted to lay along side. About 10 minutes later there was a terrific racket and I realized that an airplane was circling around my ship.

"I went on deck. A three motored seaplane was overhead. I saw some soldiers on the dock. Then I spotted a large cruiser with a lot of soldiers on its deck. It was the [battle cruiser] Von Hipper. I then realized that the port had been taken by the Germans without a shot."

2,000 Troops Involved.

McHale said that altogether about 2,000 Germans took part in the occupation of Trondheim, but that no more than a quarter of that number were immediately landed from the Von Hipper and three accompanying destroyers.

It was, as he described it, an occupation with a sort of ghostly efficiency. As soon as the first arrivals set foot upon the dock they set up a portable radio and began calling Berlin for further instructions.

"Then," he added, "they took over some small Norwegian tugs and started landing the rest of their men."

German headquarters were set up in a hotel. Posters in Norwegian appeared in the streets telling the people to "be calm."

The Norwegians, the diary noted, were "very silent. It was like a funeral."

LADY CAMPBELL.

LONDON, April 25 (AP).—A divorce court justice today ordered the hearing of cross petitions brought by Sir Malcolm Campbell, noted automobile and speedboat racer, and his wife, Lady Campbell, despite her attorney's pleas she was suffering from a "nervous breakdown."

Sir Malcolm last September filed a petition for divorce and cited two co-respondents. The couple was married in 1920.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow.

M. M. KENT DIES AT MOMENCE.

NAZIS THREATEN TO BOMB OPEN BRITISH TOWNS

BERLIN, April 25 (AP).—The German high command today stressed what it said was the British bombing of "open, undefended towns of no military importance" and implied this would be repaid "bomb for bomb," should it continue. The open towns which the Germans said were bombed are the village of Heide, in Schleswig-Holstein, and Wenningstedt, a resort on the Island of Sylt.

Britain Denies Bombings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 25. — German charges that the British have commenced unrestricted bombing were denied by the air ministry tonight. The ministry said no attack had been made on the undefended town of Heide, in Schleswig-Holstein, but one was directed against the Westerland airdrome, important military objective on the Island of Sylt.

The communique calls attention to enemy bombs dropped on the Orkney Islands March 17 which "caused casualties to civilians." Caution was expressed here against interpreting the German complaint as an announcement that immediate reprisals might be expected.

Reich to Let Its Nationals in Polish Area Join Army

BERLIN, April 25.—German nationals living in German Poland government general are eligible to volunteer for service in the German army, it was announced today. The applicant must be at least 17 years old. The maximum age is 45 years, which conforms to standards set in the Reich.

REDS PLOTTING CIVIL WAR, DIES COMMITTEE TOLD

Witness Describes Vast Strike Scheme.

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Testimony that the communist party has planted its members in aircraft and other key industries on the west coast was given to the Dies committee today by Ezra Chase, who said he was a former organizer for the party at Los Angeles, Cal.

Ezra Chase.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Asked by Chairman Martin Dies [D.,Tex.] whether the party's immediate purpose was not to obtain valuable military and industrial secrets for transmission to Moscow, Chase said that it was.

He testified also that the party intended ultimately to plunge the country into civil war, and to overturn the present government by calling a general strike in basic industries.

Espionage Made Easy.

Dies inquired whether the American communist party and the German-American bund did not give Russia and Germany the greatest facilities they had ever had for espionage in the United States.

"There is no doubt that there now exists the greatest political and economic conspiracy in all history," the witness replied: "The communist party has made it plain that if any nation should be so bold as to declare war upon soviet Russia it would paralyze the industries of that nation."

Chase, tan-faced, bespectacled, and partly bald, told the committee that he was a native of Idaho Falls, Idaho. He said he had joined the communist party about 1931 and later went to work in the furniture industry at Los Angeles, where he joined the Upholsterers' International union, at the direction of the party, and finally became organizer of the union.

Boring Into Industry.

He identified what he said were resolutions passed at the Los Angeles county communist party convention in March, 1937. These, he said, directed that communists organize a "progressive caucus" in the Los Angeles Central Labor council and that communist units be formed in the unions for basic industries, particularly in C. I. O. organizations of automobile, steel, aircraft, rubber, and communications workers.

Chase said that a report of the communist party's California convention in 1937 showed that of 4,751 party members, 2,336 were members of trade unions. Of this number, he said, 698 were members of the A. F. of L., 1,455 of the C. I. O., and the remainder of unaffiliated organizations.

Roosevelt Approves Bill to Reapportion Congress

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed today a bill providing for automatic reapportionment of the 435 seats in the house on the basis of the 1940 census. The reapportionment will be effective in 1942. Under the legislation, some states will gain and others will lose seats in the house, depending upon population changes since the last decennial census in 1930.

Winner in Court

LUPE VELEZ.

Boston, Mass., April 25 (AP).—Superior Court Judge Nelson P. Brown dismissed today a $3,000 commission suit against Lupe Velez, screen star, after she denied allegations of Gene Barnes, Boston jewelry salesman, that he had arranged the purchase of $30,000 in jewelry for her in 1932.

Artist Leaves U. S. 3 Days to Comply with Alien Law

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 25 [Special].—Ulferte Wilke, German artist who was required by immigration officials to leave the country and reenter under the provision for nonquota immigration for teachers and workers in art, will return to Kalamazoo during the week-end. He will assume the positions of curator at the Kalamazoo art museum and art instructor at Kalamazoo college, to which post he was appointed last fall. Wilke left Kalamazoo in January and to satisfy the immigration technicalities spent three days last week in Havana, Cuba.

WILLKIE CHARGES NEW DEAL CURBS FREE ENTERPRISE

No Desire to Encourage Business, He Says.

New York, April 25 [Special].—Wendell L. Willkie tonight asserted that the federal government now "proclaims the failure of the people's enterprises and has adopted the principle that progress comes from government itself."

Willkie, who is president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, and William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors corporation, addressed some 1,250 newspaper publishers, editors and business managers here at the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers association bureau of advertising.

Quotes from Bryce's Book.

Willkie said that he had felt flattered by recent references to himself as a possible dark horse for the presidential nomination until a friend supplied him with this definition from Sir James Bryce's book, "The American Commonwealth":

"The note of the dark horse is respectability verging on colorlessness; a good sort of person to fall back upon when able but dangerous favorites have proved impossible."

Willkie said the liberal could not object to the principles of New Deal reforms, but added:

"The liberal does not see in the present administration any will to leave men free. He sees only an attempt to increase the powers of government.

Huge Federal Pay Roll.

"The present huge federal organization with its pay roll of over a million employés, its dozens of agencies and commissions, its expenses of several billion dollars a year, represent an entirely new concept of government. It is government as a dominant force in the lives of the people.

"If we examine this government's domestic activities—government regulation, the tax program, the spending program, we find no evidence of any desire to promote the businesses of the people. None of the New Dealers who wrote the laws regulating business enterprise or the commissioners who now administer those laws seem to be interested in encouraging business.

"The government does not seem to care whether its laws have made business more dead than alive."

Penalizes Chance Taker.

"In effect," he said, "the tax system rewards the man who plays safe and penalizes the man who takes a chance. And it is the man who is able and willing to take a chance who provides new industries and new jobs."

Knudsen declared that more, not less work would lead the way to prosperity in this country, and that labor's greatest need today is for better management.

Order Oklahoma Governor Not to Interfere with Dam

Tulsa, Okla., April 25 (AP).—A three judge federal court today ordered Gov. Leon C. Phillips not to interfere with the completion of the 20 million dollar Grand river hydro-electric project. The court granted the federal government a temporary injunction. Phillips had attempted to halt completion of the dam thru use of troops and thru a state court suit until the PWA financed Grand River Dam authority had paid the state $889,275 for state roads and bridges to be inundated by the 52,000 acre reservoir. The injunction superceded a temporary restraining order.

DEWEY'S RACKET BUSTERS HERE IN PROBE OF SCALISE

Hunt for Link with Rich Union Treasury.

Investigators of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York were in Chicago yesterday looking into the methods by which George Scalise controls the rich treasury of the Building Service Employés' International union.

Scalise, ex-convict president of the international, whose subsidiary unions have 70,000 members, was arrested Sunday in New York on a charge of extorting $100,000 or more from hotels and contractors. He furnished bail of $40,000, of which $30,000, according to reliable sources, came from the international bank account in Chicago.

Officials Withhold Comment.

Two members of the international's executive board, who said Wednesday that no board meeting had been called to approve a bail contribution, said yesterday they had "no comment to make" on the reported Dewey investigation here. They are William McFetridge, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, and Gus Van Heck, the janitors' secretary-treasurer. Both rank as vice presidents of the Scalise organization.

It was learned, however, that the Dewey investigators were seeking to determine the truth of charges that Scalise and his right hand man, Thomas Burke, handle the union funds without regard to the rights or opinions of other executive board members.

These charges were bared in February when Charles Hardy Sr., a labor leader in San Francisco, Cal., went into court to fight an order of Scalise that Hardy be ousted. In that action McFetridge testified he didn't know what became of the $25,000 or more in dues that roll into the international treasury each month.

Books Kept Out of Sight.

Miss Elizabeth A. Grady, president of the Cook County Employés union, and nominally sole trustee of the international, as well as an executive board member, admitted she hadn't seen the books of the organization in two years.

Judge I. M. Golden ruled that Hardy could be tried on charges by the international board, but that Scalise and Burke were incompetent to act as judges in the proceedings against the San Franciscan. The judge also pointed out that it had been "plainly charged" that Scalise had caused three murders to be committed in Chicago, but added there was no proof against him in these matters. Hardy hasn't been tried by the union yet.

The 700,000 members of the international, of whom about half are Chicagoans, pay 35 cents a month each for international dues. The estimated total is $294,000 a year.

Charge Huge Salary.

In the Hardy litigation it was alleged Scalise took $120,000 as salary and $25,000 as expenses each year. From union sources it was learned his actual salary is $20,000 a year. Contributing to his parent union's funds are McFetridge's flat janitors, Burke's theater and office janitors, and the 4,000 members of the elevator operators' union.

Mathew Taylor, head of the last named union, went under Scalise's "protection" last year after Louis Scavone, a companion of the old Capone gangsters, was shot to death while he carried copies of an elevator union audit in his pockets. Previously Taylor had resisted the power of Scalise.

PICK JURY TO TRY UNION OFFICIALS IN ATTACK CASE

A jury of nine women and three men was completed yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph A. Graber to hear evidence in the trial of two butchers' union officials on charges of assault to commit murder and mayhem. They are accused in connection with an attack last Jan. 6 on Czeslaw L. Mikolajczk, 3035 Cullerton street.

The defendants are Joseph Kopke, 1845 23d place, and Harry Hlavacek, 1533 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, business agents of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butcher Workmen of North America. Mikolajczk, a former member of the union, was assaulted in a butcher shop at 2227 South Springfield avenue, where he was working.

All the jurors selected yesterday were asked whether they had had dealings with unions.

Negro Admits Slaying Grocer During Holdup

Police said yesterday that John Bullocks, 19 years old, colored, 3744 South Park way, had confessed the slaying of Bernard Rubenstein, 50, owner of a grocery at 2945 Indiana avenue. Rubenstein was shot by robbers Feb. 22. Lieut. Archie Kane of the detective bureau said that ballistics tests of a gun found in Bullock's room tended to confirm his confession.

BOY, 10, DROWNS IN RIVER.

Milton Vakac, 10 years old, 1318 Blackhawk street, drowned yesterday when he fell into the Chicago river at Blackhawk street while playing about a coal pile with another boy.

PAROLE EXPERTS CONDEMN RADIO CRIME DRAMAS

Radio programs dramatizing gangsters and crime were condemned at the closing sessions of the Central States Probation and Parole association yesterday for "contributing measurably to the commission of crime by juveniles."

Efforts were made to tone down the language of the resolution, which was sponsored by Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court and by Frank X. Beller, chief probation officer of the Juvenile court of St. Louis, Mo., but the conference rejected the move with a vehement chorus of "No!"

The association, which met in the Hotel Sherman, chose Milwaukee as its 1940 convention city.

A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the bureau of pardons and paroles of Michigan, was elected president of the association, and Joseph E. Ragen, superintendent of Illinois prisons, first vice president.

GIRL, 8, DIES OF NOSEBLEED.

Lenore Simmons, 8 years old, died of a severe nosebleed Wednesday night in her home at 4946 North Christiana avenue.

Uncross your fingers, madame ★

Beef-buying is no longer a puzzle. Days of doubt are gone! Hoping and praying for a tender roast of beef or juicy, satisfying steak are passé. You can at last uncross your fingers, when you buy beef!

THE TENDERAY PROCESS is the first scientific process to accomplish this. It required three and one-half years' research. Scientists of three great American Institutions, the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh, and the Kroger Food Foundation of Cincinnati, collaborated to develop a process which assures you in advance that every roast of beef and cut of steak you buy will be tender, juicy, and delicious. TENDERAY is the answer!

IN THE TENDERAY PROCESS no chemicals are added to the meat; there is no pre-cooking and no mechanical treatment. Instead, nature's own slow method of tenderizing is aided and speeded up and fine, wholesome, fresh beef is now made extra tender and delicious under scientifically controlled conditions.

The process itself is a complicated one. There is more to it than hanging up a few sides of beef and using an ultra violet light! It requires special meat coolers, accurately controlled refrigeration, proper air circulation, scientific air purification, and controlled humidity—plus a staff of specially trained men who know the TENDERAY technique and check every step of the Process to assure its proper operation. No halfway methods can begin to give the same results as TENDERAY. You'll taste the difference when you sample your first tempting tidbit of TENDERAY Beef.

Only TENDERAY LICENSEES can use this patented* Process. In Chicago and vicinity TENDERAY Beef is sold exclusively in Kroger and Consumer's Stores, under this trademark . . .

CARROZZO RULES RAISE CONCRETE PRICES 25 PCT.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Contractors assert that Mike Carrozzo's strangle hold on the concrete industry in Chicago keeps concrete construction prices 25 per cent higher than Chicagoans ought to pay. The government is now pushing an investigation of Carrozzo's ban on the use of premixed concrete. Leo J. Tierney, special assistant attorney general, is in charge.

The taxpayer who builds a five room house in Chicago pays an extra $100 on his concrete work because of Carrozzo, contractors say. This levy on the individual builder is in addition to the estimated $250,000 a year Carrozza gets in union fees and dues.

Look Into Huge Income.

Carrozzo's refusal to let Chicago contractors use premixed concrete when 700 other contractors thruout the country have laid 55 million yards of it attracted the attention of federal investigators early in March. The ensuing probe has run along with a study of Carrozzo's huge income and his close connection with officials in the paving industry.

Interest in these investigations was increased two weeks ago when Carrozzo called a mysterious strike of asphalt workers two hours after bids on 100,000 tons of asphalt had been thrown out by the city and new bids taken which saved the taxpayers $10,000.

Carrozzo was forced to call off the strike, his first defeat in 21 years of labor czardom over Chicago streets. Yesterday the city realized its victory when the three companies that subsequently got the contracts at lower prices, American Asphalt Paving company, Sensibar Engineering and Paving company, and White Consolidated, Inc., began delivering the order of 100,000 tons of asphalt.

Contractors said yesterday that Carrozzo's method of preventing the use of premixed concrete is featured by levying heavy tribute on the contractors who attempt to use it. He makes premix a more expensive system than the old fashioned system.

How Premix is Used.

It is explained that premixed concrete consists of the dry concrete ingredients mixed at a central plant, usually the yards of the material companies. This mix is dumped into a special truck, containing a mobile concrete mixer and a water tap. As the truck driver moves from the material yard to the concrete job, he turns a spigot, lets in water, turns on the mixer and the concrete is mixed while the truck is in motion. At the job, ready mixed concrete is dumped into the forms.

The old method, which Carrozzo requires Chicago contractors to use, calls for a separate mixer at each job, and a crew of wheelbarrow men to haul the mixed concrete to the form. The premix method, say contractors, cuts labor costs 60 per cent, and the cost of the total job 25 per cent, in areas where it is permitted.

But not in Chicago. Here Carrozzo requires contractors to hire from him an "engineer" and an "engineer's helper" for each premix truck used on the job. These men do no work, but they are paid $20 a day. Such added costs make premixed concrete as expensive as the old method in Chicago, and contractors cannot afford to invest in the new equipment.

Enforces Rules by Strikes.

Carrozzo enforces his premixed concrete rules with his favorite weapon—since he gave up gun toting—the strike.

The two strikes that attracted government investigators to the premixed concrete situation, were at the Ida B. Wells housing project on the south side last August and at the 103d street viaduct in June, 1938.

Carrozzo tied up the housing project for two months until it was agreed that his engineers and helpers, who have choice spots in his unions, would be hired. Contractors on the viaduct job took off the premix machines, and added the additional costs to their bill to the city.

Carrozzo settled the premix situation in his capacity as czar of the Hod Carriers, Building and Construction Laborers. In his current asphalt dealings with the city, he is acting as ruler of the Street Laborers' union.

Woman Springs from Auto as Intruder Forces Way In

Two women returning from a loop concert were menaced by a bandit in the Garfield park district last night. They were Mrs. Catherine Henry, 5048 Augusta boulevard, and Mrs. Bessie Ryer, 3334 Washington boulevard. As Mrs. Henry stopped her car almost in front of Mrs. Ryer's home to let her out the robber opened the side door. He forced Mrs. Ryer out and then got into the front seat. At the same time Mrs. Henry sprang out of the car on the other side. The bandit drove away with the car and Mrs. Henry's purse, containing $5.

OIL HEIR REPORTS KIDNAP ATTEMPT IN LOOP THEATER

John G. Phillips.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan revealed yesterday that John G. Phillips, 51 years old, of Dallas, Tex., son of the president of the Phillips Petroleum company, had been guarded by a police escort during his stay in Chicago after he reported an attempt to kidnap him from a loop theater.

Phillips, representative of a steel concern in Dallas, came here with his wife Monday. They went to a musical show that night. Phillips said that during the intermission he went upstairs to the washroom. Three men followed him. He said one put what he believed to be a gun in his back, and, addressing him by name, ordered him to accompany them to the lobby.

Phillips said he broke away, returned to his seat, and left with his wife before the finale. He and his wife hurried to a cab and returned to the Blackstone hotel. He notified his father, Frank Phillips of Bartlesville, Okla., who obtained a police escort for him until he left for home yesterday.

Continue Cases Against 3 Held in Strike Terror

The cases of three young men, arrested for violence allegedly growing out of a strike at the American Needle and Novelty company, a hat making concern at 2331 North Washtenaw avenue, were continued yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude of Boys court until May 16. The continuance was requested by Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford.

Defendants are Walter Kucharski, 1628 Branch avenue; John Czurylo, 1520 Cortez street, and Vincent Bik, 1326 Cortez street. Kucharski and Czurylo are members of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers' union, which is conducting the strike.

DIVORCEE BREAKS A DATE; ONE MAN SLAIN, TWO HURT

Ex-Gang Leader Shelton Is a Victim.

Fairfield, Ill., April 25 [Special].—Mystery tonight still surrounded the sudden barking of guns in a lovers' quarrel here last night which left one man dead and two others seriously wounded.

Carl Shelton, one time southern Illinois gang leader, who lived thru many machine gun fights with rival gangsters, was wounded by a bullet that lodged near his heart. He was described as an innocent bystander, altho he was clutching an unfired .45 caliber pistol.

The slain man was J. C. [Blackie] Anderson, 35 years old, an oil field worker from Centralia. He was dead from three bullets in his body, but was still holding a knife when policemen arrived. Charles Harris, uncle of the woman involved, was in a serious condition from numerous knife cuts.

Sheriff Arthur Barnard said he has been unable to learn who fired the shots, which suddenly blazed in front of a skating rink owned by Shelton on the outskirts of Fairfield.

Even the details of what happened preceding the shooting were vague. It was learned, however, that Anderson had been keeping company with Harris' niece, a divorcée about 35 years old, and had quarreled with her.

Coroner James Colbert related the following happenings:

Harris' niece had a date to meet Anderson in Salem. She didn't keep the date. She arrived at the skating rink with her brother, Virgil Harris, 30, about the same time that Anderson drove up with an unidentified man from Salem.

The woman ran into the rink, where her uncle is employed, crying that Anderson had approached her with a gun. Charles Harris ran out, and the shooting followed.

SECOND CRASH VICTIM DIES.

Gee, man! There's a snug collar
This is "The Case of the 4 Sack Coats". It'll give you a kick—and some worthwhile tips. Last week, a husky 6-footer strode in, a glint in his eye. Ten paces past the door he cut loose with "What's going on here? They tell me you folks are running away with a big part of the clothing business. I'm here to investigate!" And he did. Gave us the works. Tested fabrics like an expert. Had a magnifying glass to count stitches. Even checked the 210 tailoring operations we put into every suit. Then—"Let me try on this double-breasted." Fit him like a glove. "Let's see another." Four times, four different models. Not a wrinkle—snug collars, smooth shoulders, perfectly draped sleeves. "How do you do it?" he exploded. "They're tailored in Rochester," we whispered. "So"—with a snort—"tough to pick when they all look so good." (He eventually took that plaid drape.) Not a smile, still tough as an F. B. TRY TO END SUIT AGAINST UNION; JUDGE SAYS NO

Laundry Case Resumed; Threats Denied.

The Metropolitan Hand Laundry Owners' association, which sought a court injunction against a laundry workers' union which it accused of terrorism and intimidation, abruptly asked yesterday that its suit be dismissed. Judge Grover C. Niemeyer of the Superior court refused, however, to dismiss the case and ordered the hearing on it completed.

One purpose of the suit is to determine whether the phrase "sign up or else" constitutes a threat. This phrase allegedly has been used by representatives of the union—local 46 of the Laundry Workers' international, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. The laundry owners charged that they were intimidated when they refused to sign union contracts. Several have testified that they were threatened with strikes and loss of business unless they signed.

Reason for Request Disputed

Morris K. Levinson, counsel for the laundry owners, told Judge Niemeyer the union had offered the association a contract containing an arbitration clause, such as was in the 1938 contract, and that the cause for dispute had disappeared. The motion to dismiss was denied when Attorney Floyd Thompson objected for the union. Levinson's contention was denied later by union representatives.

After Judge Niemeyer's ruling, the suit resolved itself into a chaos of missing witnesses and contradictory testimony when the hearing was resumed before Master in Chancery John P. Kelly. He has been taking testimony in the case.

Levinson notified Kelly that he was abandoning the case. And neither he nor his witnesses appeared.

Denies Making "Or Else" Threat.

Attorney Thompson called Misha Gershman, the union's business agent. Gershman denied four times that he knew the meaning of "or else," and said he had never used the phrase or even heard it used by any one else. Questioned by Master Kelly, he admitted he was not curious to know what it meant.

"That isn't a normal human reaction," Kelly said. "He [Gershman] doesn't know what he's charged with."

"Why should he follow a will-o'-the-wisp?" asked Thompson.

Kelly then suggested that Gershman imagine himself a laundry owner to whom the expression was used. "Now what does it mean?" he asked.

Admits It's a Bad Word.

"Well, it's bad," Gershman said.

"Then you do know what 'or else' means?" asked Kelly.

Gershman admitted then that he thought it was a threat. He denied, however, having used it.

Samuel Deahl, president, and Charles Lindgren, vice president of the union local, both said they ordinarily considered "or else" a threat. Both denied that the union resorted to threats.

"We instruct our business agents that the pencil is mightier than anything else," Deahl said.

Denies Contract Offer.

Deahl denied Levinson's earlier assertion before Judge Niemeyer that the owners' association had been offered a contract containing an arbitration clause. He said the union did not recognize the association because it did not represent a majority of Chicago's hand laundry operators, and that only recognized associations were offered such clauses. Gershman said the association had about 28 members, altho it claims more than 200.

Master Kelly said that on Monday he would have a recommendation ready for the court, including his recommendation as to what "or else" really means.

Back Tax Bureau Gets Million in Commitments

Commitments to pay more than a million dollars in back real estate taxes have been made to the county bureau of delinquent taxes in its first four months of operation, County Treasurer John Toman said yesterday. More than half this amount has been paid in cash. Taxpayers have contracted to pay the remainder in monthly instalments, he said.

New Deal Clique in Georgia Puts Over Third Term Coup

Senator George.

Atlanta, Ga., April 25 [Special].—A hand-picked Georgia Democratic executive committee today chose a hand picked and "uninstructed" delegation to the Chicago convention, indorsed a resolution urging President Roosevelt to accept a third term nomination, and gagged a movement by supporters of Senator Walter F. George for a presidential preference primary.

The committee committed the so-called uninstructed delegation to support Mr. Roosevelt should the President decide to seek reëlection. A committee was appointed "to wait upon the President at Warm Springs [where he is vacationing] at his convenience and urge him to accept the nomination of the party."

The committee leaders refused to permit any one to make a speech in favor of a presidential preference primary and did not open two large packages containing nearly 25,000 signatures to petitions urging a primary.

New Dealers in Control.

The hand picked state committee is so-called because half its 120 members were chosen by Committee Chairman James A. Gillis and the other half by the last Democratic state convention, which was controled by Gov. E. D. Rivers. Both Gillis and Rivers are ardent New Dealers.

When informed of the committee's action, Senator George said in Washington he understood President Roosevelt and Gillis had conferred shortly before today's meeting was called.

In selecting 72 delegates to the Chicago convention, the committee ignored the advice of both United States senators from Georgia and the state's 10 members of congress.

Immediately after the committee session Edgar B. Dunlap, Senator George's state leader who managed the latter's successful campaign for reëlection in 1938 against President Roosevelt's efforts to purge him, charged that he and other party leaders had been ejected from the meeting without a hearing.

Dictatorship Is Charged.

The George group, which had been insisting on a primary so that the name of Vice President John N. Garner could be entered on the ballot to vie for delegates to the Chicago convention, immediately went into caucus and adopted a resolution charging that "a dictatorship is being established in Georgia" and that "the Democratic executive committee has stolen the livery and rights of Georgia Democrats and sold them down the river in the interest of politicians."

"We call upon Georgia Democrats," the resolution added, "to resent this highhanded action and usurpation of the rights of the people to select their representatives. We owe it to ourselves and to democracy to rescue our party from the dictatorship that is being set up and operated right here in Georgia.

Alleges Denial of Rights.

"We call attention to the fact that this primary effort is not a partisan affair but that written petitions were presented from supporters of President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Postmaster General James A. Farley, and others.

"These petitioners simply wanted a primary that the people might participate in the nomination of a candidate for President — a privilege which the powers now have denied them."

Shortly after the committee session opened, Dunlap asked Chairman Gillis for permission to address the committee for 15 minutes. He was informed he would have to find a committee member to make a motion for him, which he was unable to do.

Rivers Is Floor Leader.

The executive committee adopted a resolution, offered by Vice Chairman Zach Arnold, providing that the delegation to Chicago should be uninstructed, that it fix its own time and place for meeting after organizing, and that the national committeeman [Gov. Rivers] be the floor leader at the national convention and cast the vote of the delegation as a unit on all questions arising. Georgia has 24 votes in the convention.

UNION SIEGE GOES ON; APARTMENT COAL DWINDLING

Karol Talaber.

With only about five days' supply of coal left in the building, pickets of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union continued yesterday to cut off outside services to tenants of a six apartment building at 4910 North Spaulding avenue. They have barred all deliveries of food and supplies since April 8, according to Karol Talaber, operator of the building.

Talaber filed suit Wednesday in the Superior court for an injunction to restrain the pickets from approaching within 200 feet of the building or threatening delivery men. He said that ashes and garbage which have accumulated since the picketing began were menacing the health of his family and other tenants.

The pickets were posted at the building after a union janitor quit and Talaber, who at present has no work, decided to take over the janitor duties himself.

Autoist Must Pay $40,025 for Causing a Train Wreck

Omaha, Neb., April 25 [Special].—A federal court jury here yesterday assessed damages of $40,025 against Martin D. Wilson of Burlington, Ia., for causing the wreck of a Union Pacific mail train when it hit his auto.

128 Franklin Park Tracts Remain in County Tax Sale

County Treasurer John Toman said last night that only 128 of the 452 properties in Franklin Park put up for tax foreclosure sales remain to be sold. The auction will resume at 9:30 this morning on the first floor of the county building. The 324 parcels sold this week have brought $7,743, or less than 4 per cent of the $185,216 that was due on them in taxes and special assesments.

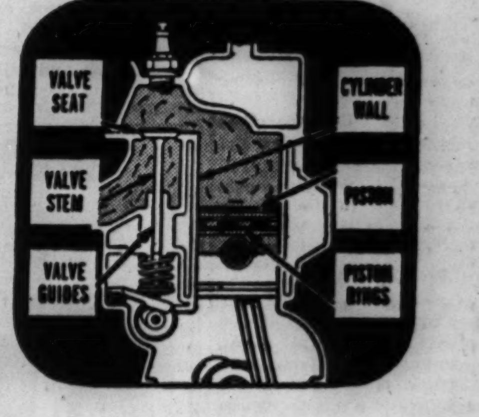
D-X

The Perfectly Balanced MOTOR FUEL

The makers of D-X, the lubricating motor fuel, have always anticipated advanced motoring requirements...D-X has always been "Ahead of the Parade." Naturally, D-X now is higher in anti-knock than ever before—but not at the expense of other qualities. The power, mileage and quick-starting performance of D-X stay UP, too. D-X assures a new high in all-around motoring satisfaction.



IN ADDITION

UPPER-CYLINDER LUBRICATION

SAVES 2¢ ON EVERY GALLON

D-X gives you this EXTRA performance feature which other companies recommend but for which they make an extra charge, averaging 2¢ per gallon of gasoline. And D-X cannot be compared with haphazard mixtures obtained by pouring a "top cylinder oil" into the gasoline in the tank, because a special high heat-resisting lubricant is processed into D-X in its manufacture which protects all upper-cylinder parts. Mileage, power, speed are increased and wear is reduced. Yet D-X costs you no more than nationally advertised "regular" gasolines.

MID-CONTINENT PETROLEUM CORPORATION

With D-X, Use the Companion Product for Best Road Performance

There is no finer motor oil at any price than solvent-processed Diamond 760, an all-petroleum lubricant — will not break down or form sludge. Yet it sells for only 30¢ quart.

GREEN CONFERS ON G. O. P. CHOICE FOR COUNTY HEAD

Test of Sentiment to Be Taken Tonight.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, had luncheon with a dozen members of the Cook county central committee yesterday to talk over questions involved in the county convention next Monday. Wayland Brooks, nominee for governor; Brooks, nominee for senator; George F. Barrett, nominee for attorney general, and Arthur C. Lueder, nominee for state auditor, also were present.

No vote or specific test of sentiment on any question was taken. All that was left for a more formally organized conference tonight. That meeting will include 18 of the 80 members of the county committee selected by their associates for the purpose of arranging a sort of program for the convention.

Chairmanship Biggest Problem.

The biggest subject to be taken up is the chairmanship. Green desires that honor to go to John T. Dempsey, 33d ward committeeman, who was his county manager during the primary campaign. The conference also may seek agreement on the selection of other officers of the committee, including the secretary and the vice chairman.

Those at the first conference were members of an informal executive committee for the Brooks-Lyons forces in Cook county which opposed Green in the primary. Because of that situation, it was said, Brooks did most of the talking to the committeemen and told them plainly that Dempsey is "the governor's" choice for chairman. Neither approval nor objection was raised by any of those in the meeting.

Several Leaders Present.

Those present included Edward F. Moore, the present chairman; John Leonard East, Patrick Sheridan Smith, Andrew Metzger, and George Fisher from the south side, R. J. Peacock, James C. Moreland, and Eden T. Brekke from the northwest side, Judge Oscar F. Nelson and George A. Willison, speaking for the north side, and William V. Pacelli, representing a group of west side wards. The country towns organization was not officially represented but A. W. Komarek of Riverside was present.

Today the committeemen of each group of 10 wards, taken in numerical order, and the country towns will caucus and will elect three committeemen to attend the meeting tonight. The country towns also will choose three representatives from their members of the committee. Thus the conference will consist of six groups, each of which will include three men.

Story in Culbertson Book Brings Suit for $400,000

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Ely Culbertson, contract bridge expert, was sued in Common Pleas court today for $400,000 which Theodore W. Herbst of New York said Culbertson got from the sale of his indestructible card manufacturing company to Herbst. Herbst's attorney, Edward Davis, said the action was filed as a result of light thrown on the deal by Culbertson himself in his new book, "The Strange Lives of One Man." The final chapter, entitled "Bluff and Counterbluff," Davis said, describes negotiations for the sale and tells of stock transfers before the sale which Herbst contended constituted "fraud."

HOUSE SESSION GETS WILD OVER WAGE-HOUR LAW

Beat Down Attempt to Block Revision.

complaining a moment ago about a gag rule. Now he refuses to permit the gag to be lifted."

"The committee on rules is dominated by men coming from districts where Negroes are not permitted to vote," remarked Mrs. Norton, accomplishing a marvelous nonsequitur which nevertheless achieved its purpose of infuriating all the southerners.

"Dominated by Lewis."

"The labor committee, of which the gentlewoman from New Jersey is chairman, is under the domination of the sinister, beetle-browed John L. Lewis," charged Cox. He went on to castigate Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace who, he said, had created a chasm of despair on the brink of which six million farmers tremble.

The house was in an uproar as Sabath mover the previous question. This is a technical motion, passage of which stops all further consideration of the subject before the house. Its passage would probably have resulted in preventing any action on the wage-hour act at this session. It was defeated by only four votes.

Sabath then moved that the house adjourn. This suggestion was roared down.

The situation at this point was one which rarely develops in the house for obvious reasons. Any one of the 400-odd legislators recognized by the speaker was entitled to talk for one hour on the bill. As one member remarked in dismay, "We may be here for months!"

Georgian First on Floor.

Cox was the first to be recognized. He offered his amendment removing the gag on consideration of the three measures.

Representative Frank E. Hook [D., Mich.] undertook to bait Cox to his subsequent mortification. Hook is the member who introduced into the house record the forged documents which attempted to smear Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the committee on un-American activities. He escaped with a reprimand after the documents had been expunged from the record.

When Hook interrupted Cox repeatedly the latter remarked amidst the shouted laughter of the members:

"Let me say for the benefit of the gentleman from Michigan, and if he acts on my suggestion he might be greatly benefited, he ought to get out of John L. Lewis' vest pocket and back on his own feet!"

Wants Remark on Record.

Amid the cheers which greeted this observation Hook shouted a demand from Cox's words be taken down. This is a procedure preceding a protest that the words had been in violation of the rules of the house barring personal remarks by one member about another.

The clerk repeated Cox's statement gravely while the lawmakers whopped again. The speaker pro tem, Sam Rayburn of Texas, considered the matter and ruled solemnly:

'When one member says another member is so under the control of some person that he is carried in that person's vest pocket, it is a violation of house rules."

The words thereupon were expunged and Cox proceeded.

The Cox amendment to permit debate on the measures was carried by a vote of 167 to 92, the rule providing for consideration of the measures with no restrictions as to amendment was approved 233 to 141, and the house adjourned.

General debate will be started tomorrow and final action on the proposed amendments is scheduled for Monday.

Final Primary Tally Shows G.O.P. Rural Strength.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Official figures showed yesterday that Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for the nomination for President, rolled up 128,088 more votes than President Roosevelt in the 102 downstate counties of Illinois in the presidential preference primaries April 9. The combined vote for Dewey and Vice President Garner downstate was 220,581 greater than that cast for the President. One theory is that the support for Garner will go largely to the Republican ticket in the event of a third term nomination.

In Cook county, home of the powerful Kelly-Nash organization, Roosevelt got 229,086 more votes than Dewey and Garner together.

State-Wide Lead Is Slight.

In the entire state President Roosevelt, backed by the Chicago and Springfield machines, had 8,505 more votes than Dewey and Garner together. This amounts to a little more than one vote in each of the 8,336 precincts in Illinois.

The official figures, released by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, showed Roosevelt received 1,176,531 votes in Illinois, Garner 190,801, and Dewey 977,225.

Thus the President got just a shade over a majority—50.18 per cent of the total vote cast in both parties for President. Roosevelt's name was entered in the primaries by the Springfield-Chicago organizations without his written consent as required by law, and the metropolitan and statehouse machines, whooping it up for a third term, put on an active campaign. Garner got 8.14 per cent of the total presidential vote; Dewey had 41.68 per cent.

Rural Majority for Dewey.

Downstate Dewey showed his vote drawing powers in the rural regions. He got 51.53 per cent of all votes cast by members of both parties for President in the 101 counties outside Cook county. Garner got 7.95 per cent of the vote downstate, and Roosevelt had 40.52 per cent. Thus outside Cook county Dewey and Garner combined rolled up a vote of almost 3 to 2 as against the Roosevelt downstate vote.

Downstate Dewey had 35,595 more votes than were cast for Roosevelt and Garner together.

Tabulate Official Fgures.

The figures, which will be presented to the state canvassing board at its meeting today, follow:

	Cook County.	Downstate.	Total.
ROOSEVELT..	704,968	471,563	1,176,531
	59.70%	40.52%	50.18%
GARNER	98,308	92,493	190,801
	8.33%	7.95%	8.14%
DEWEY	377,574	599,651	977,225
	31.97%	51.53%	41.68%

In the Democratic vote for President, Garner, who made no campaign, made what politicians regard as a remarkable showing against the Chicago-Springfield machine support of the President. In Cook county Garner got 12.24 per cent of the Democratic votes for President. Downstate Garner had 16.4 per cent. In the entire state he had 13.95 per cent. Roosevelt in Cook county had 87.76 per cent of the Democratic votes; downstate 83.60 per cent, and in the entire state 86.05 per cent.

Roosevelt 239,880 Behind 1936.

In the primary of 1936, Roosevelt, unopposed, had a total vote of 1,416,411, while three Republican candidates had 914,570. Downstate that year Roosevelt polled 32,067 votes more than the Republican candidates. To indicate the swing, Roosevelt polled 239,880 fewer votes in Illinois April 9 than four years ago, while Dewey, with no opponent in the Republican primaries, bagged 62,655 more votes than were cast for three Republican candidates four years ago.

The official figures show Wayland Brooks beat Ralph Church for the nomination for United States senator in the Republican primaries by 199,542 votes. The vote was: Brooks, 618,857; Church, 419,315.

On the Democratic side, Senator James M. Slattery defeated Benjamin S. Adamowski by 284,805 votes. The vote: Slattery, 796,036; Adamowski, 511,231.

Mount Carroll, Ill., April 25 [Special].—A 100 pound cannon ball which disappeared from the courthouse yard here Saturday night was returned today. Courthouse employés returning to work this morning found the relic in its usual place on a civil war memorial. With it was a note reading: "This cannon ball doesn't fit our guns. Adolph Hitler."

5 TON SMELT FRY TO BE HELD TODAY FOR 25,000 PUPILS

A gigantic fish fry will be held today in Chicago's public high schools. Twenty-five thousand boys and girls will eat smelts.

A 10 cent menu, consisting of as much smelts as a student can eat, heaps of potato chips and generous portions of cole slaw, bread, and butter will be served in 50 high school lunchrooms. Five tons of fish for the fry were purchased by the board of education from Escanaba, Mich.,

"One of the chief reasons for offering the smelt lunch," said F. O. Washam, director of school lunchrooms, "is to acquaint our future housewives and breadwinners with an economic food supply which is inexpensive, delicious, and produced in this area."

RETURN TO G. O. P. PROVED BY VOTE IN 13TH DISTRICT

Republicans Gain Over 24% in Four Years.

Freeport, Ill., April 25 [Special].—Considered from any angle the analyst chooses, official returns from the April 9 primary show this congressional district, the 13th, consisting of six counties in the northwest corner of Illinois, is steadily swinging back toward their old Republicanism.

The total Republican vote cast increased from 33,492 in 1936 to 41,823 this year, a rise of 24.87 per cent, or almost one-fourth. In comparison with 1938, when there was no real party contest, the increase was from 38,014, or almost one-tenth.

There was no contest for the presidential preference, but Thomas E. Dewey received 37,230 votes and the two contestants in 1936 received a combined total of 29,229. The late Senator William E. Borah received 15,680, or substantially less than half of what Dewty received. The other entrant, Frank Knox, received 13,549 votes.

In 1936, with one opponent, Congressman Leo Allen received 24,249 votes. In 1938 his total, with no opposition, was 30,892. On April 9 this year, with no candidate against him his vote was 34,706.

Thomas E. Dewey, president	37,230
Leo E. Allen, congressman	34,706
John O. Graham, delegate	27,423
Harry S. Lowman, delegate	25,903
Wayland Brooks, senator	23,857
Dwight H. Green, governor	22,315
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	14,550
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	14,641
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	3,985
Warren Wright, state treasurer	18,263
George F. Barrett, attorney general	9,127
William G. Stratton, congressman at large	17,624
Stephen A. Day, congressman at large	11,561

The increase in the presidential preference vote over 1936 was 8,001, or 27.3 per cent.

Compilation of the primary results by congressional districts in the office of secretary of state are limited to district offices. These official returns have been tabulated by representatives of THE TRIBUNE.

GREATER SAFETY STUDY URGED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Expert Assails Highway Massacre Toll.

Increased safety education in public schools was urged yesterday by Albert W. Whitney, consulting director of the National Conservation bureau. He addressed the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation meeting in the Stevens hotel.

Whitney spoke primarily on traffic education, in which he said relatively little progress has been made compared with the advances in industrial, aircraft, and railroad safety.

"Some time it is going to get under our skin that we are killing on our streets more than 32,000 people a year and injuring at least a million more, at an expense of a billion and a half dollars a year," he said.

He advocated driver education in secondary schools to continue the safety programs taught in most elementary schools. Such traffic safety education as has been undertaken, he said, has saved the lives of more than 78,000 children in the last 16 years.

"Fatalities to children of school age and under decreased 16 per cent between 1922 and 1938," Whitney said. "The situation is far different among persons of high school age and over, where a corresponding increase of 160 per cent in fatalities has taken place."

Whitney placed part of the blame on states that have failed to adopt stringent driver regulations.

"The automobile is potentially more dangerous to the public than other forms of transportation,'" he said, "but no state has made thorogoing provisions for driving instruction, and some states do not even require a driver's license."

PLANS TO FIGHT $1 FINE DESPITE COST OF APPEAL

When Gus Alex, 4710 Madison street, was fined $1 by Judge Jay A. Schiller in Felony court yesterday he announced he would appeal the case, even if it costs him several hundred dollars. Alex was found guilty of driving an automobile bearing a dealer's license plates. Half a dozen other charges against him, including one of manslaughter, were dismissed.

Alex was seized last Feb. 22 with Joseph Vinci, a politician who figured in the 11th ward vote fraud jury fixing scandal, when they were found standing near an automobile that resembled another machine believed to have struck and fatally injured Adam Zabielski, 65, of 5256 South Kenneth avenue. They were exonerated, however, by a coroner's jury. Alex proved the car he was using had been borrowed from an auto dealer while he awaited delivery of a new model.

City Accuses Two Dairies of Milk Law Violations

The city board of health, in a letter to the state health department, accused two milk companies yesterday of violating state milk regulations. Sidney Wanzer & Sons was accused of selling homogenized milk in which the butter fat content at the top and bottom of the bottle varied more than regulations permit. Dairy Specialties, Inc., was accused of selling milk in which the butter fat content was lower than was stamped on the bottle cap.

MRS. MARGARET AHLGREN.

Two husky bailiffs waited in the corridor yesterday while Mrs. Margaret Ahlgren, 19 years old, was telling Judge Cornelius J. Harrington about Stanley Ahlgren. Her attorney, Clarence F. Martin, had requested them. Martin told the court that Ahlgren had telephoned Mrs. Ahlgren to say he would be in court with a gun to shoot her in case she appeared to complain against him. He didn't come, tho.

Mrs. Ahlgren testified that her husband, an automobile mechanic living at 4744 Gladys avenue, had beaten her twice. The judge granted her a divorce and ordered Ahlgren to pay her $5 a week for support of their children, William, 2, and Nancy, 1, with whom Mrs. Ahlgren lives at 1522 East 69th street.

CROWDS FLOCK TO GAZE AT NEW ORANGS AT ZOO

Sunny weather yesterday brought an increase in the size of the crowds that visited the Lincoln park zoo for an inspection of the two young orangutans from Sumatra that arrived Tuesday.

Floyd S. Young, director of the zoo, said the newcomers, a male and female who have not yet been named, are settling into their routine. Their health, he said, is good and their appetites excellent. Seemingly they enjoy the attention given them by spectators.

The animals are a male, 4 years old, and a female, 2. They left Sumatra early in January and made the last lap of the journey — from Camden, N. J., to Chicago—in an airplane furnished by THE TRIBUNE. The small animal house in which they are exhibited is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

ACCORD REACHED ON VIADUCT OVER LA GRANGE ROAD

The Illinois Commerce commission approved an agreement yesterday for financing construction of a new $500,000 La Grange road viaduct over the tracks of the Milwaukee road in Franklin Park The agreement, arranged by the railroad and the state highway department, provides that the railroad pay up to $100,000 of the cost and the highway department the rest.

William W. Hart, chairman of the commission, said this action paves the way for starting construction. It will be a concrete and steel structure half a mile long, with four traffic lanes, and sidewalks on each side. It will replace an old wooden bridge 20 feet wide and two blocks long.

CARELESS DRIVER BLAMED IN MOST AUTO FATALITIES

An analysis of automobile accidents in Chicago during the first three months of this year indicates that driver "inattentiveness'" was the chief cause of fatalities, George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee, said yesterday. Fleming said that 117 deaths were caused by carelessness and failure of drivers to concentrate on driving.

Skidding, disregard of traffic signals, failure to stop at thru street signals, or striking safety zones were the other major causes of motor deaths, the study showed. Of the 163 persons killed in Chicago during the first quarter, 116 were pedestrians, the analysis disclosed.

Charles H. Lundgren, 60 years old, 2449 Warner avenue, died in Martha Washington hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Wednesday when, according to police, he walked into the side of an automobile at Berteau and Western avenue. James M. Bower, 7737 Eastlake terrace, was the driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 272 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, of which 205 were in Chicago. During the same period 6,416 persons were injured in the city.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN STREET.

A man about 60 years old died of a heart attack yesterday in front of 4656 South Paulina street. He was found by Roman Grosser, 16, of 4637 Paulina street. Police were attempting to identify him.

Drunk Driver Gets 10 Days, Loses License Two Months

Morris Miller, 2231 Jackson boulevard, was found guilty yesterday of driving while intoxicated and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. His driver's license was suspended for 60 days. Judge Frank M. Padden sentenced him in Safety court. Miller was arrested Wednesday at Pulaski road and Kinzie street.

GOOD FAITH IN JUNE; VICTORY IN NOVEMBER.

The official tabulation of the Republican primary results in Illinois is not yet completed for the state as a whole, but on the basis of complete returns from Cook county and about 75 per cent of the downstate vote fairly close estimates can be arrived at.

The total Republican vote in the state was probably more than 1,100,000. In the contest for governor something like 1,050,000 Republican votes appear to have been cast; in the contest for senator, somewhat fewer.

Thomas E. Dewey, running without opposition, obtained close to a million votes in the presidential preference primary, about 85 per cent of the total. This may be taken as conclusive evidence that he is an acceptable candidate to the overwhelming majority of Republicans in Illinois and it establishes a presumption that he is the preferred candidate of the party in this state.

The results of the primary should be borne in mind by the Illinois delegation at the Philadelphia convention. It would be unwise, if the state is to be carried by the Republicans in the autumn, to ignore the indication of sentiment given on April 9 when Mr. Dewey polled something like 40 per cent more votes than any other candidate on the ticket.

If other delegations in the convention obtain a majority for some one else, well and good. Likewise, if Mr. Dewey's nomination after a number of ballots appears improbable and the Illinois delegates then want to play a real part in the selection of the nominee, well and good. But the Illinois delegation will discredit itself and injure the party's chances in November if it disregards the result of the preferential primary almost from the start.

Mr. Dewey has earned the whole-hearted support of the Illinois delegates. If they hope to elect the Republican state and county tickets in November and to carry the state for the national ticket, they must avoid any and every temptation to betray their trust.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S DATE WITH DESTINY.

Mr. Roosevelt, in Warm Springs, Ga., told reporters that he will take a three week trip in June if congress adjourns and if the war doesn't require his presence in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt seldom dismisses the possibility that the war is going to require something of him. If he goes traveling, he will route himself thru the south and southwest to the west coast and up north, possibly to Alaska, and back thru the middle west. The reporters observed that he would be touring while the Republican national convention was being held and he thought he might be deep in a national park at that time. Does he expect the first page to follow him there and ignore the gathering in Philadelphia?

Another observation might be that Mr. Roosevelt would be visiting numerous communities a few weeks before the Democratic national convention opened in Chicago. His cavalcade might expect to receive the acclaim of the people at frequent stops, and altho Mr. Roosevelt said he planned no speeches on political subjects the trip would be timed for political effect.

For whatever purposes he has in mind, Mr. Roosevelt is keeping the third term to the front as a threat or a promise. He does everything that a determined candidate would do. His discouragement immediately hits any show of ambition elsewhere. No other Democrat has received a friendly nod to indicate that he might aspire or would be good enough for the succession. Some of the aspirants have received rough treatment and the humbler New Dealers who are singing for their supper and shouting for the third term pounce upon any other man who is mentioned for the nomination and dust his jacket.

Mr. Roosevelt intends to have the delegates stepping about at his command. Whatever use he proposes to make of the convention, he intends to have July, 1940, set apart as the high spot in his career. It will be something glamorous even if he should put aside the crown. He is now engaged in the buildup.

THE FAVORED FEW.

Seven hundred families have been ordered to move out of the various government housing projects in Chicago to make way for families of somewhat lower income. The rule is that the income of the government tenants may not exceed five times the rent paid. Some families are being evicted, it is explained, because the rents have been cut and their incomes have not declined in proportion; others must go because they are earning more than they did when they were accepted as tenants.

For much the most part, the government's tenants are not the very poor. Their incomes are, in the main, only slightly if at all below the average for the community and some of them are above the average. That was true of the ousted tenants and it is only less true of those who will replace them. Nevertheless, they are given new and well equipped apartments at a figure materially below cost.

The housing projects pay substantially no local taxes. In lieu of the half million dollars of taxes which these properties would be forced to contribute each year if they were privately owned, the projects pay something like $40,000 a year as a fee for such municipal services as garbage collection. Everybody else in Chicago who pays rent has a husky tax bill included in his monthly rent bill, whether he knows it or not. The bills of the few who live in the government projects are not charged with the costs of running the schools, the parks, the county hospital, the sewage disposal plants, etc., etc. The tenants are by no means destitute, yet they receive this half million dollar annual subsidy from the local government and another subsidy from the federal government which, in effect, frees them from the necessity of paying interest on the money invested in the land and buildings they occupy.

A few thousand families are thus favored. Tens of thousands of other families in substantially the same economic condition are not favored and actually pay higher taxes because of the gratuity given the government's tenants. They have been getting something for nothing and they have no cause for complaint when it is taken from them and given to some one else.

Those who do deserve sympathy are the tens of thousands of families which go along, year after year, paying for what they get, without asking any handouts from others no better off than they.

FREE SPEECH IN LABOR DISPUTES.

The Supreme court has declared invalid an Alabama statute directed against picketing in labor disputes and an ordinance of Shasta county, California, to the same effect. The court divided, 8 to 1. The opinion, prepared by Mr. Justice Murphy, held that picketing was protected by the first amendment to the constitution which guarantees freedom of speech and of the press. The dissemination of information concerning a labor dispute, the court held, must be regarded as within the area of free discussion and therefore cannot be denied by state or federal legislation.

"The freedom of speech and of the press guaranteed by the constitution embraces at least the liberty to discuss publicly and truthfully all matters of public concern without previous restraint or fear of subsequent punishment," the court said.

It is to be hoped that this declaration of principle will be borne in mind if the court gives consideration to the cases of certain employers whose right to express their views in speech and in print has been challenged by the labor board. Henry Ford was told that it was an unfair labor practice to circularize his employés with pamphlets which intimated, among other things, that there was another side to the question of unionization which they might well heed before accepting the statements of the organizers at face value. Some employers have been held to account by the board for speeches to their employés and in still other cases the publication of newspaper editorials and articles has been declared in violation of the Wagner act.

Needless to say, the same constitutional guarantees which have been held to cover union picketing protect employers in communication with their employés. If Alabama may not forbid picketing because to do so violates free speech and the freedom of the press, neither can congress, thru the Wagner act or any other statute, forbid an employer to address his staff.

WHY YACHTS ARE CHEAP.

Fifteen American yachts have recently been transferred to Canadian registry, the presumption being that the Canadian government will use them for naval patrol service. The craft already sold brought about 5 cents on the dollar of their building costs and there will be plenty of similar bargains around the yacht clubs whenever the Canadians want them.

The American crews of the yachts may well regard the sales with dismay. Every sale means one less yacht owner and jobs for one less crew. The owners who sold have learned their lesson. They will not be buying new craft. High taxes and minimum crew laws have made yacht owning impossible for even the moderately rich. Only a few of the fabulously rich, such as President Roosevelt's frequent host, Vincent Astor, and his minister to Canada with the Duke fortune, can afford the taxes and operating cost of a real seagoing yacht.

WHAT THE AIR INDUSTRY FEARS.

[Kansas City Times.]

After Senator Bronson Cutting and four others were killed in a passenger plane crash in northern Missouri in May, 1935, the government found that the bureau of air commerce was "investigating" its own personnel and actions. Instead of trying to discover the causes of the accident and fix the blame, an attempt was being made to whitewash the organization.

The scandal which resulted from this discovery brought about the act organizing the civil aeronautics authority as an autonomous unit, with the air safety board as an investigation and air education organization, with the power to investigate accidents and make reports with no reference to the board authority.

Since then the CAA and air safety board have had a short but remarkably efficient history. They have operated with a minimum of political interference, and the splendid record of safety set by the air passenger lines can in large part be credited to the rules and supervision of these two units.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why the President's reorganization plan is viewed with apprehension by the air industry. The reorganization plan No. 4 would place the CAA as a bureau under the department of commerce, and would abolish the air safety board, turning over its functions to the new bureau.

The air industry has had a bitter experience with political control. The period when the air lines were controled by the postoffice department and the factories by the bureau of air commerce is remembered as the period when the air lines lost money and the air factories were hampered almost beyond endurance.

It is self-evident that the air industry dares make no open fight against the administration plan By doing so it would invite reprisals, and the New Deal has demonstrated in the past that it can use reprisals—such as cancelation of air mail contracts—most effectively to punish opposition. But it is an open secret that the air industry and all interested in it are deeply concerned by the prospect of the abolishment of a control which has demonstrated its ability to remain to practical purposes aloof from politics.

UNNECESSARY WARNING.

The dinner guest's nose was exceptionally large, and father had noticed Willie staring at it. Expecting the boy to make some frank and outspoken comment, he gave him a disapproving glance.

"That's all right, Dad," came the reassuring response. "I'm not going to say anything. I'm just looking at it."—Minneapolis Journal.

MR. PEPYS IS DEPRESSED.

26th April—Being in a low frame of mind, what with people wanting me to be funny every day at 2 cents a copy, I did go out and buy myself a new book of jokes called "Thesaurus of Humor." Having glanced at a few pages I am now lower than ever, and I think I must hide this book under the bed or behind the dictionary where no visitors to my rooms can see it, for they would surely say, "Mr. Pepys must be slipping."

This book is, according to the saying of the day, simply terrific. Its jokes are the things clownish mummers speak in loud voices to get laughs without amusing people, and verily I believe the contents of every low comedian's trunk for the last 40 years have been dumped into it. I can smell musty theaters and stale dressing rooms in these jokes, and hear managers shouting that the show needs belly laughs, and slapstick buffoons saying, "I know a good gag to stick in here." And I can see the author of the play looking pale and sick.

Now I have been going to the theater, man and boy, for 45 years come St. Hubert's day, and all the while jokes like these have been bouncing off my breastplate without denting it and when others laughed at them Mr. Pepys' frozen face never cracked, for there is no whimsy of the mind in these hard, blunt sayings. They are hammered out the way a blacksmith makes nails. Verily, I believe that old Joe Miller's ancient book of comic tales contains more natural humor than this tome of 5,640 smidgins of hokum for use on Broadway and in Hollywood.

And so to bed, but not before consulting this Thesaurus for a joke on sleeping, and finding:

APRIL ENCHANTMENT.

April has a rendezvous,
Place she knows and hour;
Thru the veiling rain she slips,
Maiden shy or flower.

April walks thru willow trees
Her white feet to wet
Where old Hickory chafes the stones
His swift waters fret.

Hickory Creek and April meet
At the stepping stone;
Gazing downward, April sees
Her fair face alone.

Silvery wand among the willows,
Half bemused and half afraid;
Close she leans above her mirror,
Willow tree or maid.

Broadway Becomes Classical.

If you are puzzled over the Broadway usage of "Calypso" as a designation of certain topical patter-songs, generally satirical and obscene, read this definition in Bernard Sobel's "Theater Handbook":

"Calypso: A somewhat synthetic folksong of the natives and adventuring loiterers of Trinidad. The subject matter ranges from effective political satire to outright pornography. The name may have taken its origin from Calypso, the muse, as the makers of these songs affect a pseudo-classicism in titles. A primitive form of dramatic recital."

[Calypso was not a muse, but the nymph of Ogygia, where Odysseus was shipwrecked.]

Petey, the proud father of four strapping boys, has the quiet and dry humor that goes with his Hibernian ancestry. C. O. R.

"BOTTOM, THOU ART TRANSLATED!"

(After re-reading "A Midsummer Night's Dream.")

How far, incredibly, a cry it is
From sweetly wooded Athens, and the Dream
That shall forever make men's hearts rejoice
And gracious Helen's charm, Titania's grace,
And each "mechanical's" dull, clownish face. . . .
Yet o'er the ocean hear we not a bray?

The Lure of Printer's Ink.

Please tell your friend Quizzicuss [April 22] that there are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamt of in his "philosophy." It's the taste of printer's ink that makes a contributor-addict, and the mere sight of it that makes thousands of others want to "cook something up." Read to him again those words of the immortal Bard:

> ". . . he hath not drunk ink: his intellect > is not replenished; he is only an animal, > only sensible in the duller parts."

Tell him, too, the old saying of newspaper men [and a true one] that "Once printer's ink gets on your fingers it will never come off."

The Dixie Flyer and Dixie Limited of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway often serves hog jowl, turnip greens, boiled potatoes, and corn hoe cakes as a "special" in its dining cars. See accompanying menu. Charles Barham.

[But William P. Welsh, the artist, of Lexington, Ky., and Chicago, says that the dish does not have full southern authority unless it offers kale greens.]

WHEN GLUTTONY WAS IN FLOWER.

IN these days of rather well controled appetites—we may wonder at the gastronomic abilities of our forebears. A Roman feast would last for days, the guests reclining at the table. When surfeited, a feather or a finger thrust down the throat would empty the stomach, whereupon they were ready to begin all over again.

Apparently Samuel Pepys was a famous trencherman, for he lists his typical dinner menu as including: "A dish of marrow-bones, a leg of mutton, a loin of veal, three pullets, two dozen larks, a great tart, a neat's tongue, anchovies, prawns, and some cheese."

Even in early colonial days "good feeding" was indicative of physical prowess and a French visitor to a Virginia home describes a "simple" luncheon of: "Corned beef, stewed goose, and leg of mutton; with vegetables of every kind—all washed down with generous libations of hard cider." Occasionally ye olden records will point to the rather frequent occurrence of gastritis or peptic ulcers—with the statement that huge portions of ginger, red pepper, nutmeg, and cloves were consumed before and during each repast.

Charles V. was said to have been a glutton. A contemporary historian relates that he breakfasted at 5 a. m. on an entire "foul" stewed in milk. Dinner was served at noon—with at least twenty dishes. He took two suppers—one at 5 p. m. and one at midnight. A consistent sufferer from gout and indigestion, he insisted upon a gormandizing bout for all visiting nobles.

Apparently meats played an important rôle in all "brave" feasts. Herbert Spencer, however, followed vegetarianism for several months. Finally convinced that he had made a serious mistake, he changed his habits and always regarded his literary productions during this period as lacking in spirit. In a letter to a friend, he remarked, "I found that I had to rewrite what I had done during the time I was a vegetarian, because it was so wanting in vigor."

Samuel Johnson, the great dictionary maker and literary arbiter of England during the 18th century, basked in the delights of the table and was never so happy as when—with a group of his boon companions—he could spend the evening partaking of tasty fare.

It is related that Napoleon was erratic in his routine—voracious at times, abstemious at others. As one author put it, "He frequently stupefied himself with food." Queen Elizabeth is believed to have begun her day with enormous helpings of mutton stew, beef, veal, and chicken.

The inhabitants of ancient Athens were relatively conservative. They breakfasted on cooked barley or a wheat roll dipped in wine. Luncheon consisted usually of fish or a single meat dish and bread. The evening meal—the largest—was made up of lettuce, spinach, cabbage, beans, salt fish or meat, olives, figs, and grapes. This regimen is similar to that of the fighting races of India, particularly the Himalayan tribes, who represent the most physically perfect of the Hindus. They live on milk and milk products, eggs, leafy vegetables, fruits, and meats [goat's flesh, mutton, and game]. Their bread is made from unrefined flour. Unlimited quantities of vegetables are always at hand. Many maladies—such as appendicitis, peptic ulcer, gall bladder diseases, etc.—are unknown or extremely rare.

In modern times we have settled down to a more rational program—in so far as volume is concerned. But we still follow the Grecian custom of dispatching three "squares" a day. For most of us—if the total requirements were divided into four parts and taken at regularly spaced intervals—we would insure better absorption and less wear and tear on the digestive system as a whole.

Unfortunately, appetite has no ears, hence it cannot be scolded. Nevertheless, most of us know instinctively when we have had enough. "Rise from the table with a craving a little below satisfaction" is the rule laid down by that old British physician-poet, Armstrong. Another dictum is "Take plenty of time." This makes for better mastication, more thoro mixing of particles with saliva, and, therefore, more complete solution by the gastric juice. If overnutrition results it is because of our own inattention to the needs of the body.

LOST SLEEP LOST.

W. T. J. writes: How much sleep is necessary for a child? Am I correct in saying that after a large amount of sleep has been lost it is impossible to make up for it? My 13 year old daughter seems to think it is not necessary to get sufficient sleep each night.

REPLY.

Strictly speaking, sleep—once lost—cannot be made up. It is like a minute that is gone—it cannot be recalled. On the other hand, fatigue may call for more sleep than is secured ordinarily. The reason we doze longer after a period of wakefulness is because it takes more repose to recharge the batteries. Nature has a way of obliging us to rest whether we will or not. The expression "dead on my feet" typifies a slowing down of all functions. A 13 year old girl should have 9 to 10 hours of slumber in each 24.

LIKE FATHER, ETC.

Mrs. M. writes: Mrs. B's little boy has thin legs and she says nothing can be done to help him as he inherits these from his father. I claim that cod liver oil and orange juice will help to develop him. Isn't this possible?

REPLY.

Yes. By all means he should have cod liver oil and orange juice. Good nutrition is the answer.

THE ISH RESOLUTION.

Oak Park, Ill., April 22.—I think that "Daily Reader" has put his finger on something very vital in his article in the Voice of the People on April 22. Every one I know and converse with is very much opposed to our country's entering the war, but there seems to be a general discouraged feeling of "What can we do about it?" Surely if we are a republic there must be some way for the people to express their wishes and have them carried out.

There is a bill introduced by Hamilton Fish in the house of representatives at the present time which calls for a referendum of the people before our soldiers can be sent out of this country to fight on foreign soil. It is an improvement on the Ludlow amendment because it does allow for the declaration of war without a referendum if this country is invaded.

This bill, however, is in committee at the present time and is likely to remain there unless there is a strong demand that it be brought out and discussed.

Let us not become involved in situations in Asia or in Europe which are no concern of ours, and in which we are merely protecting the interests of other countries. These countries thank us by taking further advantage of us. Let us keep our country out of war! Let us follow the advice of "Daily Reader" and protest, protest, and protest!

MORE DEATHS AT MANTENO.

Chicago, April 23.—The editorial, "More Deaths at Manteno," hints that poor administration by the party in power is to blame for the typhoid outbreak. This is far fetched inasmuch as the former managing officer was a holdover from the Republican party and he has had ample funds at his disposal for proper administration. The New Dealers may be wrong in every action taken so far, but no fair-minded person could blame the entire Democratic party for bad water, in one small section of the state of Illinois, nor for typhoid carriers who have become inmates of this institution. But perhaps these inmates were Republicans, driven insane over the outcome of the last election. J. B.

THE FOUNDING OF LAKE VIEW.

Chicago, April 17.—I would like to contest Mr. Frederick J. Bertram's statement in this column, April 16, that the North Division High school was the first high school to be opened for the north side of Chicago.

According to records of the Ravenswood-Lake View Historical association with headquarters at the Frederick H. Hild Regional Branch library, 4544 Lincoln avenue, Lake View High school has this distinction. It was organized in 1873 and opened to the public April 29, 1874.

I quote from the first annual report of the trustees of the Lake View High school [for the year ending June 25, 1875]: "On the first day of September, 1873, the first blow was struck towards the erection of a high school building in the town of Lake View; and on the evening of April 29, 1874, the building was opened for the first time to the public, and appropriate dedicatory exercises held in the same, and on the 4th day of May following, the school was formally organized."

From the "History of Lake View High school," written by Dr. A. F. Nightingale, the first principal of the school, and published in the Red and White [school periodical] of 1910: "In 1872 some of these men of action induced the state legislature to enact a law, permitting the establishment of township high schools which were to be maintained by a tax levy and issuance of bonds on the assessed valuation of the whole township. The Lake View High school was the first one in the state to be established under this statute. It has, therefore, the proud distinction of being the pioneer among 300 now maintained in Illinois."

Many of the early school programs are in the historical collection, including one for November 17, 1874, and one for June 24, 1875 The association can furnish additional proof if desired.

THE BAND CONTEST.

Chicago, April 22.—In reference to the many complaints regarding the high school band contest and its one man judge, I as a bandmaster of one of the high schools in the city, and incidentally, one of the participants in the contest who came out with a low mark, wish to say that no bandmaster has cause for criticizing either the judge, or the one man jury.

The one man jury was agreed upon by the bandmasters themselves, and while we did not select Mr. Pryor we did vote for a certain number of names from which Mr. Pryor's was selected.

It is poor sportsmanship to complain now. BANDMASTER.

CAPT. LOSEY'S DEATH.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 23.—Capt. Losey's death was most unfortunate and tragic, but the inference contained in all the news reports that his was the first American death in the European war is much more tragic and unfortunate. Is our involvement in this war so cut and dried that we are to understand that he is merely the first to die? That war is not our business and Capt. Losey's death should not be reported as the first death, but the only one. G. W. HOGAN.

PATENT.

Western Springs, Ill., April 24 [Legal Friend of the People].—I inclose a self-addressed envelope and would very much appreciate any information you can give me on the best way to go about applying for a patent.

1. Is it necessary to obtain legal advice?

When a patent is applied for [2] how long does it take to know whether the patent is original?

When application is made [3] is it possible to go ahead and manufacture the product at once on the assumption that it is original?

4. If this is true then will there be any proof of any kind to show that application for a patent has been made? G. B.

1. Legal advice is desirable but not required by statute.

2. Depends on the difficulty of the examination in the patent office and on other facts that are not before us.

3. Yes, if you are willing to take a chance on the possibility that you may be infringing on valid patents, and on the possibility that rivals may claim priority thru interference proceedings. In general, you should employ an attorney for the proceedings, and the attorney so employed would be in a better position to advise you than we are.

4. After applying for the patent, you can mark your articles "Patent Applied For," if that is what you mean to ask.

BUILDING REPAIRS.

Chicago, April 25 [Friend of the People].—We have a building in our block in a terrible condition. It is an eyesore to every one that passes by. The basement is beyond use and is very unsanitary. The water supply is a homemade affair. The back porches are in terrible shape. An investigation would find all this to be true. This place had been condemned by the fire department and reported to the health department about two years ago, but nothing has been done. This is true, as the fire inspector used our phone and made the report. Cannot something be done in regard to this house where others try to keep their property looking right.

Every landlord around here is complaining. Would appreciate anything you can do. I have lived next door to this house for the last 18 years and it seems to be getting worse. The landlord does not live on the premises. M. R.

The owner of the above mentioned premises has been notified to make all necessary repairs, or wreck said building.

If this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

BUILD FLOOD EXIT FOR UNDER RIVER SUBWAY DIGGERS

Make Old Freight Tunnel Emergency Outlet.

Construction of a special emergency exit to protect the lives of workers when they dig the under-river section of the subway at Lake street is nearing completion, Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, said yesterday.

Harrington explained that the exit, which will connect with the old Chicago freight tunnel, will enable workers to make a quick getaway in case an accident causes water from the river 15 feet overhead to flood the subway tube.

"We don't expect any trouble," Harrington said, "but we are building this exit as a building owner builds a fire escape—in case the unexpected happens."

Diggers Near River Bank.

This subway section will extend from Milwaukee avenue to Lake street and will pass under the river beneath the Lake street bridge. Workers are now digging at a point less than 100 feet from the west bank of the river and will be tunneling beneath the river itself in a few days.

Subway engineers said the job was complicated by a clump of old wooden piles imbedded in the clay beneath the river. The piles formerly supported the center pier of a swing bridge that was torn down in 1916.

If one of these piles should be dislodged when part of it is sawed off by tunnel workers, water from the river might break thru the resulting hole and surge into the tunnel, engineers said. In this case workers would have to run for their lives before water filled the tunnel. Altho the regular exit shaft is in Milwaukee avenue more than a quarter mile to the northwest, the workers would not have to run that far. Two intermediate safeguards have been provided. The first is a heavily reinforced concrete bulkhead two feet thick which has been built in the tunnel 150 feet west of the river bank and which contains a watertight steel door which can be shut in an emergency. Workers fleeing an inrush of water would be safe if they could run thru this bulkhead and swing the door shut.

Exit Is Second Safeguard.

If the force of the water prevented them from closing the door, however, the workers could retreat 350 feet more to their second safeguard—the emergency exit leading upward by means of a ladder from the subway to an abandoned part of the old freight tunnel under Lake street and Milwaukee avenue. This section of the freight tunnel is sealed airtight and is under compressed air pressure like the subway tunnel itself.

On either side of the emergency exit ladder "curtain bulkheads" are being built in the subway tunnel. They extend half way down to the floor of the tunnel. This means they are about 8 feet off the floor. The purpose of these two timber-and-asphalt "curtains," six inches thick and watertight, is to trap air between them. Thus, if water filled the tunnel the pressure of the air impounded between the two "curtain bulkheads" would be sufficient to prevent the water from creeping up into the space between them. This would make the top segment of the tunnel between the bulkheads into an air pocket in which the fleeing workmen could take refuge and then climb the ladder into the freight tunnel without being drowned.

Water Tumbler Principle.

The principle is the same as that evidenced when an ordinary drinking glass is submerged upside down in water. The inside of the glass remains dry because the air holds the water out.

Once in the old freight tunnel the fleeing subway workers would pass thru an "air lock" that has been built in the tunnel under Lake street just west of Milwaukee avenue. Just outside the outer door of this lock there will be an emergency telephone to the freight tunnel company's office.

OFFICIALS FIND CITY AND COUNTY FREE OF MAJOR FIRE PERILS

Chicago and Cook county buildings have no such fire hazard as that which caused 196 deaths Tuesday night in a dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss., according to city, county, and state officials.

The officials met yesterday on the call of Coroner A. L. Brodie. Among those present were Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board; John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police; Robert Knight, chief deputy building commissioner; Earl R. Downes, assistant corporation counsel; Joseph J. Graham, division chief of the fire department; John Plant, an inspector for the fire department; Robert Kingery of the Regional Planning association; Lester Laird, chief of the county highway police, and Frank Doherty, chief deputy state fire marshal.

Public buildings here, they said, are safer than private homes. Sufficient exits and regulations for inflammable decorations, the officials said, safeguard the public.

HOUSING BOARD TO HEAR OUSTER PLEA OF TENANTS

O. W. Rosenthal, chairman of the Illinois State Housing board, said yesterday the board will investigate the proposed ouster of 600 to 700 families now living in the Jane Addams, Julia C. Lathrop, and Trumbull park projects in Chicago.

Charles Lauer, chairman of the newly formed Coöperative Housing Society of Julia Lathrop tenants, said the 370 members of the Chicago Coöperative Housing society have "nothing to do with the committee fighting the decision of the Chicago Housing authority [operator of the projects] to move out 600 tenants."

Morgan Fitch, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said those to be evicted earn between $1,500 and $2,000 a year, and "do not need public subsidized housing."

FALLING STEEL PLATE KILLS A SUBWAY WORKER

A subway worker was crushed to death and another was injured yesterday morning when a 1,750 pound piece of steel tunnel lining slipped from a crane and struck them as it was being lifted into place in the roof of the subway tube. The steel plate fell about 25 feet. The accident occurred in the tunnel under State street, just south of Van Buren street.

Joseph B. Gardner, 24 years old, 5006 Drexel boulevard, foreman of the bolting crew, was the man killed. Barney Davitto, 36, of 1148 Milwaukee avenue, a laborer, suffered an injury to his left shoulder and arm.

ALD. ROSS DENIES COUNCIL HINDERS BOARD OF HEALTH

Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], chairman of the city council's health committee, told members of the board of health yesterday that they were mistaken in complaining that the city council was delaying action on health board matters.

Ald. Joseph C. Ross.

Ross referred to objections by the board to a recent council resolution directing that all changes in health regulations should be published in the council journal 10 days before they became effective. The resolution also specified that such changes could be referred to Ross' committee for examination at the request of two aldermen.

"I think the resolution was illegal, but the aldermen passed it because they felt they had a right to know what is going on," Ross said. "Anyway, under city ordinances the board of health retains full power to act in case of an emergency."

WEDDING BELLS RING 4TH TIME IN 'PHOBIC PRISON'

Madison, Wis., April 25 (AP).—Charlotte Charlton Gill, who obtained release thru divorce in 1934 after sharing Prof. William Leonard's "phobic prison" for 20 years, has reëntered it. She and the University of Wisconsin poet were married yesterday by the Rev. George L. Collins, Baptist student pastor.

It was the fourth marriage for the 64 year old English professor whose eccentricities frequently have attracted public notice since he became a member of the faculty in 1906.

Thruout his years he has limited his activities to a small area surrounding the Wisconsin campus. In "The Locomotive God," his autobiagraphy published in 1927, Leonard attributed his reluctance to go afield to a scare by a railroad locomotive he suffered when he was a boy.

His first marriage was in 1907 to Charlotte Freeman. She died four years later, recorded as suicide. He married Charlotte Charlton in 1914. They were divorced in 1934. She subsequently married Charles A. Gill, whose death in 1938, also was recorded as suicide. In 1935 Leonard married Grace Golden, a student in one of his classes. She won a divorce in 1937.

53 'JOBS' DONE BY MURDER, INC., OFFICIALS TOLD

New York, April 25 (AP).—A new high total of 53 gang slayings, carried out on streamlined modern business methods, was charged today by District Attorney William O'Dwyer's office to the Brooklyn killers-for-hire syndicate, known as Murder, Inc.

Abe [Kid Twist] Reles, 34 year old alleged ringleader of the slaughter combine, was described as having given details of 18 new underworld killings, in addition to 34 already listed.

Reles, under indictment for first degree murder in the slaying of Alex [Red] Alpert, a small time Brooklyn hoodlum, in 1933, has talked freely for three weeks to O'Dwyer's men, the latter assert.

O'Dwyer's office disclosed that the syndicate, headed by a still unidentified "master mind," held executive meetings to discuss "whether the prospective victim should be stabbed, shot, strangled, or bludgeoned and beaten to death. Then they appointed an expert in the particular line selected.

DECLARES STAMP FLOOD INVITES COUNTERFEITING

Collector Says Farley Has Too Many Issues.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 25 [Special].—Capt. Addison C. Townsend, U. S. A., retired, nationally famous stamp collector, warned today that the issuance of so many varieties of commemorative stamps by Postmaster General James A. Farley may be an invitation to counterfeiters to sneak spurious copies on the market. During the world war, Capt. Townsend was in charge of sending mail from this country to American soldiers in France.

Farley already has printed 21 varieties of commemoratives this year and at least 16 more are scheduled to appear, which brings to 122 the number of this type of stamp issued in the eight years of the New Deal. From 1893—when the first commemorative was offered—until 1932, only 107 varieties were brought out.

"It is difficult to counterfeit United States stamps," Capt. Townsend said, "because of the excellent line engraving process used by the government. But with so many commemorative issues pouring into the market, there arises a definite temptation for counterfeiters.

Can't Keep Up with Issues.

"The general public and probably even some postal employés can't keep up with these new issues. There are so many commemoratives that these people can't be familiar with the details of each one. That would give the counterfeiters their chance, and they might get some bogus stamps into circulation before they were caught.

"Stamp collectors, of course, are always on the alert and probably would be the first ones to discover counterfeits."

Capt. Townsend is 70 years old and has been collecting stamps since 1886, specializing in United States issues. He was a resident of Chicago for many years, moving to Oklahoma City a year ago. He frequently displays panels of his rare stamps at philatelic exhibitions.

Trying to Make Up Deficit.

"I started collecting stamps seven years before the first United States commemoratives were issued," Capt. Townsend said. "I've kept up with the varieties, but now I'm being run ragged by the flood of commemoratives Farley is throwing on the market. He is trying to make up the postoffice deficit by victimizing philatelists.

"He's overdoing a good thing. There are about 10 million stamp collectors in the country and about two million of them are actively engaged in getting all new issues. But they can't keep up the pace."

A COUNTERFEIT GANG.

Philatelic authorities in Chicago told yesterday of past efforts of counterfeiters to invade the stamp market.

In 1895, a gang of counterfeiters on the west side made a zinc etching of the current 2 cent stamp and ran off several hundred thousand copies on a hand press. The copies were only crude imitations, the plot was quickly discovered by stamp collectors and the counterfeiters were seized.

In 1935, a counterfeiting job was tried on the 2 cent red Washington stamp, which had been in circulation since 1922. A lithography process was used. These fakes also were poor, being blurred in detail. The counterfeits were detected when the plotters tried to sell quantities of the stamps at discounts below face value in New York City.

Involved False Printing.

Another counterfeiting, which involved false overprinting on genuine stamps, was uncovered in 1931. In 1928, the government overprinted the legend "Hawaii, 1778-1928" on the ordinary 2 cent and 5 cent stamps to honor the island anniversary. Comparatively few of these overprints were issued and they became collectors' items.

Counterfeiters attempted to enhance the philatelic value of quantities of ordinary 2 cent and 5 cent stamps by a false overprinting. The fraud was discovered by collectors.

PROCOMMUNIST VIEW REVERSED BY METHODISTS

Called Useless as Guide to New Order.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., April 25.—The council of bishops of the Methodist church today presented its episcopal message to the eight million members of that church at the opening of the first general conference of reunited American Methodism. There are 776 delegates present.

The message, read by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York, was described by delegates as being perhaps the most theological official document in American Methodism's annals. But the theological principles announced were applied to such problems of the day as education, temperance, church unity, world peace, and opposition to statism, communism and to the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

Dies to Speak Saturday.

Bishop McConnell, one time head of the Methodist League for Social Service, which voted several years ago at Evanston to link up with communism, today read in the bishops' message that communism, by its recent self-contradictory acts, has become worthless as a guide to a new order. Rep. Martin Dies [Dem., Tex.] chairman of the congressional investigation of un-American activities, will address the general conference Saturday.

Methodist members of the League for Peace and Democracy, which the Dies committee has exposed, are promising to make a fight against Dies' appearance on the program. The league was headed by Dr. Harry F. Ward, a Methodist minister in Bishop McConnell's area. Ward led the Evanston Social Service league meeting which voted to tie up with communism.

Oppose Catholic Union.

Concerning church unity, the message said no impossible hurdles stand in the way of a church unity which would permit Protestant Christianity to speak out with one voice concerning world situations, adding that "there is no use of talking union with the Roman Catholic church which . . . does not abate her claim to totalitarian authority over all aspects of human life."

"Recent events reveal anew the Catholic church's purpose to press to the utmost even the most doubtful diplomatic advantage, especially in her relation to the United States. We are ready to join with the Roman Catholic church and with all other religious or secular organizations to promote world peace.

"But we do deplore and must firmly resist any union of church and state and area and will be unalterably opposed to the establishment of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the United States."

Protestants Taunted.

The message asked the conference to accept its invitation to join the World Council of Churches, and taunted those Protestant churches "which carry the individualism of Protestantism out to its logical conclusions" and remain unwilling to surrender any point to centralized control. This was interpreted by delegates to refer principally to American Baptist groups.

Pointing to what it called a trend in public sentiment to the return of prohibition, the message called for the church to lead an educational campaign which ultimately will lead a majority of American voters to demand effective prohibition.

The small church related college was described in the message as no longer the subject of sneering; that these institutions are doing quality jobs in under graduate education that distinguishes them from great universities.

CUT UNIVERSITY BUDGET TO STAY WITHIN INCOME

Urbana, Ill., April 25 [Special].—A reduced budget for the University of Illinois for the next academic year, which begins July 1, was adopted here today by the university board of trustees to keep expenditures within the anticipated reduced income. The budget totals $8,513,306 as compared with the $8,549,948 for the current year. The board cut the general operating budget for the colleges and schools of the university $59,282.

President Arthur C. Willard said virtually all divisions of the university must share the cut because reduced enrollment has reduced the income from student fees.

Dr. Milan V. Novak of the University of Minnesota was named associate professor of bacteriology and public health in the college of medicine, effective April 15.

The resignation of Dr. George E. Mylonas, professor of classical art and archæology, effective Sept. 1, 1940, was received by the board. He will return to the faculty of Washington university at St. Louis, Mo.

DIES IN DAUGHTER'S HOME.

Mrs. Margaret Johnson, 69 years old, 2131 Washington boulevard, died yesterday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bundriage of 1968 Lincoln avenue, apparently of heart disease.

KITES TO SOAR TOMORROW IN CONTEST FINALS

Winners in 8 Divisions Will Receive Cups.

The towers of downtown Chicago will look down tomorrow upon a sports exhibition that was old when the Colosseum was finished in Rome in 82 A. D. It will be a great kite flying contest in Grant park, the finals in the annual competition sponsored by the Chicago park district and THE TRIBUNE.

Hundreds of kites will be in the air, competing for silver cups that will go to winners in each of eight divisions. These will be judged for artistry, novelty, quickness of hand winding and mechanical winding, solo box construction, messenger fleetness, size, and pulling ability.

Dragons, Stars, Butterflies.

A violently colored dragon, 20 feet long, will squirm thru the air, his gaping mouth revealing revolving teeth. Huge stars will twinkle in the daylight and giant butterflies of varied hues will dart back and forth. Streamers of flame will float around a grinning devil.

One boy from Fernwood park is hoping that his mother won't be there. His eight foot box kite has been covered with her best bed spread. A girl at Garfield park didn't cry when her kite, which was one of the semi-finalists, was destroyed. Instead, she is building a finer creation, an intricate bamboo butterfly much taller than herself. One-fourth of the kites to fly tomorrow were built by girls

Largest and Strongest.

The largest entry will be an 18 foot bow kite from Columbus park. The strongest kite was built at Dvorak park. Last Saturday, in the semi-finals, it pulled 45 pounds in a strong wind which wrecked more than half of the entries.

There will be no event for the smallest kite this year. In the last tournament, the judges disagreed whether the tiny kites, some of them no bigger than a postage stamp, were flying or just suspended in the air.

In the winding contest, everything from hand emery wheel devices to the rear wheels of bicycles will be used by the entrants. One man will fly his kite from a deep sea fishing rod and reel.

Goes Back Many Centuries.

The invention of kite flying by tradition is credited to Archytas of Tarentum four centuries before the Christian era, but kites have been in use among Asiatic peoples from time immemorial.

The Koreans attribute the first kite to a general who inspired his men by sending up a kite with a lantern attached. The soldiers thought the great flickering light was a sign from heaven. They charged the enemy and were victorious.

Enthusiasm for kite flying has never waned. Chicago has been especially kite conscious for the last 10 years since the park district has been holding competitions. Five thousand kites were entered in the preliminaries this season. The 372, which passed the semi-finals, will be in the air tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. at Hutchinson field, north of the band shell.

PLAN IS OFFERED TO SAVE EXCESS PERSONALTY TAX

County Assessor John S. Clark said yesterday that plans are being made to help more than 100,000 taxpayers who are being overbilled by more than $3,000,000 on their 1939 personal property tax bills. The overbilling results from a recent Supreme court decision that shares of stock in companies incorporated outside Illinois but owning tangible property in Illinois are exempt from personal property taxation.

Clark said he has proposed that the assessor's office issue "certificates of error" showing the amount of tax exempted as a result of the court ruling. The taxpayers could then pay the correct reduced amount. The penalty date is June 1.

Clark said the plan will be discussed further today with Marshall V. Kearney, assistant state's attorney.

24 FOOT SNAKE AT CIRCUS BITES TWO EMPLOYES

Two men were injured at the Greater Olympia circus at the Chicago Stadium early today when a snake 24 feet long lashed loose.

The snake, a python from India, uncoiled and struck out as attendants were attempting to feed it forcibly. It sank its fangs into the right leg of R. L. Nicol of Singapore, and nipped Gene Woods, colored attendant, on the wrist. Nicol was taken to the Norwegian-American hospital. A python's bite is said not to be poisonous.

Earlier in the day Frank Buck, of "Bring 'Em Back Alive" fame, suffered wrist cuts when he tried to stop a fight among several of his Capuchin monkeys. One of the monkeys was seriously hurt.

Filipinos Pick Delegates to Republican Convention

MANILA, P. I., April 25 (AP).—The Republican insular convention tonight named uninstructed delegates to the national party convention and adopted a resolution indorsing "reconsideration of political and economic relations between the Philippines and the United States should the Filipino people request or express a willingness to undertake the same."

BLAME POLITICS FOR DOWNSTATE RELIEF MUDDLE

Citizens Tell of Influx from Other States.

Politics is the underlying cause for the relief muddle in Alexander county, southern Illinois, it was charged yesterday at a special meeting of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Flagrant violations of the three year residence law also were said to exist in the county, from which the IERC has withheld about $36,000 for the last three months.

The allegations were made by O. B. Hastings, chairman of a nonpartisan county citizens' committee appointed early this year to aid in straightening out the mess. The charges were affirmed by U. S. Musick, a committee member. Hastings is president of a grain company in Cairo and Musick is head of a lumber company.

Asks Grant of $16,146.

Hastings spoke after Leo P. Stenzel, county board chairman, had presented the county's request for a $16,146 grant for an anticipated 850 relief cases next month. This is an increase of more than 300 over the current load.

"People have been coming into Cairo, especially, from Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee," Hastings said, "and it's been made easy for them to get on relief—especially just prior to elections. Since relief has been shut off recently, about 20 per cent have moved from the state."

"Smells to High Heaven."

Musick repeated the charge that newcomers to the state were placed on relief in violation of the residence law. "The situation still smells to high heaven and has to be cleared up," he declared. An investigation is now in progress by IERC field representatives.

Stenzel and the other county commissioners, accompanied by their attorney, De Witt Twente, held a conference with E. E. Ferrebee, IERC statistician, to make any necessary adjustments in the anticipated need for funds. The IERC ruling on the petition for funds will be made next Tuesday.

3 MORE CHICAGO DISTRICTS SHOW CENSUS DECLINE

4th, 8th, 9th Drop with Sabath's 5th.

Declines in the population of three additional Chicago congressional districts were disclosed yesterday, following the discovery on Wednesday that the population of the 5th district—represented by A. J. [Half-a Congressman] Sabath—had dwindled 20 per cent since 1930.

Population of 1st Unchanged.

Besides the 5th, the smaller congressional districts are the 4th, represented by Harry P. Beam; the 8th, represented by Leo Kocialkowski, and the 9th, represented by James McAndrews, all Democrats. The population of the other coinciding district, the 1st, is not expected to change materially.

Prospects are that the 4th, populated by 237,139 persons in 1930, will show a decline of about 25,000 when final figures are gathered today. It is bounded on the north by 22d street, on the south by 51st street, on the east by State street, while its irregular western border extends, in one place, as far as Cicero avenue.

Census officials attributed the decline in the 4th to the fact that many of its old homes are being abandoned, and to a steady move to the suburbs.

8th District Slips 10,000.

Figures on the 8th district are expected to show that it has slipped about 10,000 from its 1930 population of 138,216. The loss is being shown in that section of the district bounded on the east by the river, the west by Halsted street, the south by Roosevelt road, and the north by Madison street. An increase in industrial concerns, enumerators say, is causing the decline.

The 9th district includes the expensive near north side residential area, where a 10 per cent decline is anticipated. The district contained 309,785 persons in 1930. It is bounded by the lake on the east, the river on the south, Racine avenue on the west, and Irving Park road on the north.

High Rents Blamed.

The decline along the lake shore is attributed by census takers to high rents and to the fact that people with servants are cutting their staffs.

The 1st district has largely a colored population. It is bounded on the north by the river, the south by 43d street, the east by the lake, and the west by Halsted street. In 1930 it had 142,916 residents.

Neither the Illinois congressional nor senatorial [legislative] districts have been reapportioned since 1901, because of failure of the legislature to act. Thus the so-called rotten borough system has grown up, whereby Chicago congressional districts range in size from the 8th, with 138,216, to the 7th, which had 889,349 in 1930.

Tells of Cruelty

MRS. CHARLOTTE STILL.

Mrs. Charlotte Still of 1005 North Lockwood avenue spent too long combing her hair one morning six weeks after her marriage. It angered her husband, a leather worker, she testified yesterday, and he bit her on the shoulder. The story won Mrs. Still, who is 23 years old, a divorce before Judge Rudolph Desort. Her attorney, David G. Falk, said a financial settlement had been arranged.

20c NEWS STAND THIEF NOMINATED AS MEANEST MAN

A passerby at 47th and Halsted streets yesterday halted by a news stand. As his right hand dropped two pennies and picked up one of the papers, his left scooped up 20 cents from the stand.

The incident escaped the eye of Walter Lehkey, 16 years old, 4824 South Throop street, the owner of the newsstand, and other passersby. But it did not escape the notice of Policeman David Kelly. Kelly seized the thief, who said he was Joseph Schrantz, 4553 Union avenue, and later told the story before Judge John V. McCormick in Stockyards police court.

"You're a fine candidate for the world's meanest man," said the judge as he fined Schrantz $25 for disorderly conduct. Schrantz was unable to pay and was sent to the Bridewell to work out the fine.

4 Japanese Navy Boats Sunk by Chinese Artillery

HONGKONG, April 25 (AP).—The Central News agency reported today that two Japanese gunboats were damaged and four armed Japanese naval launches sunk in a duel with Chinese shore batteries on the east bank of Tungting lake, 20 miles south of Yochow.

YACHT QUITS CITY FOR 10,000 MILE TRIP TO ALASKA

Two Month Journey Will Circle America.

A 10,000 mile all-water journey from Chicago to Alaska got under way yesterday when the Diesel powered yacht, Nellwood, sailed from Navy pier. The boat will sail the Great Lakes and down the St. Lawrence river, thence south in the Atlantic, west across the Caribbean sea, thru the Panama canal, and north along the Pacific coast to Sand Point in the Aleutian Islands. The trip will take about two months.

Aboard the yacht are Gilbert W. Skinner, the owner, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston, all of Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dreutzer, 150 East Superior street, Chicago. Skinner is president of the Skinner & Eddy corporation, salmon packing companies, and Northland Transportation company, operating a fleet between Seattle and Alaskan ports. Dreutzer is a lawyer, hunter, and collector.

Carry Crew of Twelve.

The Dreutzers will leave the party at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., but the Johnstons will make the Alaskan trip with the Skinners and a crew of 12. Dreutzer will return to Chicago, then leave within a week for a hunting trip in Alaskan waters. He expects to rejoin the Skinners in the Aleutians.

Dreutzer hopes to bring back four live walruses for the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield. After reaching Alaskan waters he will fly to Nome and thence to Cape Prince of Wales, 175 miles to the northwest, the westernment settlement in North America, on Bering strait.

Hires Eskimo Crew.

Dreutzer has engaged an Eskimo crew to help him hunt and capture the walruses when the ice breaks up in the strait. His plan is to fly the captive animals back to Nome, thence they would be shipped by boat.

The Nellwood's cruise will be leisurely. Stops are planned at New York, Miami, Fla., Santiago, Cuba and other West Indies ports. Calls will be made at one or two west coast Mexican ports and a stop is planned at San Francisco before touching at Seattle.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Dunham dreams of marrying her lovely daughter, Millicent, off to some one like Dick Shard, who is kind, generous, and rich. Having stayed at their home in Kansas, Dick shows his appreciation by getting Mrs. Dunham a job selling for a New York firm after her husband died. On her visit to New York he takes her to dinner and theater along with Constance and her invalid husband, Alex. Mrs. Dunham realizes Dick is in love with Constance. After the theater Mrs. Dunham sees Dick about to be hit by a truck and, in an effort to save his life, she is killed. As she is dying she makes him promise to marry Millicent.

INSTALMENT V.

GRIEF.

"Dick, you must say I fill your life," said Constance wildly, "for I do fill it and I always shall—and you won't learn to love her—you'll learn to hate her as she tries to interfere between us. That is your program, as I understand it."

"I did not say the girl was to fall passionately in love with me."

"But of course she will, because you are an attractive man—an attractive man to women—and you know it very well. You live encased in armor so that I may not have the pain of seeing other women falling under the charm. No, don't contradict me. I know more about it than you do. I hear women talk about you. They'd all give their eye teeth to be in my shoes. And this girl—she'll worship the ground you walk on, and when she discovers how you have trapped and deceived her, why, even I could pity her then."

He turned away from her and, resting elbows on the mantelpiece, he dropped his head in his hands. He was so tired that he felt as if all thought was impossible.

"Do you know, Constance," he said, "that this is the first time I've ever been in trouble when I felt you were hostile—that you wouldn't help me."

She didn't melt, but she said instantly, "I will help you, if you will only listen to me. There is a way out—a decent sort of compromise between what you have promised her and me. It's not perfectly honorable, but I'm sorry to say, Dick, you are in one of those jams where it isn't possible to be completely honorable.

"Ask this girl to marry you—at once—the first time you see her—be kind and friendly, but don't attempt to be amorous. Let her think, if she likes, that your deep feeling for her mother prompts you—but don't say anything. If, under such circumstances as that, she accepts you, it will be perfectly clear that her emotions are not involved. It can't be any great shock to her when, as soon as the ceremony is over, you tell her the truth—that you wanted to protect her—to have an excuse for giving her an income—that she can get a divorce as soon as she pleases—and half your fortune.

"After all, my dear, that is what the mother wanted—financial security for the girl—she couldn't, after what happened at dinner, imagine you had any interest in the girl herself—she knew you did not even remember her existence. She wanted, naturally enough, to know that her daughter wouldn't starve. Well, this way she won't—and she won't be involved in a tragic marriage, either."

"I still feel I am offering the girl a gratuitous insult in return for her mother's death."

"A gratuitous insult with thirty or forty thousand a year attached . . ." And then, changing her bitter tone, she suddenly bent and laid her hand against his breast. "Oh, don't sacrifice me to a technical code of honor, Dick. I've never asked anything before . . ."

Before he went away, just as a cold dawn was rising over Long Island she knew that she had won.

The funeral was over. Millicent Dunham was in the Ogden's sitting room waiting for a visit from Shard. She had already seen him, of course, several times—last of all beside the grave, but she had not seen him alone. She wanted to hear every detail of her mother's death, and now he was coming.

When three nights before she had been waked in the small hours by the ringing of the telephone and a faint clear voice saying, "Miss Millicent Dunham—New York calling—is this Miss Millicent Dunham?" she had known at once that something dreadful had happened—her mother would never call her at such an hour . . . Then a great many clicks and snaps in the instrument, and then another clear voice asking severely, "Is this Miss Millicent Dunham?" as if she had somehow reprehensively changed her personality in the last few seconds. Then still another voice, deep and quiet: "This is Richard Shard speaking, Miss Dunham . . ."

Her room was bitterly cold but she didn't feel it on her bare neck and shoulders as long as she was talking and listening—when at last she hung up the receiver her hands were like ice. She got up and wrapped a great ugly red and black plaid dressing gown about her. The pale blue one in which she had made Shard's acquaintance was still, after many cleanings, her best, but this other was more suitable to the everyday rigors of a Kansas winter.

She shut the window, and stood a moment shaking with cold and excitement and distress. Her mother was dead—had deserted her in order to save some one else's life—Oh, why, why had she done it—what difference did Richard Shard's life make?

There was only one other person in the house—Mrs. Herman, the old German woman who had served the Dunham family as cook, nurse, friend and critic for many years. She was almost stone deaf now, and it did not occur to Millicent to wake her. Instead she called up Dr. Ogden's next door—she knew he had a telephone at his bedside. Rose Ogden was her best friend as the doctor had been her father's. The two men had married about the same time and had built the two red brick houses side by side. He came to her at once and took her home with him. She had been there ever since.

No one could have thought her a pretty girl as she sat waiting for Shard. She was wearing mourning hastily bought for her by Mrs. Ogden, who understood economy better than fashion. The hard white line about the neck made the girl's skin look pale and sallow. All her lovely color had gone—not only from her lips and cheeks but even from her hair which was dull and lifeless, falling in ways she never let it fall in her livelier moments. Her eyes and even her little nose were pink with crying. She was just a washed out blonde, and for the first time in her life she cared nothing about her appearance. Of all things in the world that seemed utterly without importance to her at that moment was what Richard Shard might think of her looks.

As she came in, she remembered his other visit and her mother's admiration for him, but it didn't make her want to cry again—she was past tears. She rose and held out her hand: "It was very kind of you to come all this way, Mr. Shard, when you are so busy . . ."

"My dear child, of course I came. Your mother not only saved my life, but she was a very good friend of mine."

"She thought you were perfect."

They sat down side by side on the Ogden's tapestry sofa, and Millicent heard a much expurgated account of her mother's death, with all the suffering and horror left out, and the heroism emphasized. She didn't ask embarrassing questions—she wanted to know about the dinner party—whether her mother had enjoyed the play, and had she bought herself an evening cloak, or was she wearing her old cloth coat . . . "I knew she wouldn't. She was probably going to buy one for me instead. Oh, Mr. Shard, she stood between me and everything. I never even thought of her dying."

This brought them naturally to Millicent's plans for the future—only she hadn't any. In her heart she wished he wouldn't question her about them—she had been able to push away that terror—she had no money—no training—no ability.

SALADS TOO HIGH? BRING SPRING IN THE DRESSINGS?

Salad vegetables have been so expensive that it's begun to look as if the traditional spring salad will have to wait until summer. But at least one can serve a spring dressing. It contains parsley and chives to bring spring style to cooked or canned vegetable, egg, meat and even fruit salads.

SPRING DRESSING.

1 tablespoon chopped parsley
⅛ teaspoon chives
¼ teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 shallot or green onion [finely chopped]
½ cup salad oil

Combine ingredients in fruit jar and shake well. Chill and shake well before serving.

Early Vegetable May Be Used in Many Ways.

Tender, green asparagus stalks take the limelight among the early spring vegetables, and they're a welcome sight to the housewife who appreciates the versatility of this flavorsome vegetable. For asparagus can be prepared in many ways, freshly cooked and served with butter, or a sauce or chilled for salads.

Even the leftovers may be served attractively and the less tender parts used in making nourishing soups.

How to Prepare It.

To prepare asparagus properly, wash and break off the lower parts of the stalks as far down as they will snap without tearing. Tie the stalks into a bunch and stand upright in boiling, salted water in a deep saucepan. The water should come about two-thirds of the way to the top, so that the tips will be cooked by steam alone. Cook 10 to 15 minutes, until tender but not soft.

Serve the asparagus in long or short pieces with melted butter, or on buttered toast with a cream sauce.

Liquid Used in Soup.

The liquid drained from the cooked asparagus as well as the tougher portions of the stalks which have been cooked and put thru a sieve, may be used for making soup. To make the soup use two egg yolks to 4 cups of hot liquid. Beat the egg yolks slightly, add a few tablespoons of the hot liquid, mix and then combine with the remaining liquid and pureed asparagus in a double boiler. Stir and cook about 5 minutes. Season with salt and paprika and serve with crackers, toast or cheese croutons.

Asparagus shortcake is just one of the various luncheon dishes that uses the leftover vegetable to advantage. To each 2 cups of medium white sauce add 1-3 cup of grated cheese. Place the reheated asparagus between split halves of individual baking powder biscuits or slices of buttered toast, and pour the cheese sauce over all. Top with crisp bits of bacon if desired.

A Tempting Casserole.

A tempting casserole of asparagus custard can be prepared with either the freshly cooked or leftover vegetable. Put 4 cups of drained cooked asparagus, which has been cut into one-inch pieces, in a buttered baking dish. Beat 3 eggs slightly and pour over them 2 cups of scalded milk, mixing well. Add ½ teaspoon of salt, a few drops of Worcestershire sauce and a teaspoon of melted butter.

Pour this mixture over the asparagus and bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, for about 45 minutes or until done. Serve immediately from the casserole.

HERE'S A MAGIC TOUCH THAT GARNERS FRIENDS FOR STEAMED CABBAGE

Steamed cabbage doesn't ordinarily arouse any exciting comments at the dinner table, but with the addition of a rich, piquant sauce and a few flavorsome dill seeds the lowly cabbage is transformed into a really sensational dish.

HUNGARIAN CABBAGE.

[Serves 8.]

1 large onion
2 quarts coarsely chopped cabbage
2 teaspoons salt
Few dill seeds
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons vinegar

Cut onion in thin slices. Add to cabbage, with salt, dill seeds, and butter, and cook slowly in a tightly covered pan until tender, about 20 minutes. Stir vinegar into milk. Pour over cabbage and heat. Serve hot.

TRY THIS RECIPE FOR SHORTCAKE; IT'S DIFFERENT

Strawberry shortcake which requires no cooking is a new and different dessert. It's made with bread as the base, and after 24 hours of chilling, the entire cake will be an attractive strawberry pink color.

DEVONSHIRE SHORTCAKE.

[Serves six.]

1 quart strawberries
1 cup sugar
6 slices bread
Butter
Whipped cream

Crush the strawberries with the sugar [reserve a handful of large berries for garnishing]. Trim the crusts from the slices of bread. Spread bread lightly with softened butter and line a buttered bowl or cake pan with the slices. Trim off the corners where necessary to make the pieces fit together neatly. Pour in the sugared berries. Cover top completely with remaining slices of bread, fitting them together in the same manner. Put a plate on top.

Weight it down and place the bowl in the refrigerator to chill for 24 hours. When ready to serve unmold. Garnish with whipped cream and whole strawberries.

PRICES OF MEAT MOVE UPWARD; GREENS CHEAPER

All Vegetables Are Down Except Carrots.

BY MARY MEADE.

More of your food pennies will be spent for meat this week than last, while a larger variety of vegetables and fewer kinds of fruits will find their way into your market basket.

You can't go wrong if you build your Sunday dinner menu around a ham, for while fresh pork prices have climbed steadily up to last November's level, smoked pork remains reasonable.

If you prefer beef, you'll probably find your best buys in beef chuck roasts. Steaks also are fairly reasonable and you'll run across an occasional good buy in rib roasts.

Poultry Merits Consideration.

Beef and veal on the whole are higher this week. Best buys in veal are from the fore quarter. Lamb is still reasonable, but good quality lamb is scarce right now.

Poultry and cold cuts are selling at prices that make them worthy of your consideration.

Fresh as spring showers are the vegetables coming to market these days. From the crisp, dark, green of spinach blades to the pale green of lettuce leaves, all the green of the garden are represented.

Spinach is exceptionally good this year, good enough to make vegetarians of spinach lovers, and to win over those who dislike it. It is also an exceptionally good buy, and that shouldn't hurt its popularity.

Beans at Moderate Level.

Green peas and green beans are both a little cheaper this week. The beans are at last down to a moderate level and the peas are getting there fast.

Cheaper after their sudden upward price spurt are lettuce and cabbage. Both are now selling at reasonable prices. The new California lettuce crop has begun to arrive, and its quality is much improved.

Celery is very reasonable, and asparagus is moderately priced. Asparagus is another vegetable that's been extra good this spring and you'll do well to enjoy it now. Local crops are a little slow and the California varieties which you've been eating are coming to an end. High prices may be expected during the gap between western and local supplies.

Only Carrots Are Higher.

Even cucumbers are cheaper this week [they still are a luxury, however] and only carrots are higher than last week vegetables. The first of the new crop of dry onions came to Chicago this week.

Stick to strawberries and rhubarb if you'd skim the cream of the fruit bargains. Grapefruit prices are still rising, altho almost imperceptibly if you're looking thru a housewife's eye. All varieties of apples are very slightly higher this week, too.

Summer is coming even if spring hasn't quite got here yet. The proof? —you can buy California cantaloupe, today, if you want to. This is the earliest it's ever been shipped from California, as far as this shopper can discover.

Fruit Salad Served in Shells Gives Tang to Menu

A tangy fruit salad served in grapefruit shells makes an appetizing appearance as the first course of the spring luncheon menu. To prepare the salad, cut grapefruit in halves. Remove centers and lift out segments of fruit. Remove all membrane from center of shell. Just before serving fill each half with the following mixture, which has been chilled in the refrigerator: Grapefruit segments, canned or fresh pineapple chunks, sliced avocado, and sliced, stuffed olives. Serve with a tart French dressing.

Mrs. E. V. L. Brown will give a play reading at the Chicago College club at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Francis H. Lane and Mrs. Arthur D. Welton will be hostesses at luncheon preceding the talk.

Four Desserts from One Pan

Four different desserts from one saucepan aren't at all impossible when the basis is a tapioca cream pudding. The pudding is made by cooking together 1 or 2 egg yolks, 1 quart milk, ⅓ cup quick cooking tapioca, ½ cup sugar, and ¼ teaspoon of salt in the top of a double boiler for 10 to 12 minutes. One or two stiffly beaten egg whites are folded into the hot mixture. When the pudding is somewhat cooled flavoring is added and any variations are folded into it. Variations shown here include strawberries, orange sections, and pecan halves folded into the pudding and a plain pudding served with a garnish of chocolate sauce and whipped cream.

Provident Hospital to Seek $200,000 in Next 5 Years

Provident hospital, which serves the south side colored district, announced yesterday that a special committee headed by Gen. Robert E. Wood would seek to raise $40,000 a year for the next five years to meet its operating deficit. Green, a civil service commissioner, was elected president of the hospital to succeed Charles A. Barnett. Barnett will continue as a trustee.

[ADVERTISMENT]

THEY RAVE OVER TOLL HOUSE COOKIES

Here's a new cookie that everybody loves because it is so delicious, so different and so easy to make. With each crisp bite you taste a delicious bit of Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a crunch of rich walnut meat. A perfect combination. Here's a proven recipe that never fails. Try it tomorrow.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

Matrimony Is Love, Not a Meal Ticket

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I was going 'steady' with Jack for three and a half years. We were to be married as soon as it was financially possible. Jack finished college only last year. We figured roughly it would take two more years before we could start on the big adventure.

"Then, out of a clear sky, recently I met another man whom we'll call Bill. He is six years older than I am and he proposed to me the very first night I went out with him. He is entirely different from Jack. He has been out with many girls in his lifetime and told me that I was what he had been waiting for. He is making far more money than Jack and he takes me places Jack never could afford.

"However, I want to be married and have a home of my own. Jack argued that in a year, perhaps, we could get enough together for a half way decent start. I told him that, if he cared enough for me, he would take the chance right now and let the future take care of itself. Since then I have promised to marry Bill, but I know in my heart that if Jack were to ask me to marry him right now, I'd accept him gladly. What is there to do? MIDGE."

You are an impetuous person, Midge, and the kind who is going to make a lot of discontentment for herself unless you clamp down on your impatience. What is a year's wait, a two year wait, for the man your heart dictates as the rightful choice, compared to a lifetime with a man you'd turn down for another?

You obviously are tempted by the things that money can buy rather than by the man himself. Suppose his money ran out, as has happened. Would your heart then be reverting to Jack who may, in the course of a few years, outdistance your current fiancé? You have to make up your mind what you want, young woman, and what you're willing to go without to get it.

"Now that's what I call good coffee"
HILLS BROS COFFEE

How pleasant it is; when your globe-trotting bachelor Uncle Gilbert comes to visit you ... and you're very fearful that something might not please him, to have him exclaim ... "NOW THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD COFFEE!"

"There is no mystery about making coffee when you use Hills Bros. Coffee. The Correct Grind produces perfect results in any kind of maker—just follow the directions on the side of the can but don't regrind Hills Bros. Coffee—you'll lose aroma, flavor, and freshness."

TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE. Carefully observe timing for each method. Measure 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. Vary water slightly for exact strength desired. Keep coffee-maker clean. IMPORTANT. Do not regrind Hills Bros. Coffee. Regrinding results in a loss of flavor, aroma, and freshness.

"Yes, I make Hills Bros. Coffee by the DRIP METHOD. For perfect results the water must take from 6 to 8 minutes to drip through to the lower section. If the water drips through too fast, the coffee is weak."

"Hills Bros. Coffee is simply divine made in a GLASS VACUUM-MAKER. Put the upper bowl on after the water boils and keep the water in contact with the coffee for at least 5 to 7 minutes."

"There's no trick about making perfect coffee in a PERCOLATOR. Put Hills Bros. Coffee in the basket, start with either hot or cold water, and let it perk slowly 7 to 10 minutes after steady perking starts."

"Give me Hills Bros. Coffee made in my OLD-FASHIONED COFFEEPOT! I bring the coffee to a boil and stir well. Then I add a little cold water, and move the pot to one side for 5 minutes to settle."

"You'll never be disappointed when you make Hills Bros. Coffee by the STEEPING METHOD. Pour boiling water on the coffee, stir well and cover. Stir again in 5 minutes. Cover and steep 10 minutes more."

Hint of the week

If your coffee-maker is granite ware, watch out for places where the underlying metal may become exposed and come in contact with the coffee grounds or the brew. Such with the exposed iron has a very bad effect on the taste of coffee.

Think Together or Perish, Says Mary R. Beard

Democracy, if it is to survive, must return to the humanitarian and cooperative concept held by the founding fathers of America, Mrs. Mary Ritter Beard, noted author, yesterday told the Association of Family Living. Two generations trained in the Darwinian theory of individual survival by "tooth and claw," she said, were responsible for the depression that has "shot the American family to pieces."

Mrs. Beard was the principal speaker at both morning and afternoon sessions of an institute held in the Standard club on the 15th anniversary of the association, an organization for child study and family service.

"The test of a country," Mrs. Beard told her audience, "is the character of its family. On that basis we have been losing ground. We see the civilization that was so painfully built thru creative thinking reverting to the nomadic. The only solution is for Americans to begin to think in terms of a civilization, of a society, of a total national economy."

The "tooth and claw" concept, Mrs. Beard said, has led Germany and other totalitarian powers to violence. She warned that a totalitarian state would replace democratic government here if this nation were to join others in violence. Americans do not understand European problems well enough to give effective aid, she said.

A romantic announcement of interest in Chicago was made recently in Milwaukee. It was of the engagement of Miss Marie Kuehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kuehn of Milwaukee, to Stephen Lawrence Ingersoll of Chicago, son of Mrs. Stephen A. Ingersoll of Galesburg, Ill.

Miss Kuehn is a member of the Milwaukee Junior league and of the Service club. She attended the Lake school, Milwaukee-Downer seminary, and the Pensionnat Roseneck in Lausanne, Switzerland. Mr. Ingersoll attended Lake Forest academy, Knox college, and the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Leaves to Meet Fiancee Arriving from Europe.

Cecil Van Wyck left yesterday for New York to meet his fiancée, Miss Yvonne Meyer, who is expected on Monday or Tuesday from Frankendorf, Switzerland. They plan to be married immediately and to take a motor trip south before coming back to Chicago. They are expected here about May 8, and probably will live in Mr. Van Wyck's studio on Erie street.

The 30th anniversary of the founding of the Chicago Drama league, coupled with observance of Shakespeare's birthday, would under any circumstance be cause for a celebration. And when the especial guests at the affair are Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier, the occasion becomes a gala one.

The Drama league is having a breakfast at 12 o'clock today in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel, at which William Montgomery McGovern will be toastmaster and Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher will preside.

At the speakers' table will be Mrs. John Meeker, one of the founders of the Drama League of America, Carveth Wells, and Mrs. Wesley W. Polk, new president of the Drama club of Evanston.

Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. Will Sparks, Mrs. C. Ward Seabury, Mrs. M. Lee Alberts, Mrs. William E. Vogelback, Mrs. William E. Wright, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Harold Pynchon, Mrs. Harry Fuller, Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde, and Mrs. Lange Rathbun.

Lake Forest Academy Festival Week-end Opening.

The Lake Forest academy will open its spring festival week-end today with a reception and tea at the home of Headmaster John Wayne Richards. Mrs. McPherson Holt and Mrs. John F. Fennelly will pour. Among activities planned for the students and their guests are a performance by members of the Follies cast and musical clubs; a movie burlesquing a day at school, presented by David S. Bradley; a track meet tomorrow morning; a three act farce presented by the Gargoyle club, and a formal dance, which will finish the week-end.

Members of the American Opera society will hold their annual meeting at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Chinese Silver room of the Woman's Athletic club. May Barrow, soprano, will give a program of songs in English, accompanied by Leo Heim at the piano. Tea will be served following the program.

An hour after the advocates of Opera in English assemble at the Woman's Athletic club, members of the women's committee of the Chicago Opera company will meet for tea with the box chairman, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk of 1500 Lake Shore drive.

Woman's Athletic Club to Hold Spring Dance.

Mrs. Alvin E. Bastien, Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, and Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly were elected to the board of the Woman's Athletic club at the annual meeting held last Tuesday. Mrs. Bruce MacLeish was reëlected president. Other officers are Mrs. Mark W. Trude, Miss Lyla P. Woodruff, and Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, first, second, and third vice presidents; Mrs. George L. Cragg and Mrs. Stanley Zaring, recording and corresponding secretaries, and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., treasurer.

The young people who belong to the Fortnightly dance series will meet for the last time this season tonight at the Fortnightly club. The woman's committee of the dances has planned to start the 11th series next Nov. 8.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Reviewing Stand.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The road brings us to the nation's capital . . . a city which to the show business, like most other businesses, and most Americans, has its traditions and treasured stories. In that connection memory recalls a story of which not many people are aware.

Here one of Tin Pan Alley's most famous songs was rendered for the first time to cover the pause that resulted from a feared assassination of President Woodrow Wilson. . . . It's a fact. . . . The song was George M. Cohan's "Over There" and the locale was an armory at Baltimore. . . . The Friars' club, to raise money for Liberty bonds, had arranged a monster show at the Baltimore armory, which Wilson was to have attended. . . . So widespread were rumors that he was to be assassinated that Wilson was prevented by the secret service from attending. . . . In the middle of the show some one sabotaged the lighting switches and the armory was plunged into blackness.

Army officers rushed automobiles to the armory windows and flooded the place with headlights. . . . Backstage the actors were in turmoil. . . . Cohan, who had rehearsed Gus Edwards in the new song, yelled: "Gus, get out on that stage and get the audience singing before there is a panic." . . . So Veteran Gus Edwards ran to the stage, made an announcement, and sang "Over There." . . . That was the bizarre setting for the song's introduction. . . . When Paramount some months ago made a film of Gus Edwards' life, I suggested that this important incident be woven into the film, but the Gower street master minds ignored the suggestion. . . . Maybe they did not think it was sufficiently dramatic.

Both the stage and the movies have used the White House and Washington for plays and pictures. . . . "Of Thee I Sing" was the most successful play written around the national capital, because it spoofed the vice presidency and Victor Moore was terrific. . . . Of the films, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" easily was the most successful as a money maker, altho it aroused tremendous resentment here and thruout the country. . . . There have been any number of plays and films written about Abraham Lincoln, one of the most distinguished occupants of the White House, but they have been more successful on the stage than as pictures, because in all probability the fans knew the end of the plot from history books. . . . Well, it's nice to be here again, even tho it's ironic that the Japanese cherry blossoms are attracting visitors just as the White House is shaking its fists at Japan.

Fashion-Wise Buyers Revel in New Cottons

BY REA SEEGER.

Preview parade of the cottons now on display justifies the shopping hunch that the smartest clothes of this summer stuff can be selected now before national promotion of cotton week.

Sleuthing shoppers are discovering the sleek chambray daytime suits, the duet of dress and blouse back jacket ....country clothes of awning striped gathered skirt worn with a well pocketed blouse top of plain color....and the crisp candy stripe cotton dresses for general daytime wear complete to demure white collar.

Piqué is getting a tremendous play of fashion. You'll find white piqué dinner dresses that are the last word in slim swank, some with long sleeves, some with stunning insets of coarse eyelet embroidery all over the gown. Striped piqué is used for circular cut, wide skirts, fitted bodice and brief bolero, and the result is the sophisticated dinner or dance dress. Bold bright checked ginghams as soft as old fashioned mull make eye catching street and daytime suits and outfits beloved of the career girl facing summer in town. These checked smoothies show unusual color contrasts, such as gold, carbon blue and green, and plenty of the usual crisp red and white, brown and white and blue and white. The jackets are precisely cut and tailored, the underdresses or simple flared skirts equally smooth in design. These, too, become popular travel togs for vacationists.

Cotton denim in delightful gray blue tone is destined for summer comfort and constant wear. This soft stuff, even tho it looks sturdily utilitarian, is surprisingly comfortable and cool, and fashions some of the best looking casual country clothes ever unpacked. Flared skirts, bloused tops, and wide midriff sections, together with fancy braid and pockets are details that mark these wearable country clothes.

Fashion photograph....Two shades of flattering pink jersey combine in this beautiful new spring dinner costume. Wide full shirred skirt of the dress accents the intricately shirred bodice, while the cavalier cape is also draped at the back in folds. The dress is of soft shell pink, the cape is three shades darker. Another costume uses a dove gray colored cape with the pink gown.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

The next time you go shopping for a soap that is kind to your skin, you might remember a famous old favorite, made by a house that has specialized in quality. It's old enough not to be new, but good enough not to be forgotten.

We're talking about a transparent glycerine soap. Scented with a white rose fragrance, it yields a rich, creamy lather that seems to soothe as it cleanses. It leaves the skin delicately perfumed and that, somehow, never fails to give one a sense of well-being. The fragrance of white rose is never hard to take, but in the spring of the year it carries even more appeal. There's a hand size and a bath size, and you'll enjoy them down to the last sliver.

We could always find room for cakes and cakes of another type of soap made by the same house. It's an opaque soap for the bath that is well made and aged. It, too, produces a creamy lather and has a fragrance that lasts until the cake of soap is no more.

There's a wide choice of fragrances, and we'd hesitate to say which one is the best. You could close your eyes and pick a prize and never have a regret about what you drew. There's a geranium rose that always has its followers, an eau de cologne that is a refreshing scent, a lavender, a pine, a lovely verbena, a sandalwood, a lilac, a violet, and a few others.

You'll love the colors, which are matched to the perfume of the soap.

NOTE ON AN ARRIVAL.

"Two Rare Red Orang-utans,"
Her herness and his hisness,

Your Chicago and Mine.

A girl named Muriel Jensen was jammed into an overcrowded double-decker bus the other day and observed that a passenger mashed against the front window, forced to read his magazine approximately one inch from his nose, was absorbed in an article titled Escape to Wilderness. Three others, including Miss Jensen, read it with him.

Almost any day now, prophesies Robert L. Lederer, we expect to see some enterprising tavernkeeper blossom forth with a Blitzkrieg cocktail.

Invitation to a Tea Party.

"Arturo Godoy, the Chilean gaucho who demonstrated the South American way in a 15 round La Conga with Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, invites you to meet his lovely dancing bride, Ledda, in the Bullfight room of the Sherman hotel.

"Co-pouring at this pampas picnic will be Stanley Fields, movie gangster character whom you last hissed in Hell's Kitchen, Blackwell's Island, and The Kid from Kokomo. . . . The luscious Ledda is ver', ver' charming and Arturo is a large hunk of man who never takes pokes at people without turnstile guarantee. Please come—we're expecting you.

"Jimmy Savage."

Witty Dame Whitty.

Dame May Whitty emerged from the stage door at the Auditorium the other night after the Romeo and Juliet performance to find some autograph seekers holding out the play program for her to sign. The special program was open at the page with Shakespeare's picture and signature on it. Told to sign under his signature, she gave a delightful wink. "O, yes," she said, "we were boys together.".

Editor and Publisher picks up a wedding story from The Storm Lake (Ia.) Pilot-Tribune:

"Mr. Hiram Norcross became the bridegroom of Miss Emily Lewis in a pretty ceremony today. He was attended by Mr. Schultz as groomsman.

"As the groom appeared he was the cynosure of all eyes. He was charmingly clad in a going away three piece suit, consisting of coat, vest, and pants. A pretty story was current among the guests to the effect that the coat was the same one worn by his father and grandfather on their wedding days, but he shyly evaded this sentimental touch. . . ."

Symphony Has Musical Party; Bars Are Down

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra took down its hair last night. Customarily the most sober and proper of organizations, it consented to this lapse from dignity in order to provide entertainment for the party which the Orchestral association gave for members, boxholders, supporters, and guests in Orchestra hall.

There was a performance of "The Beer Barrel Polka" by brass and woodwind players of the orchestra—a performance marked by the zest and zoom one would expect to find in an especially good basement dive.

A string quartet calling itself "The Four Swing Strings" played "Dinah," "I Got Rhythm," and similar works. This part of the program had definite educational value, for the unique unsuitability of the string quartet for dance music was established beyond a doubt.

A spurious Paganini played a "Concerto for Four Open Strings," and a white gloved conductor did wonders with the "William Tell" overture and the "Blue Danube" waltz. There were seas of blue notes and dozens of assorted bits of tomfoolery. Master of ceremonies for all this—not Jack Benny, not Ben Bernie—but Frederick A. Stock!

Galleries Show Pleasing Small Art Exhibitions

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Several delightful small exhibitions are in the galleries about town. At Gallery House, 17 East Elm street, are paintings of Mackinac Island by Stanley Bielecky and Thomas F. Daly.

The artists have succeeded in drenching quiet Mackinac with a goodly amount of atmosphere and pigment borrowed from Van Gogh and some of the more ardent French moderns. But if you have the patience to sift a pile of water colors you will find two little scenes suggestive of the Mackinac more ordinarily met with by the visitor. Bielecky is responsible for these, both street scenes.

At the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, the Tudor Gallery presents an interesting group of paintings by Mrs. John O'Connor, a past president and a member of the club.

A charming exhibit is at the Paul Theobald gallery, 104 South Michigan avenue. Two artists are represented. Edith Jane Bacon of Winnetka is showing a group of lovely color prints. They are imaginative and fantastic, portraying one of the nicest private collections of animals in the world. One can easily visualize them slipping into place among the pages of a particularly intriguing story for children.

The other artist is Marguerite Kreutzberg, from Taos, N. M. Her paintings are of cactus flowers, an unusual subject beautifully handled. Our treasured table cactus of the middle west would hardly know itself in the mirror held by Miss Kreutzberg; the prickly, hardy plants look quite unlike themselves in these attractive portraits dressed in spring costumes of short-lived blossom.

At Benedict gallery, Hull House, there is an interesting collection of portraits of some of the first Hull House trustees, including Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Miss Mary Rozet Smith, Julius Rosenwald, and Allen B. Pond, and an extensive exhibit of portraits and photographs of Miss Jane Addams. A portrait of Miss Addams by Maud Phelps Hutchins strikes a modern note and is one of the most important features of the exhibit.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

April 26, 1940.

These two numbers are both domestic and homeloving in quality, but their combination gives us the powerful materialistic 8. The vocations for those born on the 26th should lie in the commercialization of one of the arts. Politics, public administration, and army or navy posts provide the fields for the combination of service and interest in the education and training of others, and the controling issues over the home and community. These people should serve but in an executive capacity. Those celebrating birthdays today should be reaching a peak in accomplishment this year.

GENTLEMEN, MORTIMER GOODE, ALIAS NIFTY BEAKER, ALIAS MORGAN GREEN, HAS BEEN PROVEN GUILTY BEYOND THE SHADOW OF A DOUBT! THE TESTIMONY OF THIRTY UNIMPEACHABLE WITNESSES HAS SHOWN THAT TO PERMIT THIS PREDATORY FIEND TO REMAIN AT LARGE WOULD BE A MENACE TO SOCIETY AND A TRAVESTY ON JUSTICE!
THE CASE AGAINST MORTIMER GOODE HAS FALLEN BY ITS OWN WEIGHT, GENTLEMEN. THE WEAK-KNEED ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY GOODE AS, AND CONNECT HIM WITH, NIFTY BEAKER AND KNOWN COUNTERFEITERS WOULD BE PITIFUL IF IT WERE NOT OUTRAGEOUS! Utilitarian House Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

We can't always consider only so-called "fashionable" clothes. There are times when the wardrobe cries for a house frock, utilitarian as such an item always seems. To restock your collection of home dresses, we offer this new pattern, as youthful as it is conservative. You'll like it in either plain or figured cottons.

The kimono shoulders may be buttoned, as shown at the left, or regulation, as sketched on the figure at the right. The neckline is varied too, being either square or V. You may trim this simple model, with or without pockets, with rickrack braid, ready made ruffling, or lace.

Style No. 3031 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Nervousness in Child Due to Many Factors

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In this article we're going to get right down to discussing some of the causes for children's nervousness.

[1] Nervousness may result from suppressed energy. Haven't you experienced that yourself, when you have done a sitting down job of some sort for hours at a time? And doesn't a good long walk or a housework bout relieve the nervous tension? There must be some discharge for all energy. Children can be made nervous by being kept quiet too much, or at sedentary occupations instead of being allowed to run, romp and indulge in active and noisy play.

[2] Nervousness is a common result of fatigue, especially chronic fatigue. The habitually overtired child is almost sure to be nervous.

[3] Fear is another thing that creates nervousness. While mere excitement [without fear] at the thrilling thought of school may make a young child lose his breakfast, it has also been noticed that fear of failure, fear of the whole new unknown world of grownups and children and school experiences may create a nervousness which throws the digestive processes all out of gear. The first indication of this is the stomach's refusal to retain food.

[4] The child who is jumpy and jittery, who talks too much and never can sit still may, instead of merely having a lot of physical energy, be nervous because she is overexcited or overstimulated by the life her parents allow her to live. She may be taken everywhere they go, to grownup parties, to movies, on prolonged automobile trips. She may tap dance and sing and recite in public. As a result, she does not have the long periods of sleep and rest, proper meals eaten in quiet and, in general, those childish experiences for which she is geared.

[5] Fear of a father or mother, real fear of his or her repeated punishments, harsh manner, or constant ridicule, can set up a serious nervous condition in a child.

[6] Intense ambition or anxiety to succeed in school, with too much studying, the lack of pleasure and physical activity that go with it, can create a state of tension so great that a boy or girl student is unable to eat or sleep, or be a pleasant human being. The whole nervous system is affected.

[7] Unhappiness due to lack of understanding on the part of elders or to the shock of losing some loved one, or to some other circumstance, may so affect a child consciously or otherwise that he gives evidence of nervous instability. Happiness and contentment are wonderful for the nerves.

"Helping The Nervous Child" is a leaflet of interest to parents, teachers and nurses. Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

How will you look five years from now?

It's a query for the adult to ask, hardly for the young girl. Apropos, a certain 16 year old, asking our advice on a romance problem, was urged to use a little patience. We used the word patience a second time, when Miss Sixteen exclaimed: "Patience! Patience! In a few more years I'll be 20 and all wrinkled."

But we older ones know how a year, two, five of them slip by in the twinkling of an eye, it would seem. So the query: How will you look five years from now isn't out of order.

Suppose you are 35, which is a pretty sprightly age these days. Five years from now you'll be 40, still an age which carries its shoulders high, its silhouette youthful, its chin line firm and its head anything but bowed. That's the way it can be. The way it should be IF you're a forward looking person.

IF at 35, you detect that suggested thickening under the chin, thickening around the middle of the figure, thickening mentally a bit by refusing to give the mind fresh stimuli, and detecting, proceed to withstay any further ravage, 40 can well be where a new life begins. But if 35 sees you "settling," as that word means in beauty language, and you just keep on being settled, five years from now people who "knew you away back when" will be inquiring whatever happened to you.

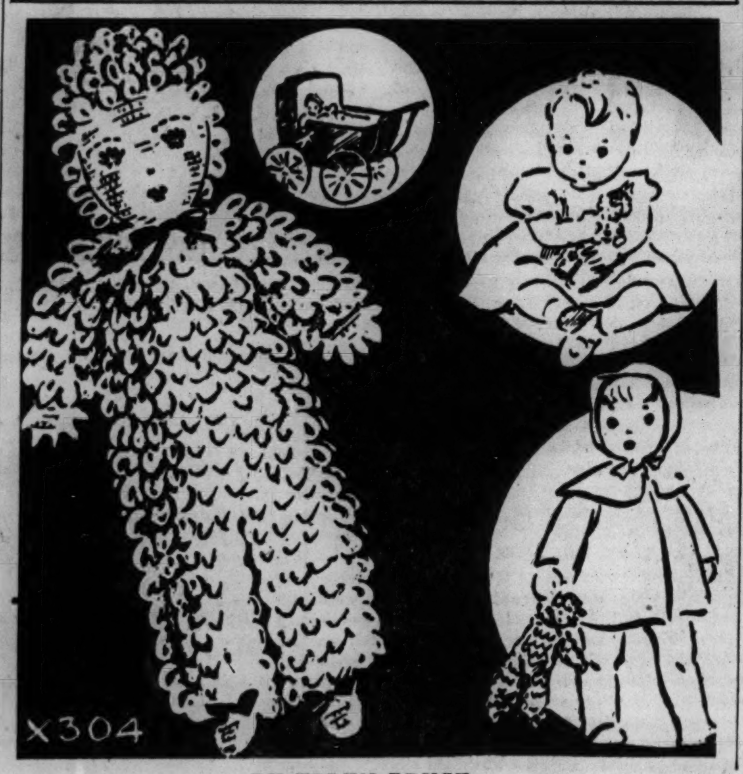
Salvation Army Women to Entertain Volunteers

The women's division of the Salvation Army this afternoon will be hostess at tea to volunteer workers who assisted in the Army's Doughnut day sale last year. The tea will be held at the William Booth Memorial Training college, 700 Brompton place.

Crocheted "Cuddle" Toy



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Cuddle toys have enjoyed a vogue which was unheard of 40 or 50 years ago. These soft, crocheted dolls possess all the charm and characteristics of their more sturdy brethren, but are positively harmless to the infant who decides to pound the hapless creature or throw it with all the power in his tiny arms. The single crochet and loop combination again have united to create one of the most amusing and decidedly lovable dolls of the season.

For instructions in crocheting the white cuddle doll, No. X-304, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

De Paul Plans Secretarial Scholarship Examinations

Competitive examinations for five full year and five half year scholarships will be held at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. tomorrow in the secretarial department of De Paul university, 64 East Lake street. Seniors in the upper half of their class in private and public schools are eligible.

Carveth Wells to Close Field Museum Lectures

Carveth Wells, explorer and writer, will give the final lecture of the current series at Field Museum of Natural Hitstory tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. His lecture, "Returns to Malaya," will be illustrated with color motion pictures taken by him. Included are the only pictures of animals ever made in the Malayan jungle.

Push Low Cost Recordings to Build Audiences

More than 1,000 friends of music will open a campaign at a dinner meeting April 30 in the Drake hotel to popularize great music in Chicago by making phonograph recordings of a dozen musical masterpieces available to the public at 15 to 20 per cent of the usual cost.

From this, it is hoped, will develop greater audiences for the opera company, symphony orchestra, summer symphonic programs at Ravinia, and concerts and recitals of artists appearing in Chicago.

Among the speakers will be Gladys Swarthout, opera singer; Hendrik Willem Van Loon, author; Fannie Hurst, novelist; Olga Samaroff Stokowski, former wife of the Philadelphia symphony conductor; Dr. Peter Dykema, director of the music education department at Teachers' college, Columbia university, and Carleton Sprague Smith, head of the music division of the New York Public library.

The National Committee for Musical Appreciation, which has begun similar programs in Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, and other large cities, undertook the campaign to distribute low price recordings in the belief that many music enthusiasts are now unable to afford symphonic music albums.

Such recordings have heretofore cost $10 and $12 or more. The Chicago committee will sell complete symphonies, consisting of three or four 12 inch double faced records, at less than $2—perhaps as low as $1.59. The low price has been made possible by persuading the orchestras to waive royalties and by reducing manufacturing cost and dealers' profit. One recording by one of the country's great symphony orchestras will be released each week for 12 weeks.

The first release May 4 will be Schubert's Eighth Symphony in B Minor, the "Unfinished"; the second, May 11, will be Beethoven's Fifth, and the third, May 18, Tschaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite. These will be followed by works by Bach, Brahms, Wagner, Haydn, Franck, Mozart, and Debussy.

A number of music stores will stock the recordings.

Lawrence W. Scudder is chairman of the appreciation committee, and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne are in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Only about one-tenth of all the agonizing that goes on over the choice of a discard is justified. Almost invariably the problem is susceptible to the most clear cut analysis and can be decided without fuss or fuming. It is enough to reflect, "Well, if I have to guard such and such a suit, it simply means that I am placing the declarer with a card that would give him his crucial trick, anyway. Keeping that suit would only be guarding against overtricks. I'll assume, therefore, that declarer does not hold that card. That will allow me to guard the other suit." This precise reasoning would have defeated today's hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth highest spade, and declarer allowed both the queen and king to hold. East then shifted to his top club, which declarer won, after which the entire club suit was run off. On the fourth and fifth clubs East let go hearts, which would not have been fatal had declarer not put East in the position of choosing another discard for the ace of spades. On this latter trick East, of course, had to let go either a diamond or a heart. Completely blind to the fact that the declarer already had six tricks home, and that the ace and king of hearts were in clear sight for two additional tricks, East pondered mightily over the proper discard. He finally decided that he must hold on to his diamond stopper at all costs, thus preventing declarer from entering dummy with a heart honor and supposedly finessing the diamond queen thru East for the cashing of three diamond tricks.

Nothing could have been more short sighted than East's analysis. The contract was three no trump, and it should have been a matter of indifference to East if the declarer was going to make three, whether he made as many as five. The vital point was that if declarer had the diamond ace, he could lay down his nine tricks, and the proper defense for East, therefore, was to play as tho declarer did not have that crucial card. He should have recognized the possibility that his partner might have the heart queen insufficiently guarded, and consequently should have held on to his three hearts to the jack for dear life. Obviously, had he done so declarer could never have made more than eight tricks.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 25.—Edward R. Bradley's Bimelech, the Kentucky Derby favorite, made his first start of the season today before 13,000, the largest crowd that ever had gathered at the Keeneland track. He ran as tho he were in the peak of condition, outsprinting a horse noted for tremendous early speed and then coming home at an easy gallop to win the $5,000 Blue Grass stakes, the most important test for the Kentucky contingent of Derby candidates.

He finished 2½ lengths ahead of Joseph E. Widener's Roman, which beat Bimelech's stablemate, Bashful Duck, by another three. These were the only horses which went to the post. The time for the mile and an eighth was 1:51.

Keeps Record Clear.

By this performance Bimelech kept his record clear. In six starts as a 2 year old he had gone undefeated. His most recent quotation in the Derby future books was 8 to 5, but his odds were expected to drop still further after today's achievement. He showed that he won't be bothered at all by the mile and a quarter of the Derby, which will be run a week from Saturday at Churchill Downs. This was the first time he had been asked to go more than a mile and a sixteenth, but he did it so easily after that burst of early speed that he implied he could go any distance which will be required of him.

The spectators were so enthusiastic about Bimelech that they applauded him vigorously as he came out on the track and then rushed to support him so stoutly that he was 1 to 10 in the mutuels. He paid off at $2.20. The conduct of a portion of the crowd recalled the old time Derby procedure, for just before the race many climbed the outer rail near the gap leading to the stables and dashed across to get positions of vantage in the infield. Bradley, seated in his limousine near the clubhouse, saw every stride of the horse he treasures so highly.

Roman Sets Brilliant Pace.

As starter Bill Hamilton sent them away, Roman, as had been expected, stepped away and set a brilliant pace. Jockey F. A. Smith, however, let Bimelech go right out to run with him. On the swing around the first turn, the Bradley star had his nose even with the haunches of the Joseph E. Widener colorbearer. They were at the quarter in :23 1-5. When they straightened out for the run down the backstretch, Bimelech went after his rival in earnest. He edged up beside him and passed him. As they completed the half mile in :46 3-5, Smith took a last look over his shoulder. Then he settled down to ride with cool judgment. Bimelech completed the three-quarters in 1:11 2-5 and the mile in 1:37 2-5. Meanwhile, he had opened a two length lead. Roman hung on gamely, but couldn't cut into the leader's advantage.

Bradley had won three previous Blue Grass Stakes when the event was run at the old Lexington track. Bubbling Over, Black Servant and Busy American performed these feats for him.

Sirocco Takes Woodburn.

Sirocco, the Dixiana farm's Derby candidate, gave an excellent performance in winning the Woodburn handicap. Without extending himself at any time in the course of the mile and a sixteenth gallop, he got home two lengths ahead of the Widener stable's Bucking, while Al Ferguson's Black Brummel, another Derby candidate, was third, a length and a half further back. Hal Price Headley's Flying Lee and Miss Ruth Sidell's Sir Jim James completed the field.

The race indicated that Black Brummel may not be ready for the Derby. Sirocco conquered him easily when they locked for a brief duel approaching the stretch and the Ferguson horse tired thereafter.

Sirocco and Black Brummel shared the heaviest betting support, the former being quoted at 2 to 1 and the

Threats at Drake

Michigan's Ralph Schwartzkopf will seek to better the Drake relays two mile record set by Gregory Rice of Notre Dame at 9:10. The relays will be held today and tomorrow in Des Moines, Ia.

Fred Wolcott of Rice, who set the Drake 120 yard high hurdles record of :14:2 in 1938 and retained his title last year, will seek his third victory tomorrow.

CHICAGO, PURDUE OPEN TWO GAME SERIES ON MIDWAY

Two game series involving six of the Big 9½ baseball teams are scheduled for today and tomorrow, while two other clubs play nonconference teams. Chicago, beaten four straight times, opens a series this afternoon on the Midway against Purdue. Iowa and Wisconsin clash today and tomorrow in Madison, while Illinois opens Ohio State's season in Columbus.

Northwestern will meet Notre Dame in Evanston tomorrow. Minnesota, which has not yet played a conference game, will take on Luther in Minneapolis today. Wisconsin and Illinois are tied for first place with three triumphs and one defeat.

Armstrong Meets Junior Tonight in 15 Round Bout

Boston, Mass., April 25 (AP).—Henry Armstrong will defend his world welterweight title against Paul Junior of Lewiston, Me., 30 year old veteran of more than 300 bouts, in a 15 round fight tomorrow night in Boston Garden. Altho Armstrong is a heavy favorite and the National Boxing association refuses to regard this bout as a championship affair, Promoter Rip Valenti reports the advance sale indicates a crowd of 18,000.

INDIANA PICKED TO WIN DISTANCE MEDLEY AT DRAKE

Two Day Relay Carnival Opens Today.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., April 25.—The athletes from nearly half of the 73 colleges and universities entered in the 31st Drake relays tomorrow and Saturday gathered here this evening. Light showers fell tonight, and despite a forecast for occasional rain tomorrow, it is doubtful if the precipitation will slow the track.

Those who had not reported with the vanguard, and all of the 99 high schools competing in eight relays, will check in tomorrow morning. This final university list includes all of the members of the Western conference and Notre Dame.

High in Rivalry Seen.

With the exception of Ohio State, which has sent only two athletes, the Big 9½ universities and the Irish have entered complete teams. With this enrollment, largest in 11 years, and with the help of the Big Six, Texas, Rice, and other outstanding Southwestern conference teams, the relays promise a new high in enthusiasm and competition and possibly in attendance.

Unlike other relays, the field of universities and colleges here is so large that tomorrow's schedule is not merely a series of preliminaries interspaced with high school events. Six relays for colleges and universities and three of the ten individual events will be held tomorrow.

Tomorrow's relay finals are:

College [Division two for those permitting freshmen to compete] sprint medley relay.

Iowa Intercollegiate association half mile relay.

Iowa Intercollegiate association mile relay.

Broad Jump Finals Today.

Individual championships in the broad jump, discus throw, and two mile run will be determined tomorrow.

Besides this program, which actually rivals Saturday's championships, preliminaries will be held in the 100 yard dash, high hurdles, shotput, javelin throw, university quarter mile, half mile, and mile relays, and college mile relay [divisions one and two].

The university distance medley is the feature team event tomorrow. Indiana university is favored to win, since the Hoosiers established a new indoor record of 10:10.3 in the Butler relays, but Michigan, finishing second in the same race, also bettered the former mark. Last Saturday in the Hoosier relays, Indiana again won from Michigan, but both were experimenting with personnel. Indiana used Bob Hoke, Bill Menke, Edgar Hedges, and Wayne Tolliver. Substituting Campbell Kane for Tolliver will give the Hoosiers a big lift.

Competition for Schwarzkopf.

The Drake record is 10:06.1, established two years ago by Wisconsin. Missouri is defending champion. Michigan's distance medley team likely will be composed of Dye Hogan, Warren Breidenbach, Tom Jester, and Ralph Schwarzkopf. Capt. Schwarzkopf, however, may not run. This depends entirely on how he fares in the two mile event.

The 2 mile run comes first, however, and there is an hour and a half rest before the distance medley in which Schwarzkopf would run the mile. So it is likely he will compete in both regardless of his success in seeking to better Rice's record of 9:10.

The 2 mile championship doesn't belong to Schwarzkopf until he proves superiority over such other distance men as Forest Efaw, Oklahoma A. & M., John Munski of Missouri, who is in the same competitive predicament as the Michigan captain, and Gilbert Dodds of Ashland, O., college.

The defending champions in the broad jump and discus throw are favorites in these events. Billy Brown of Louisiana State, who also took the 100 yard sprint title last year, has the best competitive record in the broad jump. He jumped 24 feet 9¾ inches to win his championship. Edsel Wibbels of Nebraska defends his all-time Drake discus record of 158.29 feet.

BY ARCH WARD.

FRANK McCORMICK, the Reds' talented first baseman, doesn't believe in layoffs. . . . He's in his third season as a major leaguer and hasn't missed a game. . . . Drs. The athletic inclosure at Colorado Springs will be known hereafter as Spencer Penrose stadium instead of Will Rogers stadium. . . . Red Dawson, Tulane football coach, rates Tom O'Boyle and Claude Groves, who will co-captain the Green Wave next fall, the two best guards in the game. . . . O'Boyle is from Gary. . . . George Bresnahan's Iowa teams have won 13 titles in Drake relays competition, second only to Illinois in the Big 9½, but the Hawkeyes' prospects of upholding their prestige in this year's meet are not very bright. . . . A racing tire for the 500 mile race at Indianapolis costs $25. . . . It has no tread and is filled with hydrogen instead of air. . . . Professional golfers will vie this year for purses totaling $200,000, an increase of $25,000 over last season. . . . Jimmy Foxx says more than half of all home runs are hit off curve balls, not fast balls, as many fans believe. . . . The word pari-mutuels is a corruption of Paris mutuels. . . . The system originated in the French capital and was introduced to American race tracks in 1877. . . . A Flint, Mich., business man has made the trip to Louisville at Derby time for the last 20 years without seeing a race. . . . He stays up all night and spends Derby day in his Pullman berth. . . . He says he goes just for the ride and companionship anyway.

Hutchiana.

Wonder what the Big 9½ directors who accepted Dr. Hutchins' denial that he ever stated "you can't play Western conference football without being crooked" are going to ask Santa to put in their stockings next Christmas?—J. F. P., Urbana.

Interested to note that Fielding Yost, Zora Clevenger, Tug Wilson, Wendell Wilson, L. W. St. John, and Nelson Metcalf have gone Hollywood. You can get a "yes" out of them quicker than at a film story conference.—Blitz Kleig.

The fellow who operated the shell game at the old time county fairs was a piker compared with Dr. Hutchins, University of Chicago's brilliant open field runner. Whereas the county fair slicker had to fool only the country yokels with his sleight of hand performance, Dr. Hutchins' sleight-of-tongue feat in convincing six directors of the Big 9½ that he has no quarrel with their football was a masterpiece. Maybe the doctor has proven his point that brain is superior to brawn.—Earl of Ann Arbor.

I have a little boy who likes to tell bedtime stories. Do you think you could prevail upon the six directors who believe Dr. Hutchins meant no harm in his vaporings about football last winter to come up some night and listen to the lad do his stuff? Maybe Maj. Griffith could arrange to come with them.—Chicago '16.

Autograph.

My rooms are not becluttered
With framed photographs and such
Of people who have made the grade
And amount to "quite a much";
No dashing autographs of those
Who flashed to sudden fame
And found the pack all clamoring
To possess their written name.

The pictures scattered here and there
Upon my desk and tables
Are folks you've never read about
In any glamor fables;
A few are signed, but of them all
I value one no end
Which bears life's three most poignant words:
"Faithfully, your friend"!
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Back Street.

Each night 'neath the street lamp they walk arm in arm,
Two "kids" who are both in their teens,
And they never once stop to notice the rags
That cover them up in blacks and in greens.

For what is a skirt to a fellow who knows
The value that lies in her eyes?
And what is a shirt to a lassie who finds
Beside her a god from the skies?

And what if her curls are windblown and free,
And her lips of the natural pink?
And what if his pockets are empty of coin
When his heart can flow full to the brink?

In the darkness of back street the stars can swing low
And grandeur will write out her name
When a girl thinks a lot of a penniless boy
—F. H. Keith.

The Morning Paper Was Right.

1. Chicago afternoon newspaper reports that "unknown spokesman" for University of Chicago says "you can't play football in the Big Ten" without being crooked.

[A] University of Chicago makes no correction.

2. Chicago morning newspaper several weeks later reveals the "unknown spokesman" is Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago.

3. A few days ago, at emergency meeting of the Big 9½, Dr. Hutchins, thru his athletic director, denies making statement attributed to him.

Question: Why did it take Dr. Hutchins so long to get around to making a statement?

Another question: Now that he's denied it—who's in error, the newspapers or the learned educator?

Lefty Smith Is Good, but Indians March On.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 25. — Lefty Edgar Smith, who has been doing the best pitching of his career, has the most thankless job in the majors. He pitches for the White Sox when they face Bobby Feller, and the Sox don't fancy Bobby Feller. Today Edgar turned in his second brilliant job against Feller and the Cleveland Indians, and for the second time was supplied with no runs whatsoever. After Edgar had gone to the bathhouse the boys managed to score a run in the ninth for their end of a tabulation which read: Cleveland, 3; Chicago, 1, and dropped the Sox into the American league cellar.

The Sox seemed to feel rather proud of having kept the Iowa wonder boy from duplicating the no-hitter he pitched against them in Chicago on the opening day of the American league season on April 16. Their joy in ducking a shutout in the ninth was boundless, but it all was skimpy reward for Pitcher Smith, who had held the Indians to one earned and one unearned run in seven innings before he gave way to one of two pinch strikers-out.

Rollie Is the Villain.

As in Chicago, when Feller won, 1 to 0, on a run batted in by Catcher Rollie Hemsley's triple, Bob's pet battery mate supplied the power which was enough to beat Smith today. Rollie knocked a homer in the second inning which stood up as the game's only run until the seventh. Then a safe bunt precipitated a fielding lapse which gave the Indians their second and winning score. The third Cleveland run was a homer which Jeff Heath smashed off Clint Brown in the eighth.

It hardly seems possible, but the Sox outhit the Indians, eight to seven. But when the jams came, Sox hitters started waving their wands in graceful but impotent arcs. Taft Wright made three hits and drew one of Feller's two passes for a perfect day at bat. His third hit drove in Julius Solters, who walked at the start of the ninth.

Bob Does His Best.

Of the wasted shots the most rousing was a triple by Bob Kennedy with one out in the eighth. Kennedy also wasted a single in the third. Feller struck out eight in nine innings, the same number that Smith fanned in seven innings. Joe Kuhel, Solters and Eric McNair each struck out twice. Pinch Batter Larry Rosenthal was called out on strikes in the eighth and Pinch Batter Tom Turner ended the game with a strikeout.

It was the third setback in a row

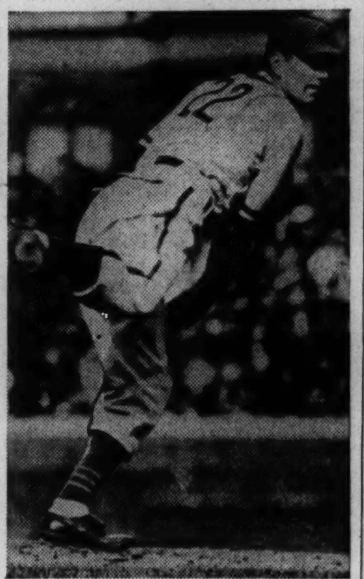
Great Man at Work



Dizzy Dean caught in action by the camera yesterday while giving the National league champion Cincinnati Reds their first defeat of the season. Dizzy (above) releases pitch.

NURMI TO SAIL FOR HOME; HOPES HE GETS THERE

New York, April 25 [Special].—Altho he is not quite sure how he will be able to complete his journey, Paavo Nurmi will leave for Finland Saturday on the Italian liner Conte Di Savoia, bound for Genoa. His trip to this country was a simple voyage from Norway to the United States. Now, however, he will have to go by train from Genoa to Berlin, fly to Stockholm—if the Swedes permit German planes to fly there by that time—and then fly to Helsingfors. Otherwise, he might have to detour by way of Lithuania or one of the Baltic states.

Nurmi is leaving behind his compatriot, Taisto Maki, who is entered in a race in Minneapolis on May 4 and in another in Los Angeles on May 17. Then Maki will fly to New York and take a Clipper plane to Europe.

CHAMPIONS GET ONLY 5 HITS OFF CUBS' PITCHER

Derringer's Magic Fails for Once.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Mr. Dizzy Dean, no longer the privileged member of the Cub ensemble, but a fellow somewhat alarmed by a work-or-quit edict, really did a little pitching yesterday in Wrigley field. He wasn't the show boating Diz of palmier days, but nevertheless he accomplished enough accurate throwing to set back the titleholding Cincinnati Reds. Meanwhile, his Cub associates did sufficient damage with their bats to make the famous man's second start of the season a howling success before a crowd of 5,965. The score was 4 to 2.

Mr. Dean's response to the order that his days of luxurious loafing were over was all the more remarkable considering that he met up with Paul Derringer, the man who beats a lot of teams, but specializes on the Cubs. But it turned out to be a rare experience for the Rhineland ace. The Cubs really hit big Paul with abandon, thereby reminding him that the last league decision he lost was to the same club in Chicago on Aug. 10 of last season. In the interval he won 11 straight. The Cubs now can boast of having trimmed him eight time in five years while losing to him 24 times.

First Defeat for Reds.

To make Dean's day of triumph complete, he eliminated the champions from the ranks of the unbeaten. They had won three straight.

The now chastened Dean, who probably will break out again with off the field headliners if he wins a few more, started as if he didn't intend to stay out in the cold any longer than necessary. He was wild in the first inning, walking three, one intentionally. Mixed with the gratuities was a safe bunt which Diz heaved badly to first and from this series of happenings the champions carved a pair of runs.

But thereafter Mr. Diz was quite a stylish workman, even tho his old fire ball wasn't included in his répertoire.

Dean was slightly on the chute in the second when the stabbing of a line drive by Billy Herman headed off a brewing storm, but from then on to the finish the Reds cut few capers. They made a hit in the third, their second, and only three more in the last five innings for a total of five. Nobody walked after the second and nobody reached third base after the opening inning.

Cubs Score Three in Third.

And while this was going on the Cubs were pointing proudly to the fact that Augie Galan, Hank Leiber, and Phil Cavarretta had contributed to a three run attack against Derringer in the third. They picked up their extra run in the sixth, this move being engineered by none other than Dean in person.

The first piece of trouble Dean encountered in the opening inning was Bill Nicholson's muff of Billy Werber's tall foul, after which Werber drew a pass. Lonnie Frey also walked. Ival Goodman bunted to Dean's right and Diz's throw to first was just late enough to hit the runner in the back. The combination of hit and error sent Werber home, put Frey on third, and Goodman on second. The bases were filled by presenting Frank McCormick with a pass. Ernie Lombardi let go a terrific drive toward Diz, who stuck up his glove and knocked down the ball. He recovered in time to throw out Frey at the plate. Harry Craft's fly to Nicholson let Goodman score. Herman tossed out Mike McCormick.

Three On—Cubs Fail to Score.

The Cubs experienced one of their famous fadeouts in the second, but in view of what they did in the next

THE ANGEL DROPS GUS SONNENBERG FOR THIRD TIME

Marshall, Thesz Draw; McMillen Wins.

Maurice Tillet, better known as the Angel, threw Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth football player, in 17 minutes of wrestling in the Coliseum last night. The victory was Tillet's third in a row over Sonnenberg.

Everett Marshall and Lou Thesz wrestled 30 minutes without reaching a verdict in a semi-final. Jim McMillen beat Rudy Kay in 16:35. Bill Lee, Green Bay Packer tackle, threw Hans Schnabel in 14:22. In the opening match Juan Humberto and Bert Rubi went 20 minutes to no decision. The attendance was 3,235 and gross receipts $2,669.70.

George Parnassus, manager of Ceferino Garcia, yesterday was forced to refuse a $10,000 offer to meet Tony Zale in Chicago Stadium May 10. Parnassus, who has given Promoter Mike Jacobs exclusive rights to Garcia's services, asked Jacobs to release him for the Zale match, but Jacobs refused. At the same time the New York boxing czar ordered Garcia to go thru with a 15 round match against Ken Overlin in Madison Square garden May 24. Garcia left for his home in Los Angeles after scoring a four round technical knockout over Allen Matthews in Kansas City Wednesday. . . . Bill Duncan, former St. Charles middleweight, has signed to meet Booker Beckwith in a five round semi-final to a 10 round event involving Nate Bolden and Marty Simmons in White City next Friday. . . . Promoter Alex Veck is seeking Everett Rightmire, Sioux City, Ia., junior lightweight, for a 10 round contest against Nick Castiglione in White City May 17.—F. M.

Fenske Hopeful of 4:10.8 Mile in Penn Relays

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25 (AP).—New records in a half dozen of the feature events appeared likely tonight as the vanguard of some 3,000 athletes gathered for tomorrow's opening of the 46th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival.

Foremost record in jeopardy is Glenn Cunningham's 4:11.8 mark for the mile. Coach Lawson Robertson of Penn expects Chuck Fenske to lower it by a second or so.

"I don't expect to see a new world record for the mile," Robertson commented, "but if he is in good condition, Fenske, pushed by Gene Venzke and Walter Mehl should finish under Cunningham's present record. Venzke is familiar with the track, having run here as an undergraduate, while Mehl is a coming star and there's no telling what he may do."

Shotput Mark Periled.

Fenske, Venzke, and Mehl will be given every possible aid in their assault on the record. The track will be dressed just before the race.

Al Blozis, Georgetown's young giant, looks like a sure bet to crack the carnival shotput mark of 52 feet 9¼ inches. He already has tossed the iron ball more than 55 feet in indoor competition. Matt Flaherty of New Hampshire and Stanley Johnson of Maine both have bettered the carnival hammer throw record of 169 feet, 5 3-16 inches in competition.

Mile Relay a Feature.

Robertson also foresees possible new marks for the 440, 880 and mile relays, with Pittsburgh, New York University and North Texas Teachers as most likely to set them. The North Texas foursome turned in a 3:16.8 mile, only two seconds over the record, just a week ago and may do even better with the fleet Pitt and N. Y. U. quartets running against them.

BERKMAN'S TEAM WINS FEATURE IN HANDBALL MEET

David Aronson and Archie Karasik of Berkman's Handball club defeated Marty Swift and Ed Piotter of the Madison A. C. in the Midwest A. C. last night in a feature match of the first round of the Central A. A. U. novice handball tournament. The scores were 21-12, 21-12. Other first round results were:

Kane and Faul, Madison A. C., defeated Puhra and Hade, unattached, 21-14, 21-18. Burdac and O'Connor, Madison A. C., defeated Berry and Shimkus, unattached, 21-10, 14-21, 21-12. Wayne and Eritt, Midwest A. C., defeated Pennock and Burbank, Aurora Y., 21-20, 21-5. Quigley and McElligott, Madison A. C., defeated Beriskin and Duboll, unattached, 21-10, 21-14. Libnon and Velie, Midwest A. C., defeated Clark and Ford, Midwest A. C., by default.

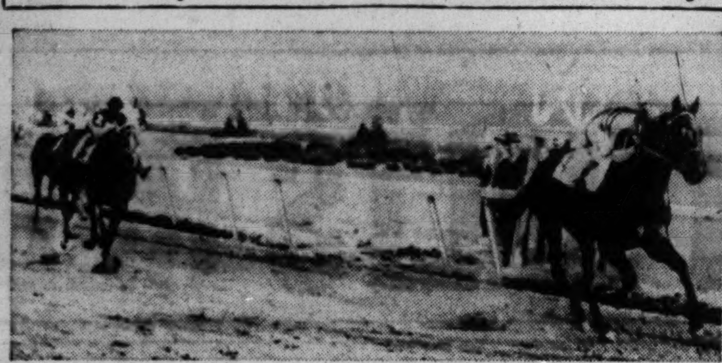
Lou Ambers Wins Over Quarles in Nontitle Bout

Charleston, W. Va., April 25 (AP).—Lou Ambers, lightweight champion, won a unanimous 10 round decision over Norment Quarles of Richmond, Va., in a nontitle fight tonight. Ambers drew blood from the Virginian's nose in the fifth round. Twice the champion's lefts jolted Quarles onto the ropes. Benny Leonard, retired lightweight champion, refereed. Ambers weighed 140 and Quarles 139½.

Chisick of Villanova Signs with Chicago Cardinals

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25 (AP).—Andy Chisick, star Villanova college football center, signed a contract today with Coach Jimmy Conzelman to play professional football next season with the Chicago Cardinals of the National league. Chisick had rejected two previous offers in hopes of finding a coaching berth. Conzelman's personal visit on the campus today changed his mind.

This May Be a Preview of the Derby



E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, the people's choice to win the Kentucky Derby on May 4, wins by two and one-half lengths from other Derby eligibles in yesterday's Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland. Roman, which also has a lot of support for the Derby, is second, and Bashful Duck, another Bradley horse (half hidden) is third. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Springfield, Ill., April 25 (AP).—Gov. Horner today reappointed the three members of the state athletic commission. Fitzpatrick of Springfield was renamed to serve until 1942, and Sheldon Clark of Chicago was reappointed to a term expiring in 1943.

Tanforan Bars Suspended Jockey from Visiting Track

San Francisco, Cal., April 25 (AP).—Fred Scheih, jockey suspended by the Tanforan board of stewards, was notified today he would be barred from visiting the track pending investigation of charges of fraudulent practices. The stewards also gave Saul Greenberg, suspended trainer, permission to supervise the stable of Dave Butler, Hollywood film director, until appointment of a successor. Scheih, 21 year old rider from Dietrich, Idaho, and Greenberg, resident of Ashbrook Heights, N. J., were named in joint charges by the track officials.

PIERCE WARNS GOLF AMATEURS ABOUT EXPENSES

New York, April 25 (AP).—Harold W. Pierce of Boston, president of the United States Golf association, today warned the nation's amateur golfers that the U. S. G. A. plans a stricter application of the amateur rule in the future.

He said the association would make an example of any prominent player found overstepping the bounds of amateur conduct. Pierce, en route to an executive meeting in Washington, D C., did not name any names, but it was assumed he referred to various amateurs who have made a tour of the summer and winter circuits with the professionals.

He said the U. S. G. A. did not mean to go out of its way to do any detective work, but, he added, he would welcome the chance to air any flagrant violations by a leading amateur so that such a case would serve as an example. The section of the amateur code to which he referred deals with the payment of expenses.

SHOT TO SUBDUE MUSKIE IS STILL O.K. IN WISCONSIN

Plan to Outlaw Gun's Use Rejected by State.

BY BOB BECKER.

Muskie fishermen who are planning to go north next month to open the season won't have to leave their shooting irons behind them. Nor will the guides in the north country be obliged to park their revolvers when they take fishermen out on a lake, for the regulation which was proposed last year to ban the use of firearms on hooked muskies will not be in force this season. The proposal to outlaw the practice of shooting a muskie before it is brought into the boat, a common routine in Wisconsin, was turned down by the Wisconsin conservation commission.

Muskie fishermen first heard talk about Wisconsin's plan to stop the practice of shooting a big muskie or northern pike [before it is boated], last season. Fishermen were divided into two camps over the proposal. One side favored the idea of using firearms in ending the struggles of a muskie on a hook and the other wanted the guns banned.

Devine Makes Ruling.

The verbal battle is now over because Barney Devine, chief of the enforcement division of the conservation department, said this week that it is legal for any fisherman to shoot a legal length muskie [or northern pike] on a hook and line if he wants to. Devine added that he hoped all fishermen would confine the use of firearms to these fresh water species, and, above all, continue to be careful in using guns on well populated lakes.

After looking at the new gaff which has made its appearance this year we wonder if many muskie fishermen won't want to lay aside their guns and play with this novel new gadget which we inspected this week in a Chicago sporting goods store.

How It Operates.

This gaff utilizes the power of a spring operated pistol. In fact, the foundation of it is this spring gun mechanism with a trigger and a good pistol grip so you can hang onto it.

The gaff part is a long stiletto with a point as sharp as a needle. This long sliver of steel is shot into a fish by simply pulling a trigger. The sharp tip can go just so far. Then it is caught by a small round disk and held there firmly by spring pressure. Thus when you shoot this sharp dagger-gaff into a fish, it goes thru the body of the fish and then the struggling muskie or pickerel is pinioned by steel against steel. All the fisherman has to do after the gaff has penetrated his catch is to hang on.

Immediately after the break, Jockey George Wallace sent Black Brummel out and as they went around the first turn, the Ferguson color-bearer had full command. Approaching the back stretch, Al Bodiou let Sirocco go and the Dixiana representative quickly moved past Sir Jim James. Bucking trailed the leader effortlessly. The pacesetters' positions remained unchanged going down the back stretch, tho Flying Lee went up to engage Bucking for third place.

On the last turn, Bodiou called on his mount. Going to the outside, Sirocco passed Black Brummel and drew away handily thereafter.

Don Meade, storm center of controversy since he was ruled off the turf by the Florida commission in 1936 for betting on one horse and riding another in the same race, was granted a license today by the Kentucky racing commission. He is scheduled to ride one of the Bradley horses, Bimelech or Bashful Duck, in the Derby.

Reinstated in Florida.

After a period of exile, Meade was reinstated in Florida in December of 1938 and subsequently was issued licenses in New York, Massachusetts, and other eastern states.

Last year the Bradley organization sent Bimelech and Boy Angler from New York to Chicago to run as an entry in the rich Arlington Futurity. Simultaneously Meade came west to apply for a license to ride Boy Angler in that race. The Illinois commission, composed of Chairman Leo Spitz, William Schlake, and Walter Peacock, rejected Meade's application. Both Bimelech and Boy Angler were withdrawn from the Futurity and shipped back to the east, the stable issuing a statement that the action was taken because of track conditions.

The second annual Chicago High School Bowling Congress will be rolled tomorrow on the alleys of the Uptown Recreation, 1103 Bryn Mawr avenue, A. H. Pritzlaff, director of athletics and recreation for the Chicago board of education, announced yesterday. Bowling will start at 2 p. m.

The school team which scores the highest total of pins in three games will be declared the Chicago high school champion. A shield emblematic of the high school title will go to the winning school, while the first three individual winners will receive championship ribbons.

The singles champion of the high schools last season was Roy Heogh of Austin, who has been graduated. Lane won the team championship.

Hold Funeral Services Sunday for Joe Jacobs

New York, April 25 (AP).—Joe Jacobs, the little fellow with the big cigar who was the fight game's most colorful figure and lavish spender, will be buried Sunday, but the boxing world isn't going to forget him in a hurry.

In fact, about the same time funeral plans were announced for the fight manager, who died last night, Tony Galento, the last of his fighters, insisted he was going thru with his May 28 battle with Max Baer in Jersey City—and would dedicate that battle to Jacobs.

Jacobs will get the kind of funeral he would have liked. The New York boxing writers will be pallbearers. Services will be at the Riverside chapel at 9 a. m., Sunday, and interment will be in Mount Judah cemetery, Cypress Hills, L. I.

Jacobs, a product of New York's "Hell's Kitchen," died shortly after returning from Galento's beer place in Orange, N. J., just 13 days before his 44th birthday.

Galento, who sobbed his grief over Jacobs' body last night, conferred with Promoter Mike Jacobs today and afterward said his manager's death would have no effect on the Baer fight. "I'm more determined than ever to go thru with the bout now," Tony said. "And after I whip Max I'm gonna take on Joe Louis again and win the title. That's what Joe wanted."

A big favorite here, Harvester is America's greatest five-cent cigar value. It's no wonder because you enjoy the taste of costly Havana tobacco blended into the heart of every Harvester. That richer, more satisfying flavor is the reason you see so many regular cigarette and pipe smokers changing their pace with a Harvester. Try some today.

CASEY, DODGERS DEFEAT PHILLIES FOR FIFTH IN ROW

Brooklyn Stays Unbeaten; Foes Held to 5 Hits.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers mounted into exclusive possession of first place in the National league today with a 3 to 1 victory over the Phillies. This was the season's second triumph for Hugh Casey, who yielded only five hits. Two came in the first inning for the Phillies' one run.

Rookie Catcher Herman Franks continued his heavy hitting with two singles, one of them batting in the Dodgers' first run in the second. Dolph Camilli hit a homer in the sixth and Casey scored in the seventh on a balk by Ike Pearson, who subsequently was removed for a pinch hitter.

The victory was Brooklyn's fifth without defeat. Score:

TURNER, BEARS' NEW CENTER, TO CHECK IN TODAY

Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, who played a lot of center for Hardin-Simmons university in Abilene, Tex., isn't wasting any time in becoming a member of the Chicago Bears' 1940 team.

Turner, drafted by the Bears after the close of last season, will arrive in Chicago tonight by plane. George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, will meet the big rookie at Chicago Airport, and tomorrow they will sit down to discuss terms.

Altho he played for a college that did not meet major opponents, Turner was recognized last year as one of the best centers in the country. His play was outstanding in the East-West game in San Francisco.

inning the swoon was quickly forgiven. Leiber walked to open the second. Nicholson survived on F. McCormick's fumble and Cavarretta's pop single to left jammed the bases. Then Al Todd popped to Frey, Bobby Mattick ignored a third strike and the budding rally wilted completely on Dean's pop to F. McCormick.

Herman walked with one out in the third and the next few minutes were more stormy than otherwise for the Cubs' time honored nemesis. Galan lined a single to right, Herman galloping to third. Leiber caromed a single off Billy Myers' glove, Herman scoring and Galan going to third, whence he scored the tying run while Nicholson was being thrown out. Cavarretta punctured the shortstop defense with a single and Leiber sprinted across the plate. Todd extended the fun by singling to center, but Mattick bounced to Werber.

Dean helped to put himself in more comfortable circumstances in the sixth. He started the inning by singling to left and Stan Hack assisted him to second by bunting. Herman smacked a single between third and short and Diz paraded across the plate. Galan fouled to Lombardi, Herman stole second and Leiber arrived at first on Myers' fumble. Derringer had no difficulty quelling the little disturbance. It was done on Nicholson's pop fly to Frey.

Gene Thompson whipped the Cubs in the second game in Cincinnati and he'll endeavor to repeat the dose today in the second game of the current set in Wrigley field. The Cub starter will be Claude Passeau. He has lost two and won none.

The Reds received hourly bulletins yesterday on the water stage in their own home park. Latest report indicated the one foot of water on the field had started to recede so the champs possibly will be able to play there tomorrow as scheduled.

When Frank McCormick fumbled Bill Nicholson's grounder at first base in the second inning he shattered a mark of which the Reds were right proud. It was their first error of the season.

Roettger, Vogel to Join Doan School Faculty

Walter Roettger, baseball coach at the University of Illinois, yesterday was added to the coaching staff of Ray Doan's traveling baseball school. Roettger formerly was an outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds. Otto Vogel, University of Iowa baseball coach, also will be a member of the Doan faculty. It is headed by Babe Ruth. Other members are Gabby Street, Jim Vaughn, and Bob O'Farrell. Four more instructors will be added. The school will open in Chicago on June 1.

Morton Beats Proviso, 4 to 2, for 4th Victory

Morton High school's baseball team still is on top in the Suburban league. The leaders yesterday afternoon scored their fourth victory of the season, defeating Proviso, 4 to 2, in Cicero. Proviso led, 2 to 0, until the fourth inning, when Morton scored four runs.

Waukegan's nine triumphed over Highland Park, 16 to 1, in another Suburban league contest. Waukegan now is tied with Proviso for third place, each with two victories and two defeats.

Fenger, behind the pitching of Stevenson, won from Morgan Park, 6 to 0, in a south section game in the Public High School league. The game was moved up from today's schedule. Stevenson held Morgan Park to one hit.

Steinmetz, leader in the west division of the Public School league, added Oak Park to its list of victims, winning, 4 to 3, in a practice game in Oak Park. Steinmetz scored the winning run in the last inning. Scores:

Bubelka hit 680 and Ivaska 580 in the doubles.

Lee Tests Ailing Arm Against Indians Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 25.—Thornton Lee, the large White Sox lefty who has been troubled with a weak arm this season, will start against the Indians tomorrow. He will be opposed by Johnny Allen, who excited everybody by pitching a three-hitter in the Cleveland opener with Detroit last Friday. Allen pitched in freezing weather and has felt some after effects but said today he would be ready to face the Sox.

The Sox will dash right back to Chicago tomorrow night. They will play the Browns in Comiskey park Saturday and Sunday. Saturday's game will start at 2 o'clock, Sunday's at 3.

The Sox encountered cool weather here, not unexpectedly. But the sun was a pleasant surprise, making the hardy fans almost forget the mercury barely was in the 40's.

There were some complaints that Hemsley's triple, which won for Feller in the Chicago season opener, was windblown. There was no such kick possible on the homer with which Rollie gave Feller his second inning lead today. It was a 380 foot drive to the left field bleachers.

White Sox Face Feller Again and Lose, 3 to 1 for the Sox, and their fifth in six games played.

Wright's single in the second inning was the first Chicago hit off Feller this season. Like Kennedy's single in the third, it came with two out. The first Sox threat came in the fifth, when Wright opened with a single. Taft progressed to third on infield outs, then Smith flied out.

Two were out in the sixth when Kreevich singled, but he was out at second when Solters missed the ball on a hit and run sign. Things brightened up in the seventh. After Solters fanned Appling singled and Wright walked. Then McNair fanned and Tresh forced Wright.

Gift Run in Seventh.

The Indians' seventh inning run was a gift. After Keltner walked Hemsley bunted toward third for a single. When Kennedy threw past McNair, Keltner scored and Hemsley took third. In this spot Smith fanned Mack, then walked Feller. Tresh kept Hemsley on third while throwing out Boudreau and Weatherly grounded out.

Wright wasn't as potent in the field as at bat. In the sixth he misjudged Feller's fly by about 18 feet and it went for a double. Previously Smith had fanned Mack. After Wright's act Smith gulped a couple of times, then fanned Boudreau. All was forgiven when Weatherly hit a fly which Wright caught.

NOW JOE GLENN CAN HOLD OUT ON THE RED SOX

St. Louis, Mo., April 25 (AP).—Joe Glenn, holdout catcher of the St. Louis Browns, was sold today to the Boston Red Sox. The Browns' office, announcing the sale, said it was a straight cash deal but did not disclose the amount.

It was understood Glenn was offered a contract which would make him $10,000 for the season, provided he fulfilled certain conditions. He sent it back. When he failed to report at training camp within a reasonable time, this was slashed in half. Last year he reportedly earned $8,500.

Glenn has been here recently conferring with club officials. He now is in Chicago and is expected to join the Boston club soon.

CALUMET BARGE PROJECT PASSES PLANNING STATE

Senate Keeps Proposal in Rivers Bill.

Improvements in the Calumet-Sag channel of the Illinois waterway, costing $25,900,000, moved nearer realization yesterday when the senate in Washington approved a rivers and harbor bill authorizing expenditures for the project.

The project, which affects Illinois and Indiana, calls for three major developments:

1. Dredging a barge channel nine feet deep and 160 feet wide in the Calumet-Sag channel, the Little Calumet river and the Grand Calumet river.
2. Construction in the Little Calumet river of a navigation lock to regulate water levels and prevent the reverse flow of water.
3. Rebuilding or altering all obstructive railroad bridges, except one, over the Little Calumet river.

An Artificial Waterway.

The Calumet-Sag channel is an artificial waterway 16.2 miles long, running from the main drainage canal at Lemont to Blue Island. At Blue Island it connects with the Little Calumet river, which in turn connects with the Grand Calumet river.

The three waterways run in a generally east-west direction, and are only 60 feet wide along their greater length. In some stretches the width has already been increased to 160 feet. The greater length, however, is to be widened. Roughly, the improvement will extend 29 miles from the Lemont area to a point near where the Indiana Harbor ship canal joins with the Grand Calumet river.

The purpose of widening and deepening the waterways is to permit two way traffic of barges and other vessels. Army engineers have estimated that the increased carriage to be made possible would not interfere seriously with existing land transportation systems.

Plans Call for Lock.

Plans of army engineers call for building the navigation lock in the Little Calumet river at a point a little west of where this river joins with the Grand Calumet river.

The project relating to obstructive railroad bridges calls for the rebuilding or elevating of bridges to assure a 25 foot clearance over the normal Chicago water level. Automobile highway bridges must be corrected at state or local expense.

Sanitary district engineers said last night they were disappointed that only one lock is contemplated in the federal authorization. They asserted that a lock in the Little Calumet river will not prevent water pollution, and will undo long years of work by the sanitary district. The district had recommended locks in the Indiana Harbor ship canal and in the Calumet river, which runs northeast from the junction of the Little and Grand Calumet rivers. However, district engineers admitted the federal plans were concerned primarily with navigation, not sanitation.

HARBORS BILL PASSED.

Washington, D. C., April 25 [Special].—The senate today passed a bill authorizing the expenditure of $144,754,450 for rivers and harbor improvements thruout the nation. In addition to $25,900,000 for the Illinois Calumet-Sag channel, it authorizes $34,509,000 for a 40-foot channel in the East river, New York. The senate bill must be returned to the house.

ACCUSED FORGER OF VOTE PAPERS FORFEITS BOND

Robert Swartz, former election board employé accused in election petition forgeries, failed to appear when his case was called in County court yesterday. Judge Edmund K. Jarecki ordered his $2,500 bond forfeited.

A representative of the bondsman said Swartz had entered the Hines veterans' hospital under another name to be treated for heart trouble. The judge indicated he would set aside the forfeiture if this proved true.

Swartz lives at 3345 Maypole avenue. He is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses thru a forged nominating petition for Donald J. Seeley, who sought to run for the Republican nomination for Probate court clerk. Seeley said after the forgery was exposed that he had engaged Swartz to obtain the names for the petition and knew nothing of the forgery. Seeley's name nevertheless was stricken from the ballot.

WPA WILL TAKE 28,000 MORE OFF ILLINOIS ROLLS

Charles E. Miner, Illinois Work Projects administration director, was ordered yesterday by Col. F. C. Harrington, national WPA commissioner, to cut state WPA rolls by 28,000 during May. The reduction is in accordance with a 33 per cent cut in work relief rolls thruout the country announced last month as a result of a slash in congressional appropriations.

At present there are 168,000 WPA workers in the state, about 10,000 less than in March, when the first cut was made. When the May reduction is effected this figure will drop to 140,000.

WPA rolls in Cook county now consist of about 76,000 persons, of which 66,000 are in Chicago. After the May cut the county figure is expected to be about 68,000 and the city's 59,000.

$300,000 PROVIDED TO RUN SEWAGE PLANT A MONTH

Trustees of the sanitary district passed an emergency ordinance yesterday appropriating $300,000 from the general corporate fund to operate the southwest sewage treatment plant at Stickney for one month.

The measure was taken in anticipation that the special session of the legislature, which convenes Tuesday, will pass a pegged levy for the district, which has been without one since technicalities made the 1939 levy unworkable. The district's levy, which was passed in 1939 at $5,500,000, probably will be introduced at $5,000,000, in conformity with the direction given by Gov. Henry Horner in his call for the session.

The emergency ordinance set forth that to discontinue operations of the Stickney plant would result in the dumping daily of 300 tons of untreated sewage solids into the sanitary district canal, with grave health hazards.

GUILTY OF USING WPA'S GASOLINE IN HIS OWN CAR

Paducah, Ky., April 25 [Special].—Lucian J. Holman, 31 years old, former Paducah WPA area engineer, was convicted by a United States District court jury here today of illegal conversion of government property. He and others were accused of misusing 6,000 gallons of federal gasoline supplied for WPA projects.

Sentencing of Holman was deferred pending trial of McCracken County Jailer Charles Gholson, a former WPA foreman, on similar charges. Tried with Holman but freed by the jury were George Watts, former WPA engineer; J. Clifford Watkins, former WPA supervising timekeeper, and Willard Wilkinson, former WPA compensation adjuster.

Defendants in the case admitted taking several hundred gallons of gasoline and using it in their own automobiles, saying they did so when their travel allowance was not sufficient to perform their duties. Holman contended he used some of the fuel and told the others to use some of it after conferences with state WPA officials J. B. Boddie and Curba Deen, who, he said, told him to use the gasoline and "not worry about it." Boddie and Deen denied this.

TUGMEN STRIKE IN 14 LAKE PORTS; 800 OUT OF WORK

Nine tugs of the Dunham Towing company were tied up at the port of South Chicago yesterday after the Tug Firemen, Linemen, and Oilers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, called a strike against the Great Lakes Towing company of Cleveland. The Dunham company is the Chicago affiliate of the Cleveland firm. Twenty-four union tugmen walked out here, and an equal number of tug captains and workers who are not members of the union were forced into idleness.

John J. Kolp, international president of the union, said that the strike was voted after the Great Lakes Towing company refused to accede to demands for a basic wage of $9 a day, time and a half for overtime, and a guarantee of 10 months' work a year.

The strike extends to 13 other ports on the Great Lakes in which the Cleveland company operates and affects 800 tugmen, only a part of whom are union members. Capt. Chester W. Willett of Cleveland, president of the towing company, said the union demands would increase costs $150,000 a year, and that the company could not meet them.

WOMEN GAIN VOTE IN QUEBEC; FIRST TIME IN 106 YEARS

QUEBEC, April 25 (AP).—Quebec women, who have gone since 1834 without an official voice in the affairs of their province, gained that right today when a law granting them the vote in provincial elections and opening to them legislative assembly seats was entered in the provincial statutes.

Lieut. Gov. Sir Eugene Fiset accorded royal assent to the measure shortly after it had been ratified by the legislative council, Quebec's upper house.

Passage of the women's vote measure came after 13 previous bills had been rejected before they even reached the legislative council. The law will go into effect Jan. 1. Quebec women have had the vote in federal elections since the latter part of the last war.

GROUP ATTACKS 'MILLSTONES' OF TAXES AND DEBT

Remedy Demanded of Government.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—A double barreled attack on the "twin millstones" of mounting taxes and governmental debt—said to be more dangerous than any foreign influences—was made today at the first national real estate tax conference.

Myers Y. Cooper tells of huge realty taxes.

The meeting of more than 200 tax experts, farm leaders, government officials, and business men was called to consider what was termed the approaching collapse of the general property tax system; develop a program for equitable taxation which would relieve the present confiscatory tax load on real estate, and pave the way for general economic recovery.

A detailed analysis showing real estate bogged down by taxes, imposed to feed a growing public debt, and a plan for remedial action were outlined. The sessions will continue tomorrow.

Cooper Sounds Keynote.

Former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Ohio, chairman of the meeting, sounded the keynote of the conference. He declared the gross annual income of privately owned real estate in the United States is about 7 billion dollars and that the department of commerce had estimated local real estate taxes at 4½ billions. To this must be added various other levies, such as state and federal income taxes, which, combined with mortgage interest, in many instances would consume all of the gross income of real property, if taken as a unit.

The federal government was advised of this situation, but a group of officials appointed by President Roosevelt to study the matter reported last June that taxation as it applies to real estate is primarily a state and municipal problem.

"However," said Cooper, "it is well to remember that the federal government has more than a passing interest in real property since it is in the real estate business in a big way.

Cites Cross Currents.

"The government is guaranteeing large loanable funds placed on property. The Federal Housing administration has taken over 1,188 houses thruout the country and the Home Owners' Loan corporation has taken over 159,763 thru February of 1940, and has sold 53 per cent of this number.

"The government, on the one hand, thru guaranteed loans, reasonable rates, and long amortization, offers the greatest encouragement for people to own homes; on the other hand, it builds rental properties free from taxes and municipal service costs. These properties do not, to any great extent, benefit the low income group and cannot in any sense be considered slum clearance projects where subsidies are justified. The result is that private enterprise is made timid. It is a deterrent force on home ownership."

Demands "Confiscation" End.

If encouragement is to be lent to the ownership of property, Cooper said, the disposition to load property with confiscatory taxes must be discouraged and the cost of government reduced by cutting expenditures.

"High taxes have had as much or more to do with putting 200,000 farms on the auction block thru mortgage foreclosures during the past 10 years, than any other factor," he said.

"Our archaic tax system has put the brakes on progress and is responsible in no small degree for much of our economic distress. Home ownership has been falling behind the increase in population, until today only 40 per cent of our citizens own property. Real estate should pay its fair proportion of the cost of government and no more. When taxes are paid on a value that does not exist you are actually liquidating the property."

Outweighs Foreign Influence.

"A nation of homeowners will do more to keep America going American than all of the other influences combined," Cooper declared.

He suggested these lines of action: Reduce the cost of government by prudent spending of public money; put government income property on the same tax basis with private property; use tax valuations based on earning power of property; relieve property of tax duplications to prevent further confiscation of earnings and values; set up in every state an independent tax agency clothed with authority to review and adjust tax inequities and to control indebtedness proposals; put a ceiling—an over-all limit—on real estate taxation, as other tax rates are limited; encourage, thru adequate guarantee of loanable funds, improvement of existing properties, thus increasing tax income and taxable values.

Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, which formerly supported Washington administration policies, also spoke against rising public debts and taxes, and advocated that not only debt limits but tax limits be written into state constitutions.

"Broaden the base of taxation so

Firms in Many Fields Report Business Gains

Improved business thus far in 1940 compared with early 1939 was reported yesterday by officials of several large companies at annual stockholders' meetings. The enterprises included Container Corporation of America, North American company, and Crown Cork and Seal company.

Walter P. Paepcke, president of the Container company told a Chicago meeting that orders booked by the company in the first three weeks of April were 72 per cent ahead and sales 24.8 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1939 period. Sales in the first quarter amounted to $6,476,000, against $5,231,000 a year ago, a gain of 23.8 per cent.

The big jump in orders, however, is probably not indicative of a trend, he admonished, but is likely the result of the extension of war to Scandinavia, an important wood pulp source.

Profit Plan Approved.

Over the protests of Harold L. Warner, of the Warner Holding company, Minneapolis, owner of 220 shares, the stockholders by a vote of 357,711 to 50,948 approved a profit sharing plan in which 37 company officers and employés will participate. Under the plan they will receive 15 per cent of the balance of net profits remaining in any year after an amount equivalent to 6 per cent of the aggregate of the capital stock and surplus accounts at the beginning of the year has been deducted.

Had the plan been in effect last year, $101,312 would have been allocated for distribution, according to the proxy statement.

Edward L. Shea, president of the North American company, told stockholders in New York that the enterprise earned more than $5,500,000 during the first three months, a gain of 7 per cent over profit for the similar 1939 period. Profit for the first quarter, he added, was equal to about 54 cents a share on the common, compared with 51 cents in the March quarter of 1939.

The company intends to "comply fairly and in good spirit" with the integration provisions of the federal utility holding company act, he said.

Will Protect Stockholders.

"At the same time we are going to reserve all rights to protect the interests of our security holders under that law," he added. He indicated that directors were preparing integration plans, but did not amplify.

Business of Crown Cork and Seal company thus far in the second quarter has been moderately ahead of a year ago, Charles E. McManus, president, said in New York.

George Graves and Jansen Boyes were added to the board of directors of Cuneo Press, Inc., at the adjourned meeting in Chicago. Incumbent directors were reëlected, giving the board a membership of seven, and officers were reappointed.

Interlake Iron company is improving its position in the industry, and has more customers on its books than a year ago, Frank Armstrong, new president, told stockholders in New York. He was elected to succeed the late C. D. Caldwell. Lower shipping rates prevailing on the Great Lakes this season should be favorable to the company, he added.

Business Bits

Maj. James H. Doolittle, recently elected president of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, will be the guest of the institute's aeronautical university branch at a luncheon meeting at the Army and Navy club today.

The Municipal Bond club of Chicago will hold its annual meeting and election of officers today in the Palmer House.

Two hundred dealers, salesmen, and engineers yesterday attended a Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating corporation sales meeting in the Knickerbocker hotel. Extensive advertising plans and engineering improvements were discussed.

Jervis J. Babb has been admitted to partnership in the management engineering firm of Booz, Fry, Allen & Hamilton. Dr. Thomas E. Layng has become an associate partner. James C. Olson and Richard M. Paget are new junior partners.

NEUTRALITY ACTION SUSPENDS 10 MILLION IN CREDIT TO NORWAY

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Export-Import bank lawyers said that President Roosevelt's proclamation today of United States neutrality in the war between Germany and Norway meant suspension of the bank's $10,000,000 credit to Norway.

Formal application of the neutrality law did not technically cancel the credit, it was explained, but had the effect of preventing disbursement of it. Norway has used only about $200,000 of the loan in the several weeks since it was made available.

The proclamation did not mention Denmark, invaded by Germany, and the $10,000,000 credit given that nation remains technically in good standing. But Denmark has used none of it, and legal obstacles might prevent future efforts to use it.

During the Finnish war credits were given to all the Scandinavian countries, as well as Finland. Sweden received a $15,000,000 credit which is still in good standing but has been little used. The Swedish credit apparently was unaffected by the proclamation.

SELLING OF LOAN WHEAT FORCES FUTURES LOWER

Liquidation by farmers yesterday of large quantities of wheat that had been pledged as security for government loans depressed futures markets. Hedging sales against this grain forced down prices on the Chicago Board of Trade more than 1 cent a bushel at one time. Net losses at the close were ¾ to 1⅛ cents, May leading the decline.

Only four business days remain in which to liquidate wheat sealed for loans under the 1939 program. Any grain remaining in elevators after April 30 or on farms and not resealed will be taken over by the government and sold.

Corn futures declined ⅜ to ½ cent on local selling and profit taking by commission houses. Short covering caused a good rally from the early low point. Purchases of 80,000 bushels were made for deferred shipment from the country.

Soy bean futures declined about 1 cent in the early trading but rallied late in the session on buying by elevator interests and commission houses and closed ⅝ to ¾ cents lower.

OTHER STEEL MAKERS CANCEL $4 PRICE CUTS

The Inland Steel company and several other independents yesterday announced that they would follow the action of United States Steel corporation in rescinding the recent $4 per ton cut in the price of some types of steel, effective May 1.

As far as could be learned, the price restoration was general thruout the industry. Some Chicago steel men said that price stabilization should result from the move. Until May 1 shipping orders on hot and cold rolled sheet and strip and on vitrenamel sheets for delivery not later than June 30, will be accepted at the reduced rates.

Among the companies who announced the price restoration were Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin Steel, National Steel, American Steel and Wire, and American Rolling Mill company.

United States Steel Files Debenture Issue with SEC

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation filed with the Securities and Exchange commission today a registration statement covering $75,000,000 of serial debentures, of which $2,500,000 will mature semiannually to May 1, 1955. As announced Monday, proceeds will be used to help retire an outstanding issue of $95,140,000 of 3¼ per cent debentures.

Price of Kraft Wrapping Paper Is Raised $5 a Ton

New York, April 25 (AP).—Paper trade circles reported today that leading manufacturers advanced the price of Kraft wrapping paper to $85 a ton, net. The former price of $80 a ton [with a discount of 5 per cent, reducing the actual cost to $76] was withdrawn April 10 when Germany invaded Norway, one of the world's chief sources of paper pulp.

Standard (Ind.) Sales Higher, Seubert Says

Sales volume of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and its subsidiaries in the first quarter of this year was ahead of last year, Edward G. Seubert, president, said yesterday at a conference preceding the company's annual meeting at Whiting. The sales gains, which were particularly noticeable in January and February, were made despite unfavorable weather, he said.

Seubert also said that present estimates indicated that the first quarter profit will exceed that of 1939, altho exact figures will not be available until the end of the six months' period. The fair profit showing, he explained, was made in the face of declining prices resulting from the large supplies of crude oil and gasoline.

Illinois Flow Disturbs Market.

The uncontroled flow of petroleum from Illinois' new oil fields is in part responsible for the dislocation of the crude oil market, Seubert said. He added that it has been fortunate that production in the Illinois fields is largely in strong hands which have been able to control their own production.

"We all feel that we should have proration in this state," he said. "With slow, orderly production the oil owners would get more out of their properties and this natural product would be better protected for future users."

Drilling in Indiana.

Seubert estimated that 85 per cent of the Illinois production is in strong hands, altho, he added, he might be off 10 per cent either up or down. However, the small producers could charge prices that would disturb the entire Illinois price structure, he continued. He disclosed that Standard of Indiana has drilled some wells in the White river section of Indiana—close to the Illinois fields—but so far without success.

So far the war has had little effect on the American petroleum market, he said, most of the warring nations getting motor fuel supplies from their own sources. However, lubricating oil and wax exports have shown some gain.

Bruce K. Brown, general manager of research and development, was elected a member of the board of directors. He joined Standard of Indiana in 1929, having previously practiced patent law.

SEC DISMISSES ACTION AGAINST 40 U. G. I. UNITS

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The securities commission today dismissed integration proceedings against 40 companies named in its original order against the United Gas Improvement company.

The action affected principally companies operating in Indiana and affiliated with the Midland United company. The commission said it appeared unlikely that it would find it necessary to direct those companies to take any action under the integration section of the holding company act. The action could be reinstated against the Midland system later if deemed necessary, it was indicated.

All of the 90 companies named in the original order had joined in the U. G. I. reply to the show cause order of the SEC. Certain contentions in that reply were argued before the commission yesterday and taken under advisement.

PEOPLES GAS PROFIT RISES IN FIRST QUARTER

Net Income Is $2.23 Per Share.

Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Chicago, yesterday reported that its net income in the three months ended March 31 rose to $1,463,844, equal to $2.23 a share, from $1,005,446, or $1.53 a share, in the first quarter of 1939.

George A. Ranney, chairman, said in a letter to stockholders that revenues from gas sales increased 6.36 per cent, largely because of lower temperatures prevailing in the 1940 quarter.

Comments on Rate Suit.

Ranney commented on rate litigation recently lost by the company and included in his report a restatement of 1939 and 1938 income eliminating the effect of temporary rate increases. However, the restatement did not change the originally reported net earnings for the two years, the funds from the increased rates having been impounded from the time they went into effect Feb. 5, 1938.

The company has been ordered by the courts to refund the impounded money to its customers. The amount involved exceeds $6,000,000.

Says "Case Is Closed."

"On April 1, 1940, the United States Supreme court declined to review this company's appeal from the opinion of the Illinois Supreme court in the rate litigation on the ground that no substantial federal question was involved," Ranney wrote to the stockholders.

"In our opinion the case did involve a substantial federal question which affects the rights of this company. However, the court having held to the contrary, the case is closed."

Rate Lowered Immediately.

Ranney then added:

"The company immediately put into effect the lower rates for gas service to the 840,000 customers involved and is taking steps to begin refunding the impounded money as promptly as possible.

"The refunding will constitute a tremendous clerical task involving the examination of about 20,000,000 items on the books and the issuance of more than 1,000,000 refund checks. Completion of the refunding will take several months' time."

RAIL FREIGHT CAR LOADINGS RISE TO 628,342 IN WEEK

Railroads loaded 628,342 cars of revenue freight in the week ended April 20, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was 9,532 cars more than were loaded in the preceding week, and 70,475 more than in the corresponding period in 1939.

Loadings last week were 12.6 per cent above those of the corresponding 1939 period, 19.9 per cent above the corresponding week in 1938, and 1.5 per cent larger than the preceding week this year.

CAA TO CONSIDER FORMING AN AIR EXPRESS AGENCY

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—The question of whether the nation's air lines should form a company of their own to handle air express may receive early consideration from the civil aeronautics authority.

The authority, officials indicated today, is expected to consider the question in a proceeding by the Railway Express Agency, Inc., for authority to continue to give air express service under agreements with the various air lines. Grover Loening, a pioneer in the aviation field, has suggested an air line controled company with a capitalization of $2,000,000, the ar lines themselves to hold at least 51 per cent of the stock.

North Western to Open New Depot Serving Lincolnwood

A new suburban station will be established Sunday by the Chicago and North Western on its Niles Center line to serve commuters from Lincolnwood. It will be located at Pratt boulevard, a mile and a half south of Niles Center and a mile north of Saugenash.

Bethlehem Votes $1.25 on Common Stock

Bethlehem Steel corporation yesterday declared the largest dividend for any quarter in recent years and announced a steep upturn in earnings to the highest level for any first quarter since the world war.

Directors ordered a payment of $1.25 a share on the common stock, to be made June 1 to stockholders of record May 10. A dividend of $1 a share was paid March 1 this year, and a total of $1.50 was paid in 1939. No dividends were paid in 1938, but in 1937 the company paid $5, including a $1 extra.

Net income for the first three months ended March 31 rose to $10,891,139, equal to $3.02 a share, from $2,409,059, or 17 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 quarter.

Orders Equal to Output.

Eugene G. Grace, president of the company, said Bethlehem's present production rate of 74 per cent of capacity is about equal to the amount of new orders being received.

"In fact, for April to date," he said, "incoming orders have averaged about 75 per cent of mill capacity."

Unfilled orders on hand at the end of last month totaled $255,802,117, Grace said, compared with $192,040,906 a year earlier. The backlog, however, was smaller than the $287,002,024 reported for Dec. 31.

Grace said that Bethlehem's production averaged 87.4 per cent of capacity in the first quarter of 1940, compared with 53.8 per cent in the corresponding 1939 period. In the last three months of 1939 the average for the company was 98.6 per cent of capacity.

Exports a Big Factor.

Commenting on the shipbuilding business, Grace said Bethlehem has no more of that type of orders on hand now than three months ago.

He said export business is a more important factor in the company's business now than at this time last year.

Grace said the recent price cuts on sheet and strip, now being rescinded by most companies, did not help Bethlehem increase its business.

"They had no effect whatever," he said. "The cuts were a complete surprise to us and we saw nothing to justify them."

SEC MAY REVISE SOME PARTS OF TRUST MEASURE

Washington, D. C., April 25 (AP).—Securities and Exchange commission representatives expressed willingness today to meet some of the objections raised by investment trusts to proposed regulatory legislation.

Robert E. Healy, commission member, and David Schenker, who headed the commission's investment trust investigation, conceded before a senate banking subcommittee that several portions of the measure might be rewritten.

They insisted, however, that principles incorporated in the measure were essential to prevent abuses and should be retained. There was no indication as to how extensive might be the commission's willingness to compromise.

"We were not trying to regiment anybody," Healy declared. "We were not laying any plots to find out about the private affairs of investment trusts, which we concede is none of our business."

Pierce Quits as New York Official of North Western

New York, April 25 [Special].—Arthur S. Pierce, vice president of the Chicago & North Western railway and its affiliates and chief financial officer at New York, today announced he is severing his connection as an executive of the system on May 1, but will remain as a director. He has served North Western for 42 years and has been vice president since 1930. The road, which maintains operating headquarters in Chicago, recently decided to shift headquarters of the directors from New York to Chicago.

FOGLER RESIGNS AS WARD CHIEF; MEETING TODAY

Had Been President Since 1938.

Raymond H. Fogler yesterday resigned without explanation from his $103,350 a year position as president and a director of Montgomery Ward & Co. His decision to leave after eight years with the world's second largest mail order enterprise was announced by Sewell L. Avery, chairman.

Fogler was slated for reëlection as a director at today's annual meeting of the company's stockholders. He had been a member of the board since 1933 and president since Nov. 4, 1938.

His resignation is the fourth among Montgomery Ward's high executives in recent years and the third in four months.

Looking for New Job.

At his Hinsdale home, Fogler declined to explain his resignation. He said he had made no arrangements to become associated with another company but has no intention of retiring. He is 47 years old.

"I am going to try to find myself a new job," he said. "I have no definite plans at present. I do not wish to discuss my resignation but it was not because I have another position."

Avery, chief executive officer, said that the proxy committee would drop Fogler's name as a candidate for reelection to the board of directors. Fogler had requested that the stockholders be informed of his withdrawal before the meeting today. The proxy committee can name another candidate in an emergency.

Avery May Resume Post.

The board of directors at its meeting today is expected to name a successor to Fogler. Altho Harold L. Pearson, vice president and treasurer, has been prominently mentioned for the post, it was indicated that Avery may resume the presidency which he relinquished to Fogler in 1938. Avery had held both the presidency and chairmanship since 1931.

In announcing Fogler's resignation, Avery said it resulted from mutual agreement but that Fogler had given no reason for his decision to withdraw. Avery said that he understood Fogler was completing nego

New York Stocks.

New York, April 25 (AP).—Conflicting news currents gave the stock market a ragged appearance today but quiet strength of steels and specialties helped prop the list. There were frequent dips and rallies.

Gains ran to 2 points at the best. These were substantially reduced at the close and there were a number of losses.

The steel group had the benefit of the Carnegie-Illinois move in rescinding recent price cuts. After the market's close Bethlehem directors voted a $1.25 common dividend and reported larger first quarter earnings, both in line with Wall street's expectations.

Bethlehem common dropped back after touching a new 1940 high and closed with only a fractional gain, while United States Steel eased from its top to end up ⅞.

A handful of favorites was aided by forecasts of sharply expanding earnings. Curtis Publishing preferred pushed up 4⅝ points to 47½, a new top for 1940. Ahead lesser amounts, some also at new highs for the year, were Savage Arms, Evans Products, United States Industrial Alcohol, Loft, American Car and Foundry, and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit.

Announcement that $200,000,000 in plane and engine contracts had been placed by the empires' purchasing mission in the last two weeks failed to spur the aviations. Douglas was up a shade, but United Aircraft, Glenn Martin and Sperry were unchanged to lower.

A less than seasonal rise in last week's freight loadings, attributed to bad weather, was without unsettling effect on the rails. Santa Fe and New York Central were up a trifle. Chrysler advanced a bit and General Motors was a fraction lower, altho automobile sales were said to be highly satisfactory.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 25 (AP).—Some rail issues exhibited strength in the bond market today, but gains outweighed losses only narrowly. More active issues closing with gains included American & Foreign Power 5s, Colorado Fuel & Iron 5s, International Mercantile Marine 6s, Third Avenue 4s, Rock Island general 4s of '88, and Nickel Plate 4½s.

On the downside were Great Northern "G" 4s of '46, Western Union 5s, Southern Railway 4s, and International Paper 5s.

United States treasuries were widely irregular, closing 13/32 point higher to 1 4/32 lower, but were not active. German and Norwegian government dollar loans moved up a bit, while Belgian and most Latin-American obligations declined slightly.

Chicago Stocks.

Price trends were highly mixed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as trading slackened to 22,000 shares. Armour, the volume leader, advanced ⅛ point.

Bank Stocks.

City National shares gained a point and Harris Trust was off a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

Commodities

Higher shipping costs and other wartime factors were credited by traders for the higher futures prices on imported commodities yesterday. Prices on domestic staples closed irregular. Rubber lead the upturn with gains of 16 to 36 points. Cocoa futures rose 5 to 8 points. Raw silk futures advanced 1½ to 4 points higher.

Traders in many commodities marked time to see if the Scandinavian war would spread. Demand for export copper continued light but sales to domestic consumers have been increasing this week, copper interests reported. Sales of domestic copper for the current month aggregate 34,539 pounds against 16,844 pounds in the corresponding 1939 period. Copper futures closed one lower to one higher. Straits tin futures were mixed at the close, 2½ lower to 20 points higher.

Raw hides ranged 2 higher to 1 point lower. Wool tops offerings were limited but trade demand steadied the market. Prices closed down 1 point to 2 higher. Lower hog and grain markets brought a dip of 5 to 7 points in bleachable cottonseed oil futures.

SEC CHAIRMAN OFFERS PLAN TO AID SMALL FIRMS

Proposes a 'Speculative Finance Company.'

Cleveland, O., April 25 (AP).—Jerome N. Frank, Securities and Exchange commission chairman, suggested today that the government and the public establish "frankly speculative" regional investment companies to give financial encouragement to "prosperous small business enterprises." He said it is difficult for small and medium sized companies to obtain capital at present.

Frank suggested setting up a financial institution—"a sort of speculative finance company or investment trust"—in each federal reserve district, with the common stock "owned by private persons in the district."

"In order to stimulate private investment in the stock of these institutions," he said, "the government would invest in their preferred stocks, carefully safeguarded so as to have little if any voting power. The privately-owned common stock would control the institution and elect the officers and directors.

"Each institution would, in turn, buy the stocks of deserving and growing local business enterprises, in good financial condition, which needed money for capital expansion. They should be run for a profit."

RECEIVER TO TRY HAND AT MAKING WOMEN'S SHOES

M. M. Martin, a receiver, with offices at 120 South La Salle street, was granted permission yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes to enter the shoe manufacturing business—for 10 days.

In a petition filed with Judge Barnes, Martin explained that earlier this week he had been appointed receiver for the Advanced Shoe company, 3704 West North avenue. Creditors of the company have asked that it be adjudged bankrupt.

"Among the assets of the company are 1,200 pairs of unfinished women's shoes," Martin's petition stated. "As receiver, I ask permission to operate the factory for a period of not more than 10 days in order to render these shoes salable."

Lion Oil Sells 78 Wells for $2,300,000 in Cash

Dallas, Tex., April 25 (AP).—Sale of 78 producing oil wells in the east Texas field for $2,300,000 cash was disclosed by the Lion Oil company of Eldorado, Ark., today. The Tidewater Associated Oil company bought 45 and the Gulf Refining company the remaining half interest in 33 wells in which it already owned half interest.

INLAND STEEL.

What is the purpose of the new Inland Steel bond issue? I would like to have a general report on the company to decide whether I should buy any of these bonds.—E. N.

Answer: Inland Steel company's new issue of $36,000,000 in first mortgage, series F, 3 per cent bonds due April 1, 1961, was sold to obtain funds with which to redeem $35,000,000 of outstanding first mortgage, series D, 3¾ per cent bonds due Feb. 1, 1961. Thru the refunding, the company will save about $230,000 in annual interest charges.

Second largest steel maker in the Chicago district, Inland Steel has been able to keep production costs at near the lowest level for the industry because of its proximity to the large Chicago-Detroit consuming market and to raw material sources, cheap water transportation on the Great Lakes, and modernized plants.

In 1938 the company completed a construction program which expanded its pig iron, ingot and finishing capacities. More emphasis was placed on lighter steels.

Since 1935, Inland Steel has acquired various subsidiaries to broaden its distribution and production. Among these companies are Joseph T. Ryerson Son, Inc., largest independent steel distributor, and Milcor Steel company, maker of steel building materials.

Net income of Inland Steel and subsidiaries in 1939 more than doubled that of 1938. This resulted from increased production which averaged 78 per cent of ingot capacity in 1939 against 54 per cent in 1938.

Consolidated net income, earnings per capital share and dividends per share in recent years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per sh.	Divids. per sh.
1935	$ 9,418,000	$6.54	$2.25
1936	12,801,000	8.54	4.50
1937	12,665,000	8.05	5.00
1938	4,916,000	3.12	2.50
1939	10,931,000	6.73	4.00

Capitalization of Inland Steel consists of $51,700,000 in funded debt, on which fixed charges have been earned amply, and 1,624,265 shares of no par capital stock. Dividends on the stock have been paid each year since 1917, except in 1933. A dividend of $1 a share was paid last March 1.

The company's balance sheet at the end of 1939 showed total assets of $166,811,739. Current assets were $58,497,125, against current liabilities of $11,695,416.

GROUP ATTACKS 'MILLSTONES' OF TAXES AND DEBT

Realty Interests Demand Remedial Action.

that every form of taxation makes its fair contribution to the cost of government," Taber said. "Consider governmental debt to be what it is, simply deferred taxation. These are necessary steps, if we are to preserve our national institutions.

"It is a mistake to think that American institutions are threatened only by sinister alien forces from abroad. No external forces can ever destroy our republic. Our dangers are more indirect and more subtle. One of the most serious forces is the growth of taxation and its effect on rural life.

"The farm or home owner is willing to share the cost of government with income and other forms of property and wealth. But taxes on a farm, or on a home in town, cannot be passed on. This burden must be carried solely by the owner and here comes the challenge of pyramiding and increasing taxation."

Terms Tax Confiscatory.

Earl C. Smith, Chicago, president of the Illinois Agricultural association and vice president of the American Farm Bureau federation, told the conference that property tax increases on farms, along with low prices and heavy indebtedness, largely accounted for the collapse in land values. In many areas the tax on farms is confiscatory, he said, and has increasingly discouraged ownership of farms.

"Our tax system itself, and particularly our rigid property tax, is prolonging the depression," said Herbert D. Simpson, professor of public finance at Northwestern university. "We have got ourselves into a situation that is going to require prompt and vigorous action to avert disaster. It certainly is possible to reduce somewhat the wastes, the racketeering practices of governmental bodies, and the political exploitation of taxpayers. And it is possible to shape our whole tax system to foster the creation of wealth, upon which the maintenance of government itself must depend."

Chicagoan Addresses Meeting.

Philip C. Hodill of Chicago, president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, said that office and commercial buildings—which are owned mostly by small investors, thru their bank accounts and insurance policies—today are unable to earn money or give employment largely because of tremendous taxes.

Byron T. Shutz, Kansas City, Mo., president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America; Newton C. Farr, Chicago, president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, and Frank J. Murray, South Bend, Ind., president of the Taxpayers Federation of Indiana, were others discussing the effects of taxation upon real estate investment.

The conference is sponsored by organizations which today's speakers represent.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The longest uninterrupted advance in almost six years was ended in the hog market yesterday when farmers shipped in larger supplies to all leading packing centers. Prices fell 15 to 25 cents at the stockyards, wiping out most of the advances of the preceding two days.

Top loads dropped 25 cents to $6.40 a hundred pounds, while the day's average declined 20 cents, to $6.10. However, packers were in need of supplies due to the small receipts the last three weeks, and the clearance was brisk.

Steers and yearlings were little changed yesterday. The best available were sold at $12.25. Mostly steady prices were paid for beef cows and heifers. Calves rose 25 to 50 cents.

Costly Field Fires.

NONE of the open fields on the Du Page county farm is being "blacked out" by spring grass fires which sear all vegetation, eliminate beneficial humus, and harass and injure ground nesting birds. Many farmers burn fields every spring, but in the last few years many scientific agricultural groups and conservation organizations have condemned the practice.

In the old days farmers started grass fires to destroy weed seeds and eliminate ticks. Landowners today realize that the damage done by such fires more than offsets the benefits.

Harm to the Soil.

Perhaps the most serious damage is the elimination of vegetation which should be allowed to decay and enrich the soil. In uncultivated woodlots where farmers do not start such fires nature shows her appreciation by covering the woods with a carpet of spring beauties, hepaticas, and other wild flowers. The first of these spring attractions already are showing their petals in the woodlots of the Du Page county farm.

Spring field fires rank as one of the greatest menaces to birds, too. Pheasants and meadowlarks, two of the best allies the farmer has in his war against harmful weeds and insects, both nest on the ground and naturally are driven off by fires. The main foods of the beautiful meadowlark are ground beetles, weevils, caterpillars, cutworms, and army worms. Yet every spring many farmers drive these useful birds away by setting fire to the fields in which they nest.

Plea Made in Michigan.

The latest mid-western group to campaign against spring burning is the Michigan United Conservation clubs. An official of this organization recently appealed to Michigan residents as follows:

"Trees and shrubs are injured by these fires. Even light surface fires which burn only weeds will injure the bark of trees and allow disease and insects to attack the wood, which may cause eventual death of the trees. Burning woodlots kills off the young growth, which is of value to reproduce the forest and for wildlife shelter.

"Many farmers think that grass fires do no direct damage to wild birds and animals. Grass fires, however, do interfere with nesting activities of birds. They destroy nests in progress of construction, eggs that have been laid, and at times even adult birds which refuse to leave their homes or become confused by smoke and flames."

I. C. DISCLOSES 7 PCT. FREIGHT REVENUE GAIN

Suburban Train Income Higher, Too, for 1939.

Details of operation of the Illinois Central railroad in 1939, when the line, as previously announced, earned $2,335,775 or 91 per cent more than in 1938, were given to stockholders yesterday by L. A. Downs, chairman, and J. L. Beven, president, in the annual report.

Coincident with the issuance of the annual report, the road announced net operating income for March of $1,353,743, compared with $1,272,643 in March, 1939. For the first three months of this year, net operating income totaled $4,029,726, against $3,210,439 in the 1939 period.

Passenger Revenues Decline.

Passenger revenues of the road in 1939, with the exception of the suburban service in the Chicago area, decreased $501,833 or 7.37 per cent from 1938. Freight revenue increased $6,111,342, or 7 per cent, the annual report disclosed. Freight revenue increased on all commodity groups with the exception of agricultural products.

"The government policy on commodity loans resulted in sealing large quantities of grain on farms, thereby curtailing the normal movement to markets," Downs and Beven said.

In suburban service, passenger revenue increased $72,930 or 2.32 per cent over 1938. The number of passengers carried increased 2.07 per cent and the average revenue per passenger mile was 1.21 cents, according to the report.

Penn Road Has Gain.

The Pennsylvania railroad reported that net operating income in March totaled $5,459,458, compared with $5,039,060 in March, 1939. For the three months, net operating income was $15,627,941, against $13,843,822 in the 1939 period.

Net operating income of the New York Central railroad in March was $2,199,307, against $1,822,066 in the 1939 month. For the three month period it totaled $7,998,245, compared with $4,530,722 in the 1939 period.

Revenues of railroads reporting yesterday included:

COTTON

Deliveries of about 11,000 bales of cotton on May contracts in New York and a like quantity at New Orleans failed to have any effect on the market yesterday. Old crop months were bought by spot firms while Bombay and commission houses sold the deferred deliveries. Closing trades were .05 cent higher to .07 cent lower, the former on May in New York.

Firmness in Liverpool had a little effect on American markets early, altho reports from abroad indicated that brokers were inclined to act with extreme conservatism in view of what was said to be "political control widening in the whole field of commerce."

Spot cotton closed .05 cent higher to .01 cent lower with New York 10.89 cents; New Orleans, 10.78 cents; Houston, 10.43 cents, and Galveston at 10.36 cents a pound. Prices follow:

tiations for a position with another firm.

"Our relations with Mr. Fogler were perfectly pleasant," Avery said. "He is a fine and able man. There is no blow-up on this. Everything is perfectly normal and his resignation was somewhat anticipated."

Altho Fogler denied that he has been offered an executive post with another company, it was reported that he was considering returning to W. T. Grant company, large chain store organization. He left the Grant chain in 1932 after rising in 13 years to the position of chief operating executive.

Fogler came to Montgomery Ward in 1932 as one of several new executives drafted by Avery in his program to stimulate merchandising. Fogler was placed in charge of retail stores operations. At the same time Avery brought Frank M. Folsom from Hale Brothers Stores, Inc., of California and Walter Hoving, then executive vice president of R. H. Macy & Co.

Hoving with Lord & Taylor.

The third important official to leave the mail order company before Fogler was George W. Vaught, who resigned last Feb. 26 as treasurer and director after 23 years with the firm. He had helped develop the company's installment sales financing system.

Avery's rejuvenation program, instituted in 1932, has been credited with lifting earnings from a heavy loss in 1931 to a peak of $27,010,644 in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1940. Net sales in the latest fiscal year also were at a record high of $474,882,032. In 1931 net sales were $198,118,920 and net loss was $5,712,023.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
In summer, it's great to get away for week-ends, but when you come back on Monday it helps to know that you have a studio apartment with a porch or balcony overlooking a fountain in the court yard below, or a roof to climb up to where you can still be out in the fresh air. The living room in one of our apts. is 2 stories high, and another 4 room apt. has a living room 37 ft. long, windows at both ends, and a skylight. It's a marvelous room with its fireplace and dining nook, and just outside a little sunny porch and a bit of a roof. All of these are down here where there are so many interesting things you can enjoy and still have a good night's sleep, because they are all just a short walk up Michigan-av. from the loop. We have also some wonderful places for groups of 3 and 4; some are furnished. A special bargain on a 5 room with a beautiful living room and large combination bed and dressing room.
